No. 10.

Pittsburgh, Pa., January 5th, 1914.

To the President and Members of the City Council of the City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:—

In addressing your honorable body for the first time in my official capacity let me express the sincere hope that the legislative and executive branches of our city government may at all times work in harmony for the good of all the people. At this time it might be well for me to state that it will be my constant aim to perform the duties of this important office with a view of giving efficient government to all the people of the City of Pittsburgh, and equal consideration to each and every taxpayer. I am confident that you men feel the same as I do and that you desire to give the people of your home city absolutely the best there is in municipal government. For that reason I shall hold myself in readiness at all times to confer with the members of your honorable body over the many problems of vital importance which will, from time to time, come to us for solution, and shall endeavor, with your assistance, to work out a system of government which will be for the uplift of the community and the benefit of the taxpayers. I am laying before you today a number of subjects in order to have your honorable body give some thought to the same. Some of these problems will require careful thought and necessitate many conferences, and you may rest assured that you will always have the earnest co-operation of the executive department in working out the solution of each and every one of them.

Bureau of Information and Complaints.

I recommend that a Bureau of Information and Complaints be created and attached to the Department of the Mayor. There should be some central office where a citizen seeking information may come or where he may have an opportunity to lodge a complaint against any condition with which he is not satisfied. This Bureau, however, should be something more than a filing branch of the Administration. It should check up the Departments and see that they have actually remedied any and all complaints. The complaints as they are received should be classified. Those which are of such a nature that the trouble is liable to recur should be carefully noted. The Bureau then should see that they are rectified in the first instance, and from time to time thereafter should investigate and see that they have not recurred. I feel that if this Bureau is properly organized, and works out the plan which I have in mind for it, it will prove one of the most important and valuable branches of our municipal government. Public officials should learn not only to listen to the complaints and suggestions of citizens, but to act on them promptly, and through this Bureau I propose to see that the complaints and suggestions of the public are acted upon. A carefully compiled system of records will show almost at a moment's glance what each and every Department and Bureau is doing to care for the wants of the people. I suggest that this Bureau be put in the Department of the Mayor in order that I may have active and actual supervision of it in working out the plans which I have in mind.

City Water for All.

There are many sections of the city which at this time are not supplied with city water and where the citizens and taxpayers are paying a higher rate to private companies than are being charged by the city. This condition is found in Beechview, Sheraden and other sections. I recommend that Council make an investigation and see if it is not possible to work out a plan by which all people living within the city limits can be furnished with city water, or water equal to city water, at city water rates. Every citizen of Pittsburgh is entitled to the same rate on this most useful and absolutely essential commodity and to receive the highest quality of it.

New Tax Collection System Needed.

The inconvenience to the public which attends the present system of collecting taxes calls for immediate attention and remedy. At the earliest opportunity I shall confer with the City Treasurer with the idea of working out a plan which will more fully take the public into account in its operation. I have always felt that taxes can be received in small instalments, which I know from my experience would be a great benefit to the small property holders and the poorer classes generally. The new system of collecting taxes should also provide for stations in different parts of the city, which would relieve taxpayers from the necessity of coming all the way to City Hall. During the tax-paying season the conditions around City Hall are almost a disgrace. Women who have to wait for hours in order to get to the window are compelled to rest on boxes and improvised benches while waiting their turn. The gas and electric light companies have a sub-station system which they have worked out with the banks, and I can see no good reason why the city should not attempt the same plan, especially as nearly all banks are now depositories of city funds.

Strict Censorship of All Moving Pictures.

The moving picture theaters should receive the closest care and scrutiny from those having the welfare and morals of the community at heart. At least fifty per cent. of the patrons of such places are children of tender age, and for that reason those in authority are charged with the responsibility of seeing that nothing is thrown on the screen which would have a tendency to lead the boy or girl downward instead of upward in the path of life. As the moving picture house is the children's theater, care even to the point of over-caution should be exercised in its management. It has come to my attention that pictures have been shown in this city which have a tendency to demoralize the youth, and I feel that we cannot escape the responsibility if we do not provide the remedy. Pictures which reproduce murder, suicide, resort to deadly weapons, or anything of a lewd or vulgar nature, should not be allowed to go before the mind of the young. The posters advertising the pictures which are on display should be regulated also without delay. I feel that if we do all we can to start the boys and girls right that in a large percentage of cases they will stay right through life. If we allow vicious and immoral thoughts to be put in their minds when they are young then we, as well as they, are responsible if they go wrong later in life. I therefore recommend that all moving picture houses be required to furnish the Director of the Department of Public Safety with a description of the films which they propose to show before they are put on public view, so that he may examine and condemn any that are of an immoral character, and that if the same are displayed contrary to his orders prosecution follow. The proper Ordinances will be presented providing for the revocation of the license of any moving picture house which fails to comply with the rules and regulations which will be laid down.

A Municipal Lodging House.

A glance at the records kept at the different police stations is all the evidence necessary to indicate that Pittsburgh must devise a more humane plan of caring for its so-called "down and out" class. If those who are in this class are to be helped up to a higher plane more practical methods must be pursued than at present. The man who is out of work and without a home will not start out in the morning to battle with life for better things if he is compelled to start on an empty stomach and without knowing where he is going to sleep that night if he fails in his effort. The present system makes the police station lodging houses for this class of unfortunates. I recommend that the executive and legislative branches of the government immediately begin a study which will bring about a solution of this problem and the establishment of a municipal lodging house. Many a man would be taken out of the "down and out" class if he were given the proper start in his hunt for work with his body properly bathed and his stomach sufficiently fed. If he knew that in case of failure to find work on that particular day the prison doors were not staring him in the face his mind would be easier and filled with more determination in his search for employment.

Activity of Traction Regulation.

For some years past the street railway question has been made a political issue, and no well-defined attempt along business lines has been made to obtain relief for the public. An attempt was made to continue it as a political issue during the last election, but the people by their votes served notice that they desired to see it solved along the lines of sense, reason and determination. I recommend, therefore, that Council, in conference with the Executive Department, immediately take the matter up and endeavor to force the issue for the purpose of ascertaining if it is not possible to secure better traction facilities for the people. I feel that if we sit down with the representatives of the public service corporations, and show that we are determined to get results, an improved service for the people ought to be worked out. After a consultation with the Law Department I shall ask for a conference with your body for the purpose of evolving a definite plan of action and of bringing whatever matters are necessary to the attention of the recently created Public Utilities Commission.

Subway Problem Should Be Solved Without Delay.

The subway problem has been before Council for two years and has been very thoroughly threshed out. The hold-over members of your honorable body are all well informed on the subway situation, and I believe have received sufficient information during the various investigations that have been made to convince them what should be done. I recommend that this honorable body reopen the subject of the subway matter without delay and make a final disposition of the question of whether Pittsburgh is to have rapid transit, and if so, under what conditions the franchise is to be granted. I shall be pleased to take this matter up with your honorable body at an early date, and assure you that you will receive the co-operation of the Executive Department in working out the solution. As you understand, of course, the start must be made in the legislative branch, and it is for this reason that I call it to your attention at this time.

Rebuilding of Streets.

There is nothing that adds more to the appearance of a city and the convenience of the public than good streets kept in the proper condition. I therefore ask your honorable body to be as liberal as possible in appropriating money for the construction of streets and for street improvements, along the line put into operation by the Department of Public Works during my administration. When a city builds its streets it should build them to last, and during my service in that Department a plan for a more substantial foundation was worked out, which I would like to see followed in the building of all of our streets hereafter. While it is more costly in the beginning, the increased service which it will give the public will be more than sufficient return on the increased investment.

Bond Issue Items Should Be Submitted at Special Elections.

The matter of contemplated improvements I have discussed in another part of this message, but there is one phase of the subject of vital importance to the taxpayers which I wish to call to your attention. All projects running into the expenditure of large sums of money should be submitted to the people for their approval. The taxpayers who have to foot the bills ought to know exactly what they are buying, and to have the privilege of casting their vote indicating whether they are willing or unwilling to make any particular purchase or improvement that might place an additional burden upon them. I state my position at this time in order that it may be placed on the records of the legislative branch of the government, so that the members thereof may know the attitude of the Executive Department in dealing with matters of this kind in the future.

I am firmly convinced that, if it can be done at reasonable cost, all bond issue items should be put up to the people at a special election on a day set apart for that purpose and when they have nothing else to think about. In the past it has been the practice to submit these matters to the consideration of the voters at a time when the election of a President, Governor, Congressman or State Representative was absorbing all their attention. The excitement incident to these apparently larger matters of public moment took their minds off the bond issue items, and very frequently they received little or no consideration. It would not be necessary to have one of these special elections more than once in every two years, and the increased expense would be more than outweighed by an intelligent expression of the voter on a matter of such vital importance as the outlay of large sums of the people's money.

I strongly advocate that hereafter where it is intended to put the expenditure of large sums up to the voter that Council pass upon the same, and that with the approval of the Mayor a special election be ordered. The date of the special election should be set far enough ahead to permit of a campaign of progressive education in order that every citizen may come to know just exactly what he is voting for or against.

After the date of the election is set I advocate that Council and the Mayor prepare a notice, which shall be sent to every registered voter, calling his attention to the item or items, giving a reason why the money is required, and asking his co-operation. I believe that by thus taking the people into our confidence increased interest will be awakened on their part, and that they will have a more thorough understanding of how their city is to be financed.

Pension Funds.

I am heartily in favor of a general pension system which will cover all city employees. Any man who has conscientiously given the best twenty years of his life to any municipal corporation is entitled to some recognition in the way of a pension after he has reached a certain age. This plan not only spurs the men on to greater efforts, but assists the city in keeping men in its employ whose services it might otherwise lose. I therefore recommend that a careful study of this matter be made and a comprehensive plan for pensioning all employees be worked out.

I would also ask your very serious consideration of the police and fire pension funds, which, I believe, you have been investigating for some time past. My thought on this subject is that the present system is an injustice to the rank and file. At the present time each man on the rolls pays in fifty dollars a year, no matter what his salary may be. I do not think there is any justice in the plan which assesses the man who gets ninety dollars a month the same as the man who gets three hundred dollars a month, especially when in case of retirement this equality is not carried out, but the one retiring is given half of his salary each year. My own judgment is that an employee's payment into the fund should be on the same percentage basis as to what he will take out. In other words, I feel that a percentage of each man's salary should be paid into the fund, so that the man retiring at a higher salary shall have borne some of the increased burden of the fund so made by his retirement.

In adjusting the general pension fund system, and in readjusting the police and fire pension system, other provisions should be written into the rules and regulations. I would recommend to your favorable consideration a provision which would protect a man from being forced to retire. If at the expiration of twenty years' service he is physically fit he should be continued or discharged for cause, but never made a burden on the pension fund in order to open up a place for someone else.

The practice of promoting men to higher salaried positions for the purpose of allowing them to retire on an increased pension should be discontinued. An officer should be required to hold a position at least two years before he is allowed to have his pension based on the salary of that position. If he has not held his position that length of time and retires his pension should be based on the salary of the last preceding place he held.

Comprehensive Sewage Plan Needed.

I recommend that your honorable body continue without the slightest delay your activities recently begun to work out a comprehensive sewage system. In accordance with the recommendation of the State Health Department, Council should immediately take up the sewage problem and see what can be done in Homewood, with the Nine-Mile Run sewer, the Becks Run sewer and the Sheraden district, and in all other sections where the sewers are not adequate and are responsible for the spread of disease. As soon as a satisfactory plan is worked out I recommend that a bond issue election be held under the conditions which I have advocated for the holding of bond issue elections, that the importance for immediate action be laid before the people, and that they be asked to go to the polls and co-operate in the solution of this problem.

Should Remove All Obstructions from Sidewalks.

On account of the peculiar manner in which Pittsburgh has been laid out every inch of street and sidewalk space must be reserved for the public. For that reason I favor the removal of absolutely every obstruction of any nature whatever from the sidewalk, especially in the congested downtown section of the city. In the past there has been no attempt to regulate the size of poles erected by public utility companies. An effort should be made to force the erection of poles where it is necessary of a uniform size and presenting a more artistic appearance. I recommend that your honorable body look into this subject and see that, if necessary, Ordinances to force the public utilities companies to carry out a plan of this kind be enacted.

One-Way Traffic for Pedestrians.

On account of the congested condition of our downtown streets I recommend that a study of the subject be made, to be followed by an effort that will work out a plan which will bring some relief. At the present time we have many streets which are designated as one-way streets for vehicle traffic. Some of the European cities have extended this principle and applied it to pedestrian traffic. The regulations there make it compulsory for pedestrians on one side of the street to always move in the same direction, and on the other side in the opposite direction. While this to the American may seem somewhat odd, it has been demonstrated to be practical over there and has resulted in relieving congestion to a remarkable extent.

Public Comfort Stations.

The public comfort stations provided for in a recent bond issue should be rushed to completion without the slightest delay, and others should be established in various locations throughout the city. A visit to a city which is well equipped with public comfort stations will readily convince any skeptic that this is one of the most important projects that can be undertaken by any municipal government.

Commissions Should Be Curtailed.

Pittsburgh has acquired the commission habit and a halt should be called at once. On account of the present condition of the city's finances some of the commissions which have been created within the last few years should be put on a more economical basis and their operations curtailed until the people have recovered from the financial strain brought about by the many gigantic improvements which have recently been made. I do not wish to criticize the work of any of these commissions, or the sincerity of the many public-spirited men who have been serving thereon, but I feel that under the circumstances we must mark time at present. Much of the work which some of these commissions are doing is of a preparatory nature and the city will not have the financial credit to carry out many of these schemes for years to come, and it may be found by that time that the plans worked out at an enormous expense with the change of time are not then feasible. If there is any pressing work of this kind to be done the city has a large engineering force, which should be able to produce results whenever called upon.

Should Closely Guard River Front Rights.

I recommend that no more concessions of the city's rights along the river fronts be granted. Any application for the grants of concessions of this nature should in the future be watched with a jealous eye.

Should Rush Work on New City Hall.

While the preliminary steps on the construction of Pittsburgh's new City Hall have been taken, I recommend that this matter receive your immediate and constant attention until actual construction is not only under way, but the building completed. The necessity for unusual action on this proposition is evident. At present all of the city offices are cramped for room, and, more important than all, the city is paying out each year large sums of money in rent which can be saved with the completion of this building. I respectfully invite your attention to this subject, with the hope that it may result in the completion of our new City Hall at an early date.

Smoke Prevention.

While efforts have been made to solve the smoke problem, results demonstrate that Pittsburgh has failed in its efforts in behalf of smoke prevention. While the presence of smoke is taken by many to mean the presence of prosperity, it has been demonstrated in other manufacturing centers that smoke can be prevented without endangering prosperity. For that reason I recommend that particular attention be paid to the solution of this problem, and that the work of the Bureau be devoted to accomplishing results.

Widening of East Ohio Street.

There has been much agitation among the people of the North Side for the widening of East Ohio street. I recommend that your honorable body consider this matter with a view of granting the relief sought.

Beautifying the Hill-sides.

Your honorable body should consider the advisability of granting the Bureau of Parks a sufficient appropriation to make a study and ascertain if there is not some way by which the apparently barren hill-sides can be covered with green shrubbery and vines. This would add greatly to the appearance of the city, and it might be well for Council to allow the Bureau of Parks to experiment to some extent on the problem, and if the Bureau is able to work out a plan which brings results to go into the same more extensively next year.

Raise North Side Streets.

The great improvement to the North Side which has been brought about by the raising of certain streets above the flood level is sufficient evidence that further work along this line should be undertaken as soon as possible. The cost of the physical work done incidental to the streets already improved was not great and the results obtained prove the worth of the investment.

Cottage Plan at Marshalsea.

I also recommend for your favorable consideration the idea which contemplates the construction of buildings at Marshalsea on the cottage plan hereafter. I feel that where an old couple has met with misfortune, and it is necessary to take charge of them in their declining days that the humane plan would be to allow them to continue life's journey together until the very end. The present system places them in separate buildings. At perhaps the same outlay little two-room cottages can be constructed, which will be more sanitary and which will give them the additional comfort of being together until the last. I trust that your honorable body will keep this matter before it and will not begin the construction of any buildings of the present type until a thorough study of it has been made.

Tunnel Construction Necessary.

A comprehensive plan to relieve traffic congestion to and from the lower sections of the South Side and to make the hill-tops more accessible should be worked out at once. The County Commissioners were prepared two years ago to begin the construction of traffic tubes through the South Hills, and I therefore recommend that your honorable body confer with them at once with a view of getting this project under way. This comprehensive plan should also take into account the building of a road along the brow of the hill from some point on Mount Washington to the lower section of the city, and the construction of a tunnel from the northern end of the Tenth Street bridge to Sixth avenue extension. I would also include in this plan the widening of Carson street from the Smithfield Street bridge to Seventeenth street, the improvement of West Carson street and the construction of the Beechview bridge. All of these improvements are dependent one upon the other, and should be made so that they will interlock in such away as to afford the greatest relief to all sections on that side of the river.

Bureau of Water Should Be Made Self-Sustaining.

Water is a commodity, and as such, of course, should be supplied to the limits of necessity, but should be neither wasted nor given away. Year after year it has been necessary through the general revenue tax to place an additional burden on the people in order to make up the deficit in the Bureau of Water. I recommend that Council immediately take up the question of readjusting water rates and work out a plan whereby the Bureau of Water shall be made self-sustaining. It is the practice to supply water free to many institutions. The city must bear the expense of pumping, filtering and delivering all this water in such cases, and this, to a large extent, accounts for the deficit. It should be definitely ascertained what institutions are receiving water free, what amount they are using, and whether a minimum rate should not be charged them for the purpose of wiping out the deficit in this Bureau. The purchase of water meters should be commenced without delay. Your honorable body has already taken some steps to make use of the money voted by the people for this purpose, and I respectfully urge that you push this project through to an early completion.

End of High Fees and Delinquent Tax Office.

One of my platform pledges was that I would abolish the system for the collection of delinquent taxes, by which enormous fees were paid out which should remain in the treasury. Your honorable body saw fit to heed the voice of the people and abolished the delinquent tax office by providing for the collection of unpaid taxes by the City Treasurer. The proper system will be installed in that office by which the delinquent taxes will be collected at a saving of thousands of dollars each year to the people, and you will be asked to give your consideration to the Ordinances necessary to put this system into effect.

Civil Service and Reorganization of Bureaus.

I am heartily in accord with the civil service law for the protection and advancement of all city employees who efficiently perform their duties, but I do not favor the protection of those employees who make politics their chief aim and who are not rendering the city a dollar's worth of work for a dollar's worth of pay. For this reason the various Bureaus should be reorganized and placed on a good, substantial, responsible, business basis. Any low or degraded political elements which are found therein should be rooted out and merit alone made to count. There should be no coercion practiced in any manner, shape or form which would interfere with any employe exercising his right or political freedom, and any who have been guilty are not fit for the service and should be made an example of.

Which was received and filed.

Mr. Garland presented

No. 11. An Ordinance fixing the salary of the City Treasurer and Collector of Delinquent Taxes at the rate of eight thousand dollars per annum, after the first Monday of January, 1914, and providing that he shall act as Treasurer of the School District of Pittsburgh without extra compensation.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

And there being no further business Council adjourned.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Garland presented from the Committee on Finance, with an affirmative recommendation:

No. 66. Report of the Committee on Finance for January 6, 1914, transmitting sundry papers to Council. Which was read, received and filed.

Mr. Garland moved

A suspension of Rule VIII, which provides that all bills, ordinances and resolutions, when returned from committee, shall be printed and a copy of each bill mailed to each member at least 48 hours previous to a meeting of Council, in order that the bills may be considered.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Garland also presented from the Committee on Finance, with an affirmative recommendation:

Bill No. 3. An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance fixing the salary of the Director of the Department of Charities at sixty-five hundred dollars per annum, after the first Monday of January, 1914."

Which was read.

Mr. Garland moved

A suspension of the rule to allow the second and third readings and final passage of the bill.

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am opposed to the suspension of the rules for the reason that I received a communication this morning addressed to a certain city employee notifying him of his discharge from further duties as such employee. I have had prepared a resolution which I intend to introduce which calls for an explanation, and before I vote to suspend the rules I will want an explanation from the administration as to whether this is to be their attitude throughout the term.

"I want to be placed on record that, although I was not on the same side politically with our Mayor in the recent campaign, nevertheless, I recognize Mayor Armstrong as the Mayor of our city, and it is my duty to help him and his appointees make his administration a success. It is my desire to support the administration of Mayor Armstrong and to help him all I can. This morning in Finance Committee I asked to have a conference with the Mayor to avoid this action."

The Chair said

"The gentleman is out of order."

Mr. English said:

"The point is, Mr. President, that if the Secretary of the Mayor is going to override the Civil Service Commission and discharge employees without consulting the heads of the departments, I am opposed to the suspension of the rules until this matter is satisfactorily explained to Council."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I think this is getting a little beyond decency, to say the least. Here is a new administration; it goes into office by the choice of the people. We go about our business and try to help the administration all we can, and here, on a little matter of the suspension of the rules—simply a technical question—the new administration is delayed in the appointment of heads of departments. We should go about our business in a proper and efficient manner, but do not let us hamper the new administration by not suspending the rules. If we differ on resolutions or ordinances coming from committee, let us have an honest difference of opinion."

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I just want to say that on some of these ordinances I am opposed to suspending the rule. This is specially with reference to the ordinance increasing the salaries of the Assistant City Solicitors.

"Mr. Chairman, I wish to state that I do not want to appear as being altogether governed by someone else's wishes. However, I am informed that some of our city employees are receiving letters of discharge, signed by the Mayor's Secretary, Mr. Schooley. If this is so, I think he is exceeding his authority, and I feel that it is the duty of this Council to at once investigate it."

And the question recurring, "Shall the rule be suspended, to allow the second and third readings and final passage of the bill?"

Mr. English demanded a call of the ayes and noes, and the demand having been sustained, the ayes and noes were ordered to be taken, and being taken were:

Ayes—Messrs.

Dillinger	Herron	Rauh
Garland	Hoeverler	Woodburn
	Kerr

Goehring, President.

Noes—Mr.

English

Ayes—8.

Noes—1.

And there being two-thirds of the members of Council voting in the affirmative, the motion prevailed.

And the bill was read a second time and agreed to

And the bill was read a third time and agreed to.

And the title of the bill was read and agreed to.

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Dillinger	Garland	Rauh
English	Herron	Woodburn
	Kerr

Goehring, President.

Noes—Mr.

Hoeverler

Ayes—8.

Noes—1.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Also

Bill No. 6. An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance fixing the salaries of the Assistant City Solicitors of the Department of Law of the City of Pittsburgh."

Which was read.

Mr. Garland moved

A suspension of the rule to allow the second and third readings and final passage of the bill.

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to say that I am opposed to this ordinance. The City of Pittsburgh now has one of the best First Assistant Solicitors and is recognized as such before the Allegheny County Bar, and who now receives a salary of $4,800 per year. I cannot see any sense to increase that salary to $6,000 per year. In this ordinance you also increase the salary of several other positions. The salary of the City Solicitor has been increased $3,000 over that of last year. The Supreme Court, in deciding the Goshorn case, I am informed, decided that a man did not have the right to assign away his statutory rights, and I question if this ordinance will stand in the courts, and I also want to state that should the City Solicitor die before his term expires I venture to assert that his heirs could go into court and collect the fees that he is supposed to have turned over to the city in accordance with this ordinance."

Upon which motion, the Chair ordered a call of the ayes and noes, and the ayes and noes being taken were:

Ayes—Messrs.

Ayes—5.

Noes—4.

And there not being two-thirds of the votes of Council in the affirmative, the motion to suspend the rule did not prevail.

Also, with a negative recommendation,
Bill No. 2. An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance fixing the salary of the City Treasurer at eight thousand dollars per annum, after the first Monday of January, 1914."

Which was read.

Mr. Garland moved

That further action on the bill be indefinitely postponed.

Which motion prevailed.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Rauh presented

No. 67. Resolved, That hereafter the names of the President of the Council and the Chairmen of all the committees thereof be placed in alphabetical order on the roll calls, instead of last, as at present, and in calling the rolls at either Council or committee meetings, the clerk be instructed to call them in that order.

Which was read.

Mr. Rauh moved

The adoption of the resolution.

Mr. Rauh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—In presenting this resolution, I desire to state that I have reports from high authorities that in small bodies, such as this, it is customary for the Chair to vote in alphabetical rotation; not at the end of the roll call. This is not meant as a discourtesy to the Chair.

"The same thing applies to all Chairmen of committees. In other words, the Chair votes, for instance, after Mr. Garland votes, and the Chairmen of committees vote in alphabetical rotation."

Mr. Woodburn arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I raise a point of order. My point is, that, while I cannot find anything in the rules to prevent such a resolution from being considered; nevertheless, it would have to be an amendment to the Rules of Council to make it of any continued purpose or use, and under the rules whereby the rules may be amended this resolution would necessarily have to lay over. Rule XII says, 'No rule of the Council shall be amended or changed, except by a two-thirds vote of the members elected thereto, and after one week's previous notice to the members of Council in writing of such change desired to be effected.' This would be effecting the Rules of Council."

The Chair arose and said:

"Gentlemen—This is a question not covered by any rule of Council. It is simply altering the rules of parliamentary practice."

And the question recurring on the adoption of the resolution, the motion prevailed.

Mr. English presented

No. 68. Resolved, That his Honor, the Mayor, be and he is hereby requested to confer with Council on the subject of providing city water or city rates for water now supplied to the Brush ton, Beltzhoover, Beechview, Brookline and Sheraden sections of the city. Said conference to be had at as early a date as possible.

Which was read.

Mr. English moved

The adoption of the resolution.
Which motion prevailed.

Also

No. 69. Resolved, That his Honor, the Mayor, be and he is hereby requested to confer with Council on the subject of street railway service. Said conference to be had at as early a date as possible.

Mr. English moved

The adoption of the resolution.
Which motion prevailed.

No. 70. Whereas, After the experience of the past year in the matter of city funds deposited in banks without state, county or municipal bonds as security; and

Whereas, The County of Allegheny and the Board of Public Education has been able to secure such security; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the City Solicitor be instructed to draw such amendment or amendments to the present ordinance as will provide proper security for the city funds.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

At this time Mr. Dillinger arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—Remarks were brought out by members of Council that certain employees were receiving letters of dismissal from the service of the city and it has been intimated that these were signed by the Mayor's Secretary. Mr. Schooley is here and I ask that he be given the privilege of the floor to make an explanation."

Mr. Roy Schooley, being given the privilege of the floor, said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—There seems to be a number of these letters sent to several city employees. I have here a letter which I think is similar to the one received by Mr. English. It was brought to my attention by a city employee and signed on the typewriter, 'James R. Schooley.' I presume this is the name of the signer of the letter received by Mr. English. The letter was not written by me and I do not know who had written it. It may be a joke, but I think it is a serious joke. I notice that the envelope is stamped as being mailed at 1:30 P. M. The office was not officially turned over to Mayor Armstrong until 1:40 P. M. I assure Mr. English that I am not responsible for the signature on that letter."

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen — In view of the explanation made by Mr. Schooley, I wish to respectively withdraw any inference that I have made reflecting upon his supposed action."

Mr. Herron presented

No. 71. Whereas, It appears that the Emerson Company, who have made a study of the efficiency of the several departments of the city government, are sitting with the Committee on Finance in order that the said committee may have the benefit of the experience of the investigations so made by the Emerson Company during the sessions of said committee, sitting as the Budget Committee; and

Whereas, The Emerson Company have not examined into the affairs connected with the Department of Law; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Emerson Company be and they are hereby requested to forthwith make an investigation of the duties of each of the several Assistant City Solicitors, and to report the same to the Committee on Finance as soon as possible; the said investigation to be done without additional cost to the City of Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Pa., January 7th, 1914.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of Council,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

I beg to hand you herewith, for confirmation, the names of those whom I have selected to act as heads of Departments in the municipal government of the City of Pittsburgh:

Robert Swan, Director of the Department of Public Works;
C. S. Hubbard, Director of the Department of Public Safety;
J. F. Edwards, Director of the Department of Public Health;
F. P. Booth, Director of the Department of Supplies;

Jos. G. Armstrong,

Mayor.

No. 73.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of Council,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

I beg to hand you herewith, for confirmation, names of those whom I have selected to act as Police Magistrates in the City of Pittsburgh:

John J. Sweeney,
James R. Watkins,
Edward F. Dillon,
William H. Robinson,
John A. Fugassi,
Edward M. Kenna,
Wallace Borland,
Isaac Weinstein.

As you will note, I have named eight Police Magistrates, for the reason that the City has had that number during the past four years, and after investigation I have decided that many will be necessary, especially under the new regulations for the conduct of these offices which I propose to put into effect.

It is my intention to insist that Police Magistrates be in their offices at stated periods each day, in justice to the public and the men on the police force, and to work as long as any other city employe. It is a hardship on the policeman who has been working a beat all night to be compelled to wait for hours around the station house until the Magistrate arrives to give his prisoner a hearing. For that reason I shall insist that the Magistrates be at the station houses and start their hearings as soon as the night policemen come off duty. It is also my intention to endeavor to work out a plan by which Magistrates will be in the station houses and ready to give hearings to each shift of policemen off duty. This is not only for the convenience of the men, but because those accused of minor offenses should have their cases disposed of with as little delay as possible. In addition, Magistrates will be required to set aside a certain portion of each day, convenient to the public, and to be in their offices at that time in order that the people will know when and where to find an official of this kind when they have business to transact with him.

I note that your honorable body has been considering the question of cutting down the number of Magistrates from eight to five, and state my policy in order that you may give very serious consideration to it before you take the step. I shall not only assist, but insist in effecting economies in our city government when service to the people is not going to suffer thereby. I feel that if your honorable body will assist me in carrying out the plan I have in mind for one year you will decide that there is sufficient work to keep eight of these officials busy.

From February 1st, 1913, to January 6th, 1914, the eight Police Magistrates collected in fines, which went into the City Treasury, the sum of $67,884.00. The Act of Assembly authorizes cities of the second class, which means that they shall have 100,000 population or more, to have not less than five Police Magistrates. Pittsburgh has six times as much population as this, is badly scattered and still growing, and therefore eight Magistrates is none too many.

Very respectfully yours,
 Jos. G. Armstrong,
 Mayor.

Mr. Garland moved, seconded by Mr. Dillinger)

That the communication be received and filed and the appointments of the Mayor confirmed.

Upon which motion the ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes—Messrs.

Noes—Messrs.

Hoeverler Kerr

When the name of Mr. English was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—In view of the action of the Finance Committee yesterday, it seems that the Council should take this matter into consideration. I think it therefore proper that this communication should be sent to the proper committee to have a consultation with the Mayor. However, not wishing to hamper the Mayor and his administration, I wish to be recorded as voting 'Aye.'"

When the name of Mr. Herron was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—Not wishing to hamper the Mayor and his administration, I wish to be recorded as voting 'Aye.' The names of the Police Magistrates are satisfactory to me, if we must have that number of them."

When the name of Mr. Kerr was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I stand in the same position that I did yesterday, and a year ago, when this matter was threshed out. It was determined at that time that five Police Magistrates were sufficient. If five were determined sufficient at that time I should think that five would be sufficient at this time. By reducing the number to five it would be an economy and a saving to the taxpayers. I am prepared to vote for five, as I have already said it was determined that this number was sufficient. For this reason I cannot vote for the confirmation of the eight Police Magistrates."

When the name of Mr. Woodburn was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to say this, and this only, that the message of the Mayor, who is the chief executive of this city, and responsible for all the duties applying thereto, states positively that he needs eight Police Magistrates. He further declares that he proposes to use those eight in such a way as to relieve or remove from my mind the opposition I had against the employment of eight Magistrates one year ago—that they did not do enough work to justify that number. Therefore, I want to approve by name and number the appointments of the Mayor. I vote 'Aye.'"

Ayes—7.
 Noes—2.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion prevailed.

The Chair presented

No. 74. An Ordinance granting to the H. J. Heinz Company, its successors and assigns, the right to lay, maintain and use certain pipes and conduits under and across North Canal street, South Canal street and Heinz street, to be used for the transmission of water, gas, electricity and steam between buildings owned by the said company, subject to the terms and conditions herein provided, and to the right of the City to terminate the privileges herein conferred on sixty (60) days' notice.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Public Service and Surveys.

And there being no further business before the meeting, the Chair declared Council adjourned.

Which was read, received and filed.

Present—Messrs:

The Chair stated

As there were no objections, the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting would be dispensed with.

Mr. Garland moved

A suspension of Rule V, which states that the Clerk shall mail a notice to the members of special meetings of Council not less than forty-eight hours previous to said meetings.

Which motion prevailed.

PRESENTATIONS.

The Chair presented

No. 75. An Ordinance authorizing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works to lease certain property of the City of Pittsburgh to the Benedum-Trees Oil Company for the purpose of drilling and operating for petroleum oil and gas thereon, and fixing the terms and conditions of said lease.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

The Chair presented

No. 76. Official bond of Joseph G. Armstrong, Mayor, in the sum of $25,000.00, with the American Surety Company, of New York, as surety.

Which was read.

Mr. Kerr moved

That the bond be approved.

Which motion prevailed.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Bill No. 6. An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance fixing the salaries of the Assistant City Solicitors of the Department of Law of the City of Pittsburgh."

In Council January 6th, 1913. Bill read a first time.

Which was read a second time.

Mr. English moved

To amend the bill by striking out the words "One First Assistant City Solicitor at the rate of six thousand dollars per annum."

Mr. Dillinger moved

That the motion to amend the bill be laid on the table.

Upon which motion Mr. English demanded a call of the ayes and noes, and the demand having been sustained, the ayes and noes were ordered to be taken, and being taken were:

Ayes—Messrs.

and a majority of the votes being in the affirmative, the motion prevailed.

Mr. Kerr stated

That he was opposed to the Ordinance and wanted to go on record as being opposed to an increase of the salary of the Assistant City Solicitor.

Mr. Hoeverler said:

"Gentlemen, I believe that Pittsburgh is not in a position to increase the salary list, and I also think the salaries now paid to employes who are receiving above $2,000.00 per year are sufficiently attractive to procure the talent and ability to do the work well. I wish Pittsburgh was in a position to increase the payroll, but when it does a uniform increase all along the line is only reasonable. This today is impossible, as we have now overtaxed the source from which our revenue comes, and have put Pittsburgh's property in a position where its ownership is undesirable, and values are depreciating owing to this fact.

"Under existing conditions, the high cost of living being apparent, I would first favor an increase to the man who is not earning sufficient to maintain himself and family decently."

Mr. Rauh stated

That he would vote for the Ordinance for the reason that he thought that the First Assistant City Solicitor has about as much work to do as any member of Council and that he deserves as much salary.

Mr. Garland stated

That the salary was not an increase, as the City Solicitors would turn in all fees received to the City Treasurer.

Mr. Herron stated

That he did not want to show any discourtesy to the Mayor when he opposed the motion, and that he would not make a motion to have the matter laid on the table in order to shut off debate. That the present City Solicitor receives $5,000.00 a year, and if competent he should be reappointed and not made First Assistant at an increased salary, and if not competent he should be dismissed. That he (Mr. Herron) understood that the position was to be given to the present City Solicitor. That he would vote in favor of an increase for him if he was to be retained as City Solicitor. That the Assistant City Solicitor may have as much to do as some members of Council, but he believed it an extravagance to increase the salary.

Mr. English stated

The only reason he opposed the bill was in order that Council could have a conference with the Mayor on the matter, so that he could ask the Mayor some questions. That two of the Assistant City Solicitors, who each receive $4,800.00 per annum, are very competent men and have been doing most of the work of the Law Department, and if they were to get the positions at increased salaries he would be in favor of it, but if the $6,000.00 position was created for some one as a political reward he was opposed to it.

Mr. Dillinger stated

That he did not believe it was fair for any member of Council to criticize what he presumes to be the policies of this administration until he knows what the policies of the administration are; that he went through the campaign on the ticket with the present head of the administration, and that they made certain pledges as to economy and efficiency, and that they were going to be carried out; that they could not be carried out unless efficient men were procured to do so, and that these men could not be secured unless a sufficient salary is paid.

The Chair stated

That he hoped the gentlemen would confine themselves to the question under discussion, and not undertake to criticize the motives of any one. That he had called the attention of the members to it yesterday, and trusted that they would discontinue personalities in the future.

And on the question, "Shall the bill as read a second time be agreed to?"

The motion prevailed.

Mr. Kerr moved

A suspension of the rule to allow the third reading and final passage of the bill.

Which motion prevailed.

And the bill was read a third time and agreed to.

And the title of the bill was read and agreed to.

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes—Messrs.

Dillinger Goehring Rauh
Garland (President) Woodburn

Noes—Messrs.

English Herron Kerr
Hoeverler

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

That the communication be received and read and the appointments of the Mayor confirmed.

The Chair, at this time, presented

No. 77.

Assignment of Docket Fees to the City of Pittsburgh by the City Solicitor.

Whereas, An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance fixing the salaries of the Director of the Department of Public Safety, of the Director of the Department of Public Works and of the City Solicitor at eight thousand ($8,000.00) dollars per annum each on and after the first Monday of January, 1914," was approved December 2nd, 1913; and

Now, therefore, in accordance with the provisions of said Ordinance, I hereby agree to and do assign to the City of Pittsburgh all docket fees or other compensation other than the said salary which may come to me or be received by me as City Solicitor of the City of Pittsburgh, and particularly all docket fees which may accrue subsequent to January 5th, 1914, in any case in which the City of Pittsburgh is a party and which, by virtue of any Act of Assembly, or otherwise, would belong to me as attorney or as Solicitor for the City of Pittsburgh.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto attached my hand and seal this 6th day of January, A. D. 1914.

John P. Hunter. [Seal]

Witness: Herbert R. Hahn.

Which was read.

Mr. Rauh moved

That the agreement be received and filed.

Which motion prevailed.

And the question recurring, "Shall the communication (Bill No. 72) be received and filed, and the appointments of the Mayor confirmed?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes—Messrs.

Dillinger	Goehring	Hoeveler
English	(President)	Rauh
Garland	Herron	Woodburn

Noes—Mr. Kerr

When the name of Mr. Kerr was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—In voting on the confirmation of the City Solicitor, I want to say that I believe that the Ordinance which fixes the salary of the City Solicitor at $8,000.00 a year and requires him to turn over to the City Treasurer the fees of the office is in conflict with the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I am going to take the liberty to recite some of the points in the case of the City of Pittsburgh vs. Goshorn, to wit:

"It is a mistake to suppose that the only or chief infirmity to be considered in the contract which the City of Pittsburgh is here seeking to enforce arises from the fact that the Mayor in entering into it exceeded his power. If this were all the authorities cited by the learned trial judge in his opinion filed in the case it would give large supports to his conclusion; but it is far from being all.

"The opinion goes on then to show how the Mayor exceeded his authority in fixing the compensation of the office at a salary of $6,000.00 instead of the per centum salary as fixed by the Councils of the City, which does not have a bearing on this case, except as a question of a settled policy of law.

"The opinion then reads: 'We have a public policy so clearly indicated in our State Constitution that it admits of no dispute. By constitutional provision every public officer before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office is required to make oath that he had not paid or contributed, or promised to pay or contributed, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing to procure his nomination, election or appointment. The condition of the appellant's appointment to the office of Collector was that he would promise to pay over to the City Treasurer the amount of the commissions allowed by the Ordinance, less his compensation as above fixed and the expenses of his office. This promise having been made his appointment followed. The promise was the price of his appointment.

"The opinion of the Court maintains that this agreement was made against public policy and was incapable of enforcement. What results to a contract against public policy is a total and irremedial paralysis, which leaves it absolutely without any force or effect whatever, so that it cannot under any circumstances be made the basis of a cause of action. The law when appealed to will have nothing to do with it, but will leave the parties just in the condition in which it finds them. If they have fully executed their unlawful contract the law will not disturb them in the possession of which each has acquired under it.

"If one has executed in whole or in part he law turns a deaf ear when he pleads for its aid to compel the other to do as much. If the contract is executory the promisor is left undisturbed in the possession of the money or property which he agreed to pay or transfer; if the contract has been executed the promisee is left undisturbed in the possession of the money or other property which has been paid or conveyed to him.

"A contract can be said to be executed only when the object of the contract has been performed. Here the only object of the contract remains unfulfilled, the appellant retains the money, and the only purpose of the contract is defeated."

"The fees of the office which come to Mr. Hunter as a lawyer we are, I judge, to assume to be the price of his appointment, which I take to be in conflict with the public policy so clearly set out in the Constitution.

"Now I submit, Mr. President, that Mr. Hunter cannot carry out the contract he is making with the City because the fees which come to him by virtue of his statutory rights are spread out over a term of years, which might extend beyond his period of existence, and I believe the Courts could not under this decision compel any other person to complete the contract. Consequently, it simply resolves itself to a question of Mr. Hunter's honesty, of which no one has any doubt, and his physical ability to carry out his contract. I do not think this is good business; therefore, I cannot vote to confirm Mr. Hunter's appointment under the provisions of the Ordinance and this contract.

"I am sorry to have to take this position, as I regard Mr. Hunter as a most capable attorney and a man who can render invaluable service to the City, but I do think the stipulation just read is in direct violation of the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania."

Ayes—8.

Noe—1.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion prevailed.

Mr. Woodburn moved

That Mr. Hunter be given the privilege of the floor.

The Chair stated

That if there were no objections Mr. Hunter would be given the privilege of the floor.

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"I object if Mr. Hunter is to be put in the position of making an apology for his action in this matter; otherwise I do not object."

Mayor Joseph G. Armstrong, being presented, was granted the privilege of the floor, and stated

That he believed the Council received a salary of $6,500.00 per annum for being business men, and that there is a good deal of business connected with the body. That Council passed an Ordinance not so long ago putting the City Solicitor on a salary basis; that he didn't believe it was necessary to make any apologies to the men who had passed the Ordinance. That they had a similar case when Mr. Goshorn, the Delinquent Tax Collector, was put on a salary basis, but that Mayor Guthrie, by private agreement with Mr. Goshorn, fixed the salary at $6,500.00 per year; that the matter was taken into the Courts, and it was held that the Mayor had no legal authority to enter into such an agreement; that if Council had made the agreement by Ordinance it would have stood.

Mr. Herron withdrawing his objections, Mr. Rauh asked that Mr. Hunter be heard.

Mr. Hunter stated

That he believed the Ordinance that Council had passed was entirely proper. That he believed the stipulation binds himself, his heirs or executors or any one else; that the stipulation was not an agreement for the appointment to the office; that he made no such agreement for obtaining the position; that it didn't comport to his self-respect to do anything of that kind. That it is not an agreement, but a stipulation based upon an Ordinance regularly and legally adopted and passed under which the salary was fixed. That to his mind there is a clear distinction between an agreement to do certain things in consideration of appointment to office and a stipulation which provides for the assignment of certain fees to the City of Pittsburgh; that the stipulation is based upon an Ordinance passed by Council, and does not conflict with the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Kerr moved

A suspension of Rule VIII, which provides that all bills, Ordinances and Resolutions when returned from Committee shall be printed and a copy of each bill mailed to each member at least forty-eight hours previous to a meeting of Council, in order that the bills may be considered.

Which motion prevailed.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Garland presented from the Committee on Finance, with an affirmative recommendation,

No. 78. Report of the Committee on Finance for January 7th, 1914, transmitting an Ordinance to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also

Bill No. 35. An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance creating a Bureau, under the direction and control of the Mayor, to be known as the Bureau of Publicity, providing for the employees of such Bureau, fixing the salaries thereof, and fixing the duties of said Bureau."

Which was read.

Mr. Garland moved

A suspension of the rule to allow the second and third readings and final passage of the bill.

Which motion prevailed.

And the bill was read a second time and agreed to.

And the bill was read a third time and agreed to.

And the title of the bill was read and agreed to.

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

The Chair presented

No. 79.

Pittsburgh, Pa., January 7th, 1914.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of Council,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

I am in receipt of a communication from the City Clerk, under date of January 7th, stating that on January 6th Resolutions had been presented to and passed by Council requesting conferences with me and your honorable body pertaining to taking care of the water systems in various districts throughout the city, as well as that of the street railway service.

These matters were mentioned in my message to Council on the day previous to the introduction of the aforesaid Resolutions. I stated in my message that I would arrange a conference with the Law Department and Council for the purpose of drafting the proper bills which should be presented to the Public Utilities Commission. While I appreciate the fact that some member of Council has shown that he heartily coincides with my views on both of these questions, and grasps the suggestions contained therein by introducing Resolutions in Council in order to carry them into effect, your honorable body should know that problems of this nature will require due thought and deliberation, and as the City Solicitor's office has not as yet been organized it will be necessary for the members of Council to give the executive branch of our city government opportunity to arrange the conferences suggested in my inaugural message.

Yours very truly,

Jos. G. Armstrong,
Mayor.

Which was read.

Mr. Garland moved

That the communication be received and filed.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. English presented

No. 80. Resolved, That the President of Council be and he is hereby requested to appoint a special committee of three to confer with the County Commissioners of Allegheny County and representatives of the United States Government relative to the construction of a highway bridge across the Ohio river from the lower section of Allegheny to McKees Rocks.

Which was read.

Mr. English moved

The adoption of the resolution.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair appointed as members of said Committee Messrs. English, Garland and Rauh.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

Pittsburgh, January 16, 1914.

To the Council,
Municipal Hall, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Gentlemen:

In reply to your communication of January 3, 1914, relative to the right of common carriers to make special reduced freight rates on property shipped by the municipal government, I beg to reply as follows:

By Section 22 of the Act to regular commerce, commonly known as the Interstate Commerce Act, a carrier may grant reduced rates for the transportation of property for the United States or for State or municipal governments under arrangements made directly with such governments, and in which no contractor or other third person intervenes, without filing or posting the schedule of such rates with the Commission.

On February 4, 1908, the Interstate Commerce Commission made a rule upon the above section of the Act of Congress in the following words:

"If title to property, such as postal cards, passes to the government at the point of manufacture, the carrier may agree upon a rate to be applied for transporting it for the government to another point without filing a tariff with the Commission. But if the manufacturer under his contract is required to deliver to the government at such other point the transportation must be under the published tariff rate. In other words, if the shipment is made directly by the government this rate may be fixed by the carrier without posting and filing the tariff, but not otherwise."

On April 18, 1908, the Interstate Commerce Commission made a further ruling by which "it was considered permissible for carriers to incorporate in their lawful tariffs special rates for the United States, State or municipal governments applicable only to traffic consigned to such United States, State or municipal governments by name, in care of a recognized officer thereof."

On December 7, 1909, the ruling just above quoted was withdrawn.

Therefore, from these rulings it must be inferred that the only property of the municipal government which may be shipped under a reduced rate, and without the filing and publishing of the tariff, is such property that the municipality owns absolutely and without condition at the time and place of the shipment.

I have sent a copy of this communication to the Director of the Department of Supplies, with a request that he advise you whether or not any practical advantage can be obtained for the city from these rulings.

Yours truly,

John P. Hunter,
City Solicitor.

DEPARTMENT OF SUPPLIES.

Pittsburgh, January 19, 1914.

To the Honorable President and Members of Council of the City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:

Pursuant to the instructions contained in your Resolution of January 3, 1914, I have, in connection with the City Law Department, investigated the possible application of the advantage given municipalities in special freight rates on interstate commerce as applied to the business of the Department of Supplies of the City of Pittsburgh.

I first beg to call to your attention that portion of the ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission quoted by the City Law Department to the effect that full ownership of the property to be transported must be vested in the municipality receiving the reduced freight rate from the point of shipment before the special rates are available.

Inasmuch as all the heavy commodities purchased by this department, such as cast iron pipe, lumber, sand and gravel, coal, grain and hay, are contracted for locally, the Interstate Commerce ruling would not apply to those most serious of our purchases as to weight, and I do not believe it would be advantageous for what little it might profit the city to buy f. o. b. cars at distant points and accept the risks to its property incident to transportation, in addition to the fact that the acquiring of title at any other point than Pittsburgh would involve railroad fare and other expenses for inspection and acceptance at these distant points that is now avoided.

Finally, the city has no appropriation immediately available for the payment of freight. This, of course, could be remedied, but the other points before mentioned and the minimum quantities of supplies and apparatus brought from a distance do not merit the risks and expense that the saving in freight would entail. However, in order to place the matter fully before you I attach herewith a schedule showing all materials received from interstate points by the city last year, with the approximate weight given in pounds. The total is a matter of 997.1 tons.

Respectfully submitted,

F. P. Booth,
Director.

Which motion prevailed.

And the bill was read a second time

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am opposed to this Ordinance. I think it is an unnecessary expenditure of money. We increased the salary of the Director of the Department of Public Safety from $5,000.00 to $8,000.00 a year. We have, I think, a good man at the head of the department, and I do not think there is any question in my mind that he will be able to conduct the affairs of the department in an efficient and businesslike manner. If he needs information pertaining to the workings of the department he will be able to secure it through the numerous sources we now have."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want the following remarks inserted in the minutes of Council:

"1st. The Director of the Department of Public Safety has not been in office long enough to have learned about the employees, to know whether or not he really needs a civilian aide.

"2nd. If the Director of the Department of Public Safety insists that he does need a civilian aide, I consider it a confession that he and his appointees are not competent to fill the responsible positions they now occupy.

"3rd. That the position of civilian aide is an excuse, not a reason, for the creation of a position which is not necessary.

"4th. That the creation of the position of civilian aide and the practically unlimited powers authorized by this Ordinance allows the establishing of a political organization within the Department of Public Safety.

"5th. That even if necessary the salary of $5,000.00 is entirely too high for the position of a private detective, when some of the best men in the detective bureau give all their time for $1,800.00 and less.

"6th. That it will be impossible to maintain any secrecy as to the identity of the civilian aide."

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to protest against the passage of this Ordinance. I think it an unnecessary expense. By the terms of this Ordinance it will be possible for the civilian aide to go to San Francisco or other places he may desire and charge the bill to the taxpayers. I do not think the position is warranted, and I therefore want to protest against its passage."

Mr. Hoeveler arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I have great respect for the Director of the Department of Public Safety and voted for him, but permit me to be personal that if I were in his place I would consider the offer of placing between me and the actual business of buffer an insult, and if it was persisted in I would resign."

Mr. Bauh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—In voting for the affirmative of this Ordinance I desire to state that the remarks I made before the Budget Committee in favoring this office shall be considered as my remarks today, and I wish unanimous consent to have them printed in the minutes of the Council meeting today."

Mr. Bauh's remarks are as follows:

"A municipal government based on efficient methods and practicing efficiency was the ambition and aim of the last Council, for it was believed that efficiency is the last word in a successful, economic administration. In this spirit the members engaged two sets of efficiency experts to present different money-saving propositions for the welfare of the citizens; and likewise to do away with unnecessary offices and to create new ones only when vitally necessary in the interest of economy and lower taxes.

"One of these sets of experts, the New York Bureau of Municipal Research, has suggested and requested that an additional $19,000.00 be spent in the Controller's office for the installation of a new efficiency system of accounting for all departments. And yesterday every member of Council voted the expenditure of this $19,000.00.

"These same efficiency experts have recommended a civilian aide, who will have no duties involving administrative detail, but will be at the disposal of the Director to make intelligent research into modern methods of policing and to conduct confidential investigations." The New York Bureau of Municipal Research in the report states the qualifications and functions of the civilian aide to be as follows:

"In selecting a civilian aide special care should be taken to secure a man of executive ability, expert in matters of administration. The aide should be a confidential assistant to the Director, and, therefore, should be a man of the highest integrity. He should be the personal appointee of the Director, selected on merit and in no wise should his appointment be dependent on politics. His chief functions should be:

"1. To make confidential investigations.

"Matters pertaining to the Bureau of Police which require investigation, and which it is deemed unwise to refer to the Bureau of Police itself, should be referred for investigation to him and investigation should be conducted under his direction.

"2. To make an independent study of improved methods used in other cities.

"Such an aide should seek to discover what practices of other cities could be applied with advantage to the Pittsburgh bureau, and he should report his findings to the Director.

"3. To take charge of the bureau's reorganization.

"The reorganization of the Bureau of Police should be planned and carried out under his direction. As stated above, it is impossible for the Director, with all his many routine duties, to work out and effect a plan of organization. This should be prepared for him by the civilian aide, and when completed should be put into operation by him.

"To make independent inspections for the Director.

"Under present conditions the only information available to the Director is furnished by the bureaus. He has no independent means of checking up the accuracy of the information or the value of recommendations made by bureau heads. The accuracy of the reports should be checked by the aide. Besides this, the aide should be sufficiently expert to be able to take charge of a precinct in the event the crime and vice conditions indicate that the commanding officers are unable to cope with the situation.

"To supervise the installation of new methods in various bureaus.

"Frequently methods of procedure are not improved in the various bureaus because there are no officials who have sufficient time at their command to install them. It is the experience in most large cities that unless executive heads of bureaus are especially efficient they are unable, in addition to their regular routine duties, to install new methods if such installation requires any radical changes in procedure. Thus many a good suggestion in regard to procedure is lost because of not being given an adequate test. Therefore, the aide should be sufficiently competent, and it should be his duty to aid the bureau heads in this respect.

"6. To revise the forms and provide the Director with an improved system of securing information.

"As shown elsewhere in this report, most of the forms now in use do not serve the purpose for which they are intended. Many new forms are suggested which are drafted by the aide."

"Having unqualified confidence in the splendid suggestion of the efficiency experts, and in the interest of excellent efficiency and great economy in the long run (for the effect and results of a new position such as this do not manifest themselves immediately), I propose to vote for this Ordinance providing for the appointment of a civilian aide."

And on the question, "Shall the bill as read a second time be agreed to?"

Mr. English demanded a call of the ayes and noes, and the demand having been sustained, the ayes and noes were ordered to be taken, and being taken were:

Ayes—Messrs.

Garland	Woodburn
Goehring (Pres't)

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

Pittsburgh, Pa., January 27, 1914.

John M. Goehring, Esq.,

Dear Sir:

I transmit you herewith Ordinance for appointment of women police auxiliaries. I might state that, if this Ordinance is passed, and women are appointed to the positions provided for, it will be necessary to request the Civil Service Commission to put said positions in the exempt class.

I furnished the Appropriation Committee an opinion, under date of December 13, 1913, holding that the Act of Assembly creating the Shade Tree Commission is unconstitutional.

Replying to motion of Mr. English, for the preparation of an Ordinance creating a Bureau of Elevator Inspection, I wish to say that I have such an Ordinance under way at the present time. Such a bureau is authorized by the Act of May 28, 1907, but up to the present time nothing has been done in this direction. As the Act referred to imposes important and difficult functions on the bureau, involving many and varied interests, it is necessary to proceed with caution in the preparation of this Ordinance, but I hope to have it ready for the Council meeting of February 3.

Respectfully,

Charles A. O'Brien,
First Assistant City Solicitor.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also

No. 225. An Ordinance authorizing the appointment of women police auxiliaries in the Department of Public Safety, defining their qualifications and duties, and fixing their compensation.

Which was read, and referred to the Committee on Finance.

And there being no further business before the meeting, the Chair declared

Council adjourned.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

Pittsburgh, February 3, 1914.

W. A. Hoeveler, Esq.,
Council Chamber, Pittsburgh.

Dear Sir:—

Relative to your request that I draw an Ordinance providing that hospitals, dispensaries and such other charities as are supported by public and private contributions should be allowed forty gallons of water per day for the average yearly number of inmates, without charge, and that they should pay for the excess over that amount, I beg to advise:

That in my opinion such an Ordinance is extremely doubtful, as it is provided in the Act of 1901, P. L. 36, Article 14, Section 5, as follows:

"All taxes shall be levied and appropriations made annually by general Ordinance."

The only safe course to pursue, therefore, is, if it is desired to make such exemption, to include it in the Ordinance fixing the tax and water rent for the year.

Yours truly,

John P. Hunter.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Garland presented from the Committee on Finance, with an affirmative recommendation:

No. 269. Report of the Committee on Finance for February 4, 1914, transmitting sundry ordinances to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also

Bill No. 227. An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance levying and assessing taxes and water rent for the eleven months beginning February 1, 1914, and ending December 31, 1914, including the levying of special taxes for the payment of the separate indebtedness of certain annexed districts, upon all property subject to taxation within the limits of the City of Pittsburgh."

In Finance Committee, January 30, 1914. Amended on page 2, line 43, by inserting the words "two (2) mills;" line 44 by inserting the words "one and eight-tenths (1.8) mills;" page 3, line 56, by inserting the words "four and two-tenths (4.2) mills;" lines 57 and 58, by inserting the words "three and seventy-eight one-hundredths (3.78) mills;" line 69, inserting the words "one (1) mill;" line 70, by inserting the words "nine-tenths (.9) of one mill;" page 4, line 82, by inserting the words "three (3) mills;" line 83, by inserting the words "two and seven-tenths (2.7) mills;" line 96, by inserting the words "six (6) mills;" line 96, by inserting the words "five and four-tenths (5.4) mills;" page 5, line 108, by inserting the words "one and eight-tenths (1.8) mills," and lines 109 and 110, by inserting the words "one and sixty-two one-hundredths (1.62) mills," and, as amended, ordered returned to Council with an affirmative recommendation.

In Council, February 3, 1914. Read a first time.

In Council, February 4, 1914. Bill read a second time and recommitted to the Committee on Finance.

In Finance Committee, February 4, 1914. Ordered returned to Council with an affirmative recommendation.

Which was read.

Mr. Garland moved

That the amendments of the Finance Committee be agreed to.

Which motion prevailed.

And the bill, as amended in committee and agreed to by Council, was read.

Mr. English asked to have the following statement inserted at this time:

I cannot consistently vote in favor of the tax levy bill, known as No. 227, because such a vote would carry with it my approval of the companion bill, known as No. 228, which is the appropriation ordinance. I believe that an itemized list of revenue items should first be considered and every member of Council would know definitely how much money would be received by the City.

Then the expenses or appropriations should be considered and a final conclusion on the tax levy would be a matter of arithmetic rather than doubtful conjecture.

I feel that in such an important matter as fixing the tax levy and appropriating municipal funds for the year, the Mayor should sit with the members of Council in the meetings of the Finance Committee. I do not know whether or not any members of the Committee have had private consultations with the Mayor and the Directors of the different departments, but I do not see how anyone can conscientiously vote for the approval of this bill.

The matter of several hundred thousands of dollars, represented in contractors' claims against the City, have been absolutely ignored and, as the City is paying 6 per cent. interest on some of these claims, it is not good business to put off consideration of the payment of these claims.

If the tax levy, as set in this bill, is correct and will provide sufficient revenue to properly operate the various departments, then a lower millage could be reached if salary increases were refused and the creation of new unnecessary positions deferred for this year. I am in favor of lower taxes and a lower tax rate, but I am compelled to vote "No" on this bill.

And the bill as read a second time was agreed to.

Mr. Garland moved

A suspension of the rule to allow the third reading and final passage of the bill.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Dillinger at this time arose and said:

Mr. Chairman and Members:

I resent the remarks whereby the gentleman refers to the fact that he does not see how any member can conscientiously vote for this bill. I believe this gentleman has had enough experience in the old Council to know that it is not courtesy to the other members of Council to criticize their vote, whether it is conscientiously or unconscientiously made. I object to that part of his remarks and will not vote to have it inserted in the minutes.

And the bill was read a third time and agreed to.

And the title of the bill was read and agreed to.

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes—Messrs.

Dillinger

Kerr

Garland

Rauh

Goehring (Pres't)

Woodburn

Noes—Messrs.

English

Hoeveler

Herron

When the name of Mr. Kerr was called he arose and said:

"In making up the tax levy for 1914, it appears to me that it would have been good business to have, in some way, provided funds to take care of part of the large floating indebtedness upon which the City is now paying 6 per cent. interest and which must be met in the near future, either by the issuing of bonds or by direct tax levy. If the latter policy should be adopted, it would become very burdensome, indeed, to assess the amount necessary in any one year. Therefore, I believe the better plan would have been to have added something to the levy this year for that purpose.

"The statement that the tax levy is not higher than that of last year is misleading because the levy, this year, provides for only eleven months' appropriations.

"I am opposed to the policy of charging full meter rates for water supplied to the hospitals of the city. Most of the hospitals are supported entirely by charity and are not able, even now, to meet their financial requirements. Anything more imposed upon them means an additional burden to the board of trustees or those charitably inclined persons who lend to these institutions financial support.

"The hospitals take care of the City's poor and I believe the City should contribute to the support of those institutions sufficient water to allow them to take care of their activities in a sanitary manner."

Ayes—6.

Noes—3.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Also

Bill No. 228. An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance making appropriations to pay the expenses of conducting the public business of the City of Pittsburgh and for meeting the debt charges thereof for the eleven months beginning February 1, 1914."

In Council February 3, 1914. Read a first time.

In Council, February 4, 1914. Bill read a second time and recommitted to the Committee on Finance.

In Finance Committee, February 4, 1914. Read and ordered to be returned to Council with the recommendation of placing the following figures in line 7, $11,955,175.10; line 13, $10,133,124.20; line 17, $508,418.71; in line 19, $38,800.19, and by adding thereto to Section 5, page 4, the code schedule, and when so amended recommending the passage of the bill.

Which was read.

Mr. Garland moved

That the amendments recommended by the Finance Committee be agreed to.

Which motion prevailed.

And the bill, as amended in accordance with recommendations of Finance Committee and as agreed to by Council, was read.

And the bill as read a second time was agreed to.

Mr. Garland moved

A suspension of the rule to allow the third reading and final passage of the bill.

Which motion prevailed.

And the bill was read a third time and agreed to.

And the title of the bill was read and agreed to.

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

When the name of Mr. English was called he arose and presented the following statement and asked that it be inserted in the record:

I am compelled to vote "No" on Bill No. 228, providing for annual appropriations, for objections that I entertain against certain items in the bill, which are as follows:

Page 2—Five police magistrates are sufficient; therefore, we could eliminate three at $2,500.00, and save the City the sum of $7,500.00.

Page 2—Chief investigator of complaints is unnecessary at a salary of $3,000.00, a positive waste.

Page 5—The salary of chief clerk in the Delinquent Tax Office fixed at $3,500.00 is too high. This office has been made a political position and the increase of salary cannot be excused by any stretch of reasoning. The strenuous efforts required to get this item in the Budget under the title of "Special Revenue Collector" and finally raising the salary of the chief clerk is unworthy of a "Business Council."

Page 5—In the Department of Law we should have the best attorneys in the city and we should pay them sufficiently large salaries to secure most of their time, but I cannot see the wisdom of employing 10 attorneys, costing the City the sum of $44,400 a year, when half of this number really do the work. Three or four law students could be had to perform the minor work attached to the Law Department.

Page 6—In the Department of Assessors, nine assessors are not needed this year, particularly as the tri-ennial assessment was made in 1913. I believe seven men could do the work and we could save the salaries of two at $2,700.00 each or $5,400.00.

Page 6—The Department of City Planning has been practically abolished by Council and it is being continued only on paper out of respect to the Act of Assembly. I do not see the need of an engineer at $3,000.00, or a field agent at $1,800.00, and think the clerk could represent the office. This would result in the saving to the city of $4,800.00.

Page 7—The Art Commission being in the same class with the Planning Commission, I believe a stenographer and clerk at $900.00 can represent the Art Commission as easily as an assistant secretary at $2,000.00, and we ought to cut to save the difference, or $1,100.00.

Page 7—The Department of Public Safety.

A "civilian aide" at $5,000.00, in addition to a Police Superintendent at $4,000.00, is entirely unnecessary to advise a Director whose salary is $8,000.00 per year. I do not like to say what I think about the position, owing to the fact that the appointment has been made and it might be construed as a criticism of the appointee. I mean the position of civilian aide, not the person, when I say that this is a political position and wholly unnecessary.

This is a cowardly evasion of the civil service law. Men who have served for twenty years and over, faithfully and efficiently, as they have, and then to have their positions suddenly thrown out of the protection of civil service and placed under the whim of an appointed official (who has not been in office one month) are not being given a square deal. If there are any incompetent detectives in the bureau, they should be brought before the trial board, tried and dismissed, if guilty; and any official who does not possess enough courage to prosecute and discipline incompetent employees should not be allowed to direct a secret service organization.

Increasing the salary of the chief inspector from $3,000.00 to $4,000.00 is a waste of $1,000.00. An assistant inspector at $2,500.00 is unnecessary. The New York Bureau of Municipal Research report states that there is plenty of law to enforce smoke prevention and that the present Division of Smoke Inspection has plenty of evidence to justify the prosecution of offenders who have violated the law or ordinances. What we need is the enforcement of the law and not the creation of a new bureau with higher salaries than are paid the present one.

Page 19—The physician-in-chief and eleven district physicians have had their salaries increased owing to the work of police surgeons being placed in their charge. This was done in committee in a hurry, and the Directors of the two departments affected, Safety and Charities, were not consulted. Since this action in committee was taken a member of Council has introduced a petition and an ordinance to reinstate the chief surgeon. The firemen and policemen, who have been treated and some of their lives saved, are naturally interested in the continuance of the services of the chief surgeon; therefore, they should be given some consideration.

Page 22—Board of Water Assessors. In my opinion, the Board of Water Assessors do not have enough work to perform to merit three high salaries. Certainly the two assistants, who do the same work, should get the same salary. The above is emphasized by the fact that the Emerson Efficiency Report advises that six deputy water assessors can do the work that eighteen deputy water assessors now do. If Council followed the advice of the Emerson Report the salaries of the twelve men at $1,000.00 each, or $12,000.00, could be saved.

There are a lot of other items running through the entire question of salaries, operations, tax levy, etc., but my conclusion is that the result of the budget making this year is not in accordance with sound business policy. Next year we must face a higher millage or sell bonds. In either event the policy adopted today will have its effect. If not this year it is bound to show up later.

When the name of Mr. Herron was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. President and Members of Council—I do not propose to make a lengthy statement. I am voting No for the simple reason that I think this Ordinance carries too many useless positions. If I voted in the affirmative, it would look as if I were giving my consent to the maintenance of these positions."

The Chair said

"I want to say, not particularly in reference to this matter, but generally, that as I understand it the remarks of members are put in the minutes at a cost of $3.37 per page, so it is a matter we ought to consider, and remarks should only be incorporated as part of the minutes on motion or resolution of Council."

When the name of Mr. Hoeveler was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to take heed of the advice of our President to cut down our speeches in order to reduce the cost of printing the record. I am going to vote No on this Ordinance, and want to back up the entire statement of Mr. English as good and sound reasoning."

When the name of Mr. Kerr was called, he arose and said:

"I am opposed to the creation of the Bureau of Information and Complaints in the Mayor's office because I believe that it will not carry out the intent and purpose of the suggestions made by the New York Bureau of Municipal Research.

"If such a bureau is to be of benefit to the City, it should have been under the direction and control of Council. Under the present system, members of Council do not have any means of acquiring information except through the heads of the departments, which, in the past, has not always been a satisfactory method.

"I understood when this question was up for discussion before the Finance Committee that the purpose of this bureau was to make investigations of complaints, and make its report to Council. I was not satisfied, in my own mind, that such a bureau under such conditions was necessary, as I have always had and expect to have confidence in the administrative authorities of the City. If it were not necessary under those circumstances, I am quite sure that it is not necessary as a bureau in the Department of the Mayor, as he has ample methods to receive complaints and make investigations without imposing this burden upon the taxpayers.

"If such a bureau were deemed necessary, it could have been combined with the Bureau of Publicity at a very much reduced cost and would have been of as much service as it will be under the the present arrangement.

"The salary of the Chief Clerk of the Delinquent Tax Division is more than the salary of any chief clerk in the employ of the City, which I think is unfair and unwarranted.

"I am not in sympathy with the ordinances increasing the salaries of the Assistant City Solicitors. The legal department of the City of Pittsburgh costs the City more than almost double the amount of money paid for the same services rendered to other cities of like population. Such a large expenditure of money, I think, is unwarranted.

"I am convinced that seven city assessors are sufficient to do the work of this year efficiently.

"I think one of the most valuable departments of the City has been so crippled that it will be practically useless during the next year. I refer to the Department of City Planning, which is a most valuable adjunct to the City and could be turned to very good account if properly conducted. It would save the City, in the future, vast sums of money. I, therefore, believe that the department should be supplied with sufficient funds to carry on its activities unhampered.

"I am very much opposed to the policy of changing titles and creating new bureaus and divisions for the purpose of evading the civil service laws. It is certainly not in keeping with the letter or spirit of the Civil Service Act. I believe faithful and efficient employees of the City should be continued in office, without regard to their political preferences, and should be rewarded by promotions in office when possible.

"If the Civil Service Act is to be avoided by such procedure, then I think it would be better to go back to the old 'spoils system.'

"The abolition of the Detective Bureau and the establishment of Secret Service Operatives is not, to my mind, in keeping with the provisions of the Civil Service Act.

"I believe the Police Surgeons should have been continued because they have rendered the city valuable service. The Surgeon in the First Police District has devoted all of his time in that work and I believe is credited with having saved several lives at some of our fires.

"The other surgeons are men of reputation and ability and they have rendered valuable services in their districts. I believe the City owes the Bureau of Fire and the Bureau of Police all the protection that can be afforded them by surgical skill.

"The creation of the Bureau of Child Welfare is highly commendable. I believe the activities of that Bureau will conserve the health of the community and save the lives of a great many children of the city.

"Owing to the industrial depression which prevails in this City at this time, and the fact that so many good men are out of employment, I believe that Council made a mistake by not providing the Department of Charities with some money to be used in outdoor relief. It is true the amount of that work done by the City is comparatively small, yet I believe for the reasons above stated it should have been continued for this year.

"The consolidation of the Divisions of Sanitary and Tenement House Inspection, I believe, is a step forward and will do much to improve the sanitary conditions of the City.

"The work which is to be done at Marshalsea during the next year will do much for the relief of those, unfortunately who are confined in that institution. A forward step was taken last year when alienists were appointed to look after the treatment of those people and I think much more can be accomplished for their comfort and treatment.

"In the Department of Public Works the consolidation of the Bureau of Construction and the Bureau of Surveys looks like good business and, I believe, will save the City considerable money and give more efficient and satisfactory services.

"I opposed the abolition of the positions of bridge watchmen because the money paid these men was insignificant compared with the services rendered the City. The bridges of the City are places where close supervision is absolutely necessary and unless they are closely watched many crimes may be committed and the criminals readily escape. I, therefore, think that a mistake was made in the abolition of those positions.

"I will vote for this bill because I am most anxious to have the administration get settled down to active and real work, and although I have some strong objections to the bill as before us, yet I feel obliged to support the measure as I do not want to be placed in the position of hampering the administration.

"I believe, however, some very good men, who have rendered valuable services to the City in the past, will suffer as a result of this bill."

When the name of Mr. Rauh was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to state that I am going to vote Yes on this Ordinance, and would like to state in a few words that I make the prediction that our tax levy for next year will be less than it was this year."

When the name of Mr. Garland was called, he arose and read the following statement, and asked that it be placed in the record:

February 4, 1914.

Mr. President:

It was not my purpose to make any statement as to the Budget that has been presented, nor am I now making any apology whatever for same, for such, in my opinion, is not necessary.

I have never yet found it incumbent upon me to explain my vote on any question.

Inasmuch, however, as one or two members of Council have charged ulterior motives and have seen fit to place their statements on the records, and for the further reason that these men, as has been apparent even to on-lookers, have not been in a frame of mind during the Budget-making which made for harmony, but have rather antagonized every movement, I desire to place upon the records of Council the following statement:

In the making of this Budget we have tried to conserve the best interests of all the people of the City of Pittsburgh, and it must be borne in mind that we are not legislating for the few, but for the many.

Believing it highly improper that the Chief Executive of the City should be hampered or obstructed in the beginning of his administration, and having the fullest confidence in his integrity and honesty of purpose, we have co-operated with him, and with his exceedingly capable department heads in the inauguration of certain changes which look towards greater efficiency in the administration of the affairs of the City.

The unnecessary criticism and the open antagonism which this course has engendered, and which, unfortunately, has been considerably magnified, grossly exaggerated, and made the subject of undignified publicity, may be passed over as undeserving of comment.

As to the statements that have been made that efficiency will be impaired, or that necessary expenditures have been curtailed, these are misleading, and are not based on facts. We have possibly recognized to a greater degree than others the true meaning and value of the word "efficiency" in the making of the Budget for the coming year, and we have seen to it that the foundations, as well as the working parts for true efficiency and economy, have been laid and provided in such a manner as to make their impress in no uncertain way on the entire conduct of the City's business.

Ayes—6.

Noes—3.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Kerr moved

That the City Controller be directed to set aside from the Contingent Fund the sum of $10,000.00, for the use of the Municipal Pension Fund.

Upon which motion Mr. Kerr demanded a call of the ayes and noes, and the demand having been sustained, the ayes and noes were taken, and being taken were:

No. 297. Statement of Councilman W. A. Hoeveler on his proposed plan of a municipal market house and auditorium.

GARDENERS' MARKET AND GENERAL MARKET.

Pittsburgh, Pa., February 10, 1914.

To the President and Members of Council.

Gentlemen:

In the first place, the market house is built on the unit system, which means that it can be enlarged at any time, without destroying its beauty or design. Further enlargements under this unit system may be made as needed without interfering with the business of the tenants of the market house.

Pittsburgh today has in its own right ninety per cent. of the land necessary to make this market development a reality, viz., the site now occupied by the present market house. The purchase of land between it and Liberty avenue will complete the scheme. For gardeners' products, along the center of Liberty avenue erect an ornamental metal and cement shed, beginning at Stanwix street, to the Monongahela river. A plateau on the Monongahela wharf between the Wabash Railroad bridge and the Point bridge for the use of interurban electric lines, farmers' wagons, automobiles, steamboats and direct river exchange.

When finished the whole structure will be entirely harmonious from the standpoint both of architecture and business efficiency. This overcomes the deplorable policy in the past of total destruction when development becomes necessary. From an economical standpoint the plan has many advantages, as well as many great sanitary features that are noteworthy.

The stands on the ground or market house floor will be connected with corresponding space in the cellar, in which the preparation and care of all food products may be undertaken in a clean, wholesome and sanitary way that is noticeably lacking in the present market house and also in the proposed plan now before Council. The cellar will be used for the preparation of all food products for market and sale.

Suitable facilities will be provided for the care of offal, scraps and food values that are lost today.

Second, from the standpoint of refrigeration, ventilation, cooling and heating the plan presents many economies; for instance, the piping gallery (used in the system of refrigeration and so forth) is located in the cellar. Thus the elements of heat and cold can be controlled in a way to suit the various requirements with the least possible waste.

Third, when the whole market house is completed the plan gives the city an excellent opportunity for the development of a convention hall or auditorium. The plan provides for two halls, one of the size of the present market house, or Old City Hall, and the other a magnificent auditorium for conventions and mass meetings, with a capacity for the accommodation of 18,000 people.

An auditorium that will accommodate the number of people last mentioned will be of immense value to the City of Pittsburgh, because it will bring many enterprises and people now foreign to the city. These people will distribute large sums of money through patronage of local business enterprises. Today Pittsburgh is lacking in facilities that would attract people to this city or encourage enterprises necessary to the development of any city.

We have large halls, it is true, but few, if any, are large enough to accommodate great conventions and large exhibits. The largest in the city, I believe, is Exposition Hall, but its location is unsuitable and undesirable. Its general surroundings are not attractive. Its isolation from street car lines and railroads does not appeal even to local people, and its low level, with possibilities of floods, bars the promoter of desirable enterprises and conventions from coming here.

A convention hall should be within the center of business activity and within easy access of street railways and railroad lines.

Such an enterprise, as a combination of a market house and a convention auditorium, is not a tax or a burden upon the people, but will be a large revenue producer when completed.

The idea of a cellar under the whole structure is not new. It is used in the Union Station, or what is now known as the Pennsylvania Station, at Liberty avenue and Eleventh street. The plans provide for entrances (for wagons, motor trucks and other vehicles) similar to that existing in the Union Station, with the exception that such entrances are graded so as to permit vehicles to enter the cellar.

It is entire folly for designers of a public market to conclude that they are bringing to the people an advantageous plan of market house development when they proceed along lines of building construction now obsolete. The system of building a market here and there, which sooner or later will be inevitably cramped for space, is wrong. Such a system cannot provide facilities that a general market such as my plan will bring about.

A general market means a place where a large number of buyers and sellers congregate. To get these people to congregate, facilities must be provided for the economical handling of food products, sanitary means for storage, display and sale; and comfortable arrangements for the accommodation of buyers.

A development of a plan for a market house within reach of all railroads, rivers, and street railways, such as provided in these plans, will not interfere with the corner grocery or district market, but will be an advantage to both. Increasing the number of tradesmen in a market reduces the possibilities of cliques, trusts, and combinations (the greatest enemies of the small business house), which are easily brought about in small communities or in a small market house, wholesale or retail.

The larger the business of a market house, the greater the competition—and competition means the lowering of prices. Therefore, a general market will give to the producer and consumer a price that will be governed by increased competition. Such a market house as I have planned will give to the people of Pittsburgh something that they do not now enjoy, viz: lower prices, and a grade of food products conserved from what is now total waste.

The conservation of these food products, now lost through waste, will mean the feeding of our people with sanitary food at lower prices.

My plan of a market house means much to the City Beautiful, means much for the sanitary conditions that should surround such an enterprise and means much in saving of waste to the purveyor of food products. It will provide for the handling of products in a systematic, sanitary and economical manner so as to establish a higher grade of quality, for it is a fact that vegetable and animal matter are injured in quality and value through handling. Reducing the handling increases the quality and value.

It must be understood and appreciated that before a market house can be successful, sufficient space must be procured. A certain number of acres must be provided to make such a market a public utility and advantage to the people. Unless sufficient space can be procured, the whole scheme will have little value, if any, and may actually prove to be a disadvantage to the public.

In other words, for every 500,000 population, five acres of ground floor are necessary and, in figuring for Pittsburgh on the basis of 750,000 population, seven and one-half acres are required.

It is impractical to even think of putting a market on the second floor when economical conditions are considered, without entering into a discussion of its inconveniences and disadvantages to the buyers and sellers.

Pittsburgh can arrange space for market house development equal to any in the world, and if it does not avail itself of the opportunity to adopt a comprehensive plan and work to that end, it will be a public calamity and a grievous mistake upon the part of its representatives.

These people must keep in mind that they are not putting a burden on the taxpayer, but at a reasonable price to the purveyor and producer the whole market should give to Pittsburgh approximately $250,000.00 per year in the way of revenue.

I want to file, in connection with my market house statement, the following protest to the action of Council in approving the plans of Rutan & Russell for the rebuilding of the market houses in Diamond Square.

- 1st. They are inadequate.
- 2nd. They do not provide for the care of offal.
- 3rd. They are inefficient.
- 4th. They will be a perpetual charge to the community in the way of not conserving food values which would be equivalent to the entire cost of the improvement every two years. The waste as has been going on in the past can be computed as $164,000.00 a year.
- 5th. The mode of refrigeration in the Rutan & Russell plan is expensive, as it exposes much more pipe to the atmosphere than is necessary, and the cost of insulation will be increased and efficiency reduced. If conserved, the conservation will pay interest on a large sum of money.
- 6th. The market is not a practical or economical improvement over the present one, with the exception that it has refrigeration, and the same capacity can be placed in the present market in a much more economical way.
- 7th. When this market becomes inadequate it cannot be added to on lines of beauty and efficiency.
- 8th. The convention hall and the general hall for smaller assemblages, which will become necessary in time for the convenience of the people, will add an unnecessary burden on the taxpayers, which would be avoided if your Council would look into the future and endeavor to build these halls on the lines proposed by the plans and in the pamphlet I have submitted to Council.
- 9th. Inadequate facilities for market purposes are not borne by the purveyor or dealer, but the consumer, who ultimately pays the excess charge.
- 10th. One of the principal objections to the building of a market house under the plans as now proposed is that, aside from the fact that the new buildings will be more pleasing to the eye, it offers no improvement over the present building. For the $300,000.00 which the City will expend, it will have in return less than 30 per cent. more available floor space than the present building. This increased space is on the second floor and is a disadvantage to the market business. The great areas under streets and sidewalks are totally wasted and in the general plans for building the addition of more stories or added floors is not contemplated.

Yours respectfully,

W. A. HOEVELER.

Realizing that the members of this Council have stood nobly by us in our efforts to secure women police, and that each man has proven himself to be a true and trusted friend of the women and children whose lives and living conditions we are endeavoring to surround with proper protection, we beg your careful consideration of the request placed before you in this letter.

Very truly yours,

No. 321.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, February 13, 1914.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of Council,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

The action of your honorable body in cutting off the appropriation for outdoor relief has made it mandatory for the Department of Charities to stop all work at this time. While your honorable body took this step after thorough consideration of the subject, and while it may eventually work out satisfactorily, it is more or less of an experiment at the present time. On account of the fact that this is the winter season, when the poor suffer most and when there are a greater number of unemployed, I think that a plan should be worked out whereby if the City intends to try and do away with outdoor relief work through its Charity Department the experiment should be started at a more favorable season of the year. I would, therefore, ask that you take such action as will allow the Director of the Department of Charities to keep on with this work until the warmer weather comes, and that the expense of the same be paid out of the Contingent Fund.

In view of the fact that this is a case of emergency, I think it would be well to immediately call a special session of Council. This can be held this afternoon or tomorrow morning if all of the members are willing to waive right to the usual 48 hours' notice. In this case they should do this.

Yours very truly,

Jos. G. Armstrong,
Mayor.

P. S.—I have instructed the Law Department to draw the necessary Ordinance to put the plan which I suggest in operation.

Which was read, received and filed.

Gentlemen:—

As attorney for the Pittsburgh Market Protective Association, I have been directed by my clients to correct at once any erroneous impressions that may be in circulation relative to the attitude of the members of the Pittsburgh Market Protective Association toward your proposed plans to build a new market house on Diamond square. I am requested to say that Councils having granted my clients an opportunity to be fully heard upon said subject, the members of said Association desire to leave the entire market house proposition entirely to the good judgment of the Mayor and the City Councils.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Garland presented

No. 365. Whereas, It is the desire of Council to prepare an ordinance for the construction and operation of a subway in the City of Pittsburgh, which will fully and properly safeguard all of the interests of the City; and

Whereas, A study of this subject has been made by the Law Department of the City; and

Whereas, The congested conditions of passenger traffic require that some remedy be afforded the traveling public; now, therefore, be it

And the question recurring on the adoption of the resolution, as amended, the motion prevailed.

The Chair appointed Mr. Woodburn chairman of the Committee.

Mr. Hoeveler at this time arose to a question of personal privilege, and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen.—It has been stated that we have given away valuable assets in the past; that we have given away streets; that we have given away the very things from which Pittsburgh should derive revenues; we have burdened the people with extravagant loads. Today we gave away a force and a utility that would produce to Pittsburgh an enormous amount of money every year—not only produce money direct to the City in the way of rentals, but, when completed, reduce the cost of living to all its people to an extent that would mean enough to pay the entire cost of the taxation of the City."

Mr. Kerr presented

No. 366. Whereas, The Pittsburgh Railways Company have established at the intersection of their various lines numerous transfer points; and

Whereas, The people of Pittsburgh are entitled to a transfer at the given points; and

Whereas, The company has issued an order in which the person desiring a transfer must make known his wish at the time of paying his fare, and if he neglects so to do the conductor is instructed to refuse a transfer; and

Whereas, This order works a great hardship upon persons who are compelled to take advantage of the transfer system because of their ignorance of the order and their neglect to ask for a transfer at the time of the payment of their fare; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Council requests a conference with some one of the company in authority to act upon this question.

Which was read.

Mr. Kerr moved

The adoption of the resolution.

Which motion prevailed.

And there being no further business before the meeting, the Chair declared

No. 388.

Pittsburgh, Pa., February 23, 1914.
To the Honorable Mayor and Council of the City of Pittsburgh.
Gentlemen:—

We, the undersigned subscribers, dealers in fruits, vegetables, flowers, seeds and nursery stock, on the outside of the Diamond Market, wish to call your attention to the following:

First. The second-story market as contemplated is not suitable for our purpose.

Second. Artificial ventilation acts as an evaporator and will injure our goods to a more or less extent.

Third. The public will be inconvenienced by the use of the elevators, valuable space on the first floor will be used, loading and unloading will be congested, and we feel that the consumer will be dissatisfied. The additional charges for time, convenience, added labor, wear and tear, and power, which necessarily follow such an arrangement, must be paid by the ultimate consumer.

Fourth. The markets on the street level will mean much to the buyer and seller in the way of conservation of time and energy, which means money.

Fifth. We all advocate the market built along lines that can be kept clean, sanitary and attractive.

Sixth. It is necessary that the stands be so constructed that the people can see our stock and select what they want from it.

Seventh. We protest against the plans now in your department as not meeting the wants of the consumer in an economical way, and ask that you reconsider your action, in the hope that plans can be presented that will prove to the advantage of Pittsburgh.

No. 395.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, February 22, 1914.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President, City Council,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I have before me Bill No. 314, being a resolution suggesting to the Mayor that the Bureau of Costs devote its energies during the year 1914 to the accomplishment of several undertakings which it is thought will improve the administrative methods in the City Government of Pittsburgh.

Out of respect for your honorable body and the spirit which no doubt prompted the introduction of this resolution I have signed the same, but desire to point out to you that the Executive Department has for some time been making preparations not only to do what is covered by this resolution, but much more.

I realize the fact that the City of Pittsburgh has expended considerable money for expert investigations and reports, and I am having thorough studies of the same made by the different department heads with the idea of putting into effect many of the recommendations which have been made by the expert investigators. While it is the province of the legislative branch of the city government to provide appropriations for work of this kind, it is the duty of the executive branch to see that the changes recommended are made, and, realizing the responsibility that rests upon it, the Executive Department has spent not only what might be considered reasonable office hours, but all our evenings in preparing to fulfill our obligations to the people.

I write this at this time because if nothing is placed on the record it might be assumed that the Executive Department did not fully realize its responsibilities to the people and that it was necessary for the legislative branch of the city government to call the same to its attention. I note that your resolution merely suggests these things, and is not an attempt to interfere in those duties which belong particularly to the Executive Department and will bear in mind when giving instructions to the Bureau of Costs as to what work it is the desire of the Executive Department that it would take up.

Yours very truly,
JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,
Mayor.

To the Members of the City Council,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Esteemed Friends:

I am overwhelmed with the expressions of personal friendship and appreciation of the work we have tried to do in your city, as expressed in the resolutions passed by your honorable body.

Never in all my experience have I received such a testimonial—never have I been more kindly received—never have I been more courteously treated by the city officials and Department of Public Safety than here in Pittsburgh.

I feel especially grateful because I have always looked upon Pittsburgh as the city of my early home, and the friends I made when playing ball here have been among the dearest and most loyal of the multitude that I have throughout this land.

Words are absolutely impotent to express my gratitude, and my prayer is that God will bless you, your administration, and the people of Pittsburgh.

Cordially yours,
W. A. SUNDAY.

COUNCIL

JOHN M. GOEHRING.....President

Pittsburgh, Pa.,
Monday, March 2, 1914.

Council met pursuant to the following call:

Pittsburgh, February 28, 1914.

Mr. E. J. Martin,
City Clerk.

Dear Sir:

Please call a special meeting of Council for Monday, March 2, 1914, at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of taking appropriate action on the death of John P. Hunter, late City Solicitor.

Yours respectfully,
J. M. Goehring,
President.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair stated

That as there were no objections, the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting would be dispensed with.

Mr. Dillinger presented

No. 406.

Whereas, Almighty God, in His supreme wisdom, has seen fit to remove, by death, John Porter Hunter, City Solicitor of the City of Pittsburgh; and

Whereas, The departure of the said John Porter Hunter from this life in such a sudden and unexpected manner has brought sorrow to the hearts of a great multitude of relatives, friends and acquaintances and is a deep and abiding loss to the citizens of this community, to whom he was devoting his talents and abilities without thought of his own physical welfare; and

Whereas, It is the desire of City Council, in session assembled, to make a record of the high appreciation which the members of this body have for the character and services of the said John Porter Hunter, and the deep sorrow which they feel on account of his decease, as well as to express to his bereaved relatives their deepest sympathy; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this resolution and the following tribute be spread upon the records of Council and a suitable memorial be prepared and sent to his family.

In the death of John Porter Hunter the City of Pittsburgh has experienced a loss which it will be difficult to overcome. Although he had occupied the office of City Solicitor for but a few short months, in that time his services had proven of inestimable benefit to the citizens and he had set out to serve his native city with an unflagging devotion to the duties devolving upon him. His was a life which demonstrates that industry mingled with a due regard for the rights and welfare of his fellow citizens is the pathway to success, and the key by which is opened the door of esteem and appreciation. As a member of the legal profession, by the continued application of his talents and abilities, he became a leader in that walk of life to which it pleased God to call him, and when he finally wrapped his shroud about him and passed on to that bourne from which no traveler has returned he did so with all the honors of one who had been faithful to every trust reposed in him and bound by a code of honesty and integrity that made his life an example which should be an inspiration and guide to young Americans. In his relations to his fellow man he endeared himself to all. As a man, in his family circle and in the larger and more extended relations in which, on account of his prominence, he was brought, he was kindly, affectionate, courteous, charitable and ever ready to assist others with an unbounded generosity. His mind was noble as his heart was pure, and, constantly borne up by his belief in Christian faith and a broad charity, his taking off leaves a void that will frequently cause all who knew him to stop and mentally exclaim: "O! for the touch of a vanished hand, the sound of a voice that is still."

Which was read.

Mr. Dillinger moved

That the resolution be adopted.

The Chair suggested that this be done by a rising vote.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair called upon Hon. Jos. G. Armstrong, Mayor, who arose and said: "Mr. Chairman and Members of Council:

"The death of Mr. John P. Hunter is a very sad and costly blow to the citizens of the City of Pittsburgh, and more so to me personally. Mr. Hunter was not only a political advocate and friend of mine, but there had been a warm personal attachment between us for a number of years. I became acquainted with Mr. Hunter a number of years ago, when his name was mentioned at that time for Judge of the Allegheny County Courts, and from then on he always showed a great interest in my welfare, being always ready and eager to help me when I needed it most, not upon solicitation but voluntarily. During my recent venture, my friend John was always by my side, being with me a greater part of the days, and in the evenings would arrange his affairs in order that he could appear at the same speaking halls with me, for the purpose of hearing me expound my views and honestly criticising my shortcomings as a speechmaker. Our relationship was so very personal that he had no hesitation whatever in offering any suggestion which he thought would be of benefit to me, and I always received them in the same kindly spirit in which they were given.

"Since the organization of the city departments and up until the time that Mr. Hunter went to the hospital he has been with me practically every day, and very nearly every evening, working untiringly in his efforts to help me map out the policy of the administration. His advice on many policies which we expect to put into operation and which he and I have gone over very thoroughly is beyond placing a value upon, and on account of the personal as well as the professional interest which he took in the work of the city, it will be a difficult matter to fill the vacancy caused by his death.

"Words at this time fail me in describing just how badly I feel and while the city and I personally have suffered a great loss, heaven will be the gainer by his untimely death."

The Chair called upon Mr. Charles A. O'Brien, Assistant City Solicitor, who arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

"It is certainly with a deep sense of personal loss that I speak of the death of John P. Hunter. After an association of more than twenty years, professionally and socially, this sudden closing of his yet promising career comes to me as a direct bereavement and truly sorrowful parting. Good friend and counselor as he was through these years; kind, considerate, faithful, trusted and trusting; I mourn his loss as one whose place will not be supplied.

"Mr. Hunter had for some years occupied an eminent and enviable position at the bar of Allegheny County, and his reputation had extended far beyond the borders of his native city. This reputation was not sudden or ephemeral—built on a single case or spectacular methods—but was grounded on merit and acquired by years of toil. His was the genius of work and his achievements were the result of intelligent effort and ceaseless labor.

"His tastes, his education and his forensic talents made the trial courts attractive to him as a special field of endeavor, and in this sphere he attained marked success. Careful and laborious preparations, both of the law and facts, close attention to the minutest details of the case, good knowledge of human nature and sound judgment, made John Hunter a safe and reliable advocate, and added to what Emerson calls a high purpose in life, these qualifications brought position and prestige.

"But what is better as illustrating temperament and character, in the heat of many conflicts, in the ardor of battle, in the stress of debate and disputation, he preserved an equanimity, a fairness, a quality of gentleness, that left with his adversaries no smarting wound, no rancor or resentment. Hence, after a long and honorable career at the bar, Mr. Hunter counted his friends as legion and his enemies few and far between.

"When named as City Solicitor, by Mayor Armstrong, Mr. Hunter accepted his honors modestly, and entered on his official duties with characteristic zeal and enthusiasm. It would be hard to conceive one more patient and considerate than he was, on coming into the Department of Law; his anxiety to adjust himself to the existing situation, to get the best results with the least hardships to those affected by necessary changes, and thus kindly and gently going from the old to the new.

"As yesterday, cheerful and hopeful, he left us, full of life and interest and expectation, calling a happy good-bye, and little dreamed, nor did we, that he was passing, quickly passing, into the Valley of the Shadow, to that bourne whence no traveler returns. But we have the consolation of knowing that he departed with an abiding faith in the resurrection, and the life eternal."

The Chair called upon Mr. Lee C. Beatty, Assistant City Solicitor, who arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Members:

"I have known Mr. Hunter for perhaps fifteen years. During that time I have had occasion to speak to him personally as a member of the bar and at other times have been engaged in the trial of cases, where he represented the opposing side. I always found him a likeable man. He had the greatest consideration for the members of his profession. As an associate with him in the Law Department I found him extremely kind. When I recovered from my recent illness and was ready to go back to work he was extremely solicitous that I should not overtax my strength, telling me that to do so might endanger my health for the future. He would rather assume an extra burden upon himself than see another taking chances. As a lawyer I found him to be an indefatigable worker. He was quick to see the important points in a case and quick to bring forward all the evidence bearing upon the point. In trying cases he would bring out facts with so much tact and so much ingenuity that opposing counsel felt that he must be amply and fully prepared on his side, otherwise he would be at a great disadvantage. As a lawyer he stood high in his profession; as a man his integrity was not questioned. This community has lost a man whose place will be extremely hard to fill. I feel a personal as well as a professional loss in his death."

The Chair called upon Mr. C. K. Robinson, Assistant City Solicitor, who arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

"No one could touch the life of John P. Hunter in a personal way without feeling a strong liking for him. I first met John Hunter as an arbitrator in the case of the T. A. Gillespie Company against the City of Pittsburgh. I represented the city. Mr. Hunter sat on that case for five months, listening to the testimony and arguments of counsel, and throughout the case he was a mental and moral encouragement and stimulus to myself, as I was contending against the leading counselors in this city.

"Mr. Hunter always had a word of encouragement for everyone connected with him. He always felt it his duty to recognize any effort or endeavor on the part of an Assistant City Solicitor and to stimulate with a word of encouragement. He was a man who seemed to have perfect poise and an exact judgment in all matters that came under his consideration. I do not recall meeting a man who had such a comprehensive view of a legal question or of any question which was presented to him. His mind seemed to comprehend the law, the facts, the evidence, the human relationship of the case; its relationship to the individual and to the public, and his conclusion, as a result of this comprehensive view came with a finality which always closed the discussion. His clients felt that in him they had an advocate who was always loyal, faithful, energetic and dependable, and that their case would always be fairly and accurately presented and that nothing that could be fairly done would be omitted by Mr. Hunter.

"In the personal relations of life Mr. Hunter was at all times a mental and moral stimulus and a pleasant companion. He was a true executive who understood fully the value of detail and the value of systematic routine of business. He was also a man of ideals. I remember when John Hunter spoke to me about the matter of remaining with the City Solicitor's office he said: 'Mr. Robinson, I want you to understand two things: I will never ask you to do anything in your position that I would not do myself; also, that I have not lost any of my ideals, that the ideals which I have cherished and preserved in the practice of my profession as a private individual I shall carry into my new duties in a public position.' This revealed an aspect of Mr. Hunter's character that I had never considered before because in our personal relations theretofore there had been no occasion for a discussion of this subject. This showed the absolute sincerity of the man and the simplicity and strength of his moral and ethical fibre.

"In the death of John Hunter the City of Pittsburgh has lost a man that it will be very difficult to replace. Knowing him as I did for two or three years only, I can appreciate the great loss that has come to the Mayor and others who knew him so well for many years. He was a man that one would be glad to know among his fellow-men. The regret is, that time and opportunity did not afford the chance to know him better."

The Chair called upon Mr. E. V. Babcock, ex-member of Council, who arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, Gentlemen of Council and Mr. Mayor:

"I would feel myself primitive indeed if given an opportunity to say a word in behalf of this great man and did not rise to the occasion.

"John P. Hunter was not only a man whose ability as a lawyer gave him the standing at the bar of this county that caused him to have the respect and admiration of the entire bar; for his ability as a lawyer did give him that meritorious respect to which he was entitled. He also had, as I saw him, an ability that most professional men do not have—a sort of a business sense that made him particularly well adapted to fill the important position to which he was appointed by the Mayor of this city. He had something else which is almost indescribable, although it was brought out vividly in the Press of yesterday in the statement published by the Mayor. It was one of the most humane statements that it has ever been my privilege to read. I read it in the morning. I took it to my dinner table and read it to my children and my dinner guests. It appealed to me as no other statement has appealed to me and described this man in a better way than I can describe him.

"I sympathize with his family. I sympathize with the Mayor, whom I am sure loved him, and if we were associated with him as the Mayor was we would all love him. I sympathize most of all with the citizens of this city, because I say, without fear of contradiction, that Pittsburgh was given the best cabinet in its history, and one of its leaders taken away from us at this early stage is nothing but a calamity."

Mr. Enoch Bauh, Member of Council, arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

"In the death of John P. Hunter the City of Pittsburgh loses an exemplary and patriotic citizen, and his family a loving member. As tragic and hasty as was his passing into the great beyond, so worthy and admirable was his life among us.

"Born and reared in this metropolis of industry, he grew and developed into one of Pittsburgh's leading legal advisers; and it was this profound ability which, a short time ago, merited him the position which he was so untimely compelled to relinquish.

"I learned to know Mr. Hunter very well during the Voters' League trial, and I found him to be as honest and sincere in purpose as he was courageous and capable in the presentation of his arguments. Fearless and fair, righteous and rare, can best characterize the life of this leader of legal thought."

Mr. Wm. A. Hoeveler, Member of Council, arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

"Time is the great leveler; John P. Hunter, native to the soil! I did not have the opportunity of meeting him until the time of the trial referred to just a moment ago, but during that trial and after it I grew to appreciate Mr. Hunter, as a man possessing high ideals, as a man of delicacy and sterling honesty, true to his beliefs in life and true to his God. During the time of my association with him I became more convinced that my judgment had not been misplaced.

"Pittsburgh has lost a citizen, a worker and a man of vision, who would have steered her safely past the danger points which inevitably must come to any community. Personally, I am sorry that I did not meet him many years ago, but time is not essential to measure exceptional qualities in a strong man. I feel sorry for his death and believe a man of his makeup and sense of duty will meet his Maker and procure the reward that is promised to him. Requiescat in Pace."

Mr. W. Y. English, Member of Council, arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

"I regret exceedingly that I was in the country and did not learn that the funeral services for Mr. Hunter were to be held yesterday, or I would have attended.

"I did not know Mr. Hunter very well personally, but I have observed him from a distance for several years, and I say from my heart that I count it a privilege to be able to say that I sat here as a Councilman and voted to confirm the name of John P. Hunter as City Solicitor. It seems to me that in this matter of eulogy we should be proud of the fact that we had a Christian gentleman at the head of our Law Department, because, after all, it is what we do on this earth, and what condition we are in, what preparation we may have for that great eternal home which has no end, which should guide us. So, I am glad to say, in the death of this Christian gentleman we who administer the affairs of this great city should follow his example and lead a similar, kindly Christian life, so that our good deeds may rise before all and be an example for the entire city. In the death of Mr. Hunter the good deeds he did on this earth should be an inspiration for one and all of us. It should also be an inspiration to us that we get closer to each other personally. While we may differ at times in manners and methods, let us have it said about us that we have done our duty as best we could. Of John P. Hunter we can truly say he was a man, take him all in all, and that he was a Christian man."

Dr. S. S. Woodburn, Member of Council, arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

"I long knew Mr. John P. Hunter by reputation, but only had the honor, good fortune and pleasure to know him personally a short while. But I can say this, in addition to seconding all that has been said, that I found that it did not require a long acquaintance to become acquainted with him; that is, you did not have to know him long to know him well, and to know him was to love him. I found him always congenial, kind, wide-open and honest. That open character, clear eye, direct look, could not indicate nor suggest anything but a clean, honest interior—a noble heart. In addition to what has been said, I would like to add this: That we, individually and collectively, shall miss him. That he is a great loss to this municipality and especially to this administration. But we must not be selfish in our sorrow, for our loss is his eternal gain."

Dr. G. A. Dillinger, Member of Council, arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

"I have known Mr. Hunter intimately for ten years. I considered him one of the truest friends I had in the City of Pittsburgh. We became acquainted years ago as contestants on the golf course. We have had many friendly contests, and I learned to know Mr. Hunter and to love him. I have gone to him many times, not only seeking legal advice, but information relative to other subjects. I do not know any man that was closer to me than Mr. Hunter. He is a loss to me personally; he is a loss to the Council, and in the removal of the legal head of this administration we will know what it means to the City of Pittsburgh. He was a man that all you had to do to know and like him was to shake hands with him. He always met you with a genial smile.

"I want to add this: That, in God's removal from our presence of John P. Hunter, He has taken away the most perfect of God's creation—a real man."

Mr. John S. Herron, Member of Council, arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Members:

"I did not have the pleasure of knowing Mr. John P. Hunter until the inauguration of Mayor Joseph G. Armstrong. In that brief period I have learned to know him as a man who could be trusted, a man whose honesty and integrity was above reproach, and a man in whose confidence you could depend.

"The fitting remarks that have been made by those who knew him better than I did show conclusively that he was the kind of a man the City of Pittsburgh was proud to have at the head of its legal department.

"The people of this great city have lost in Mr. Hunter a faithful servant and one whom it will be hard to replace."

Dr. J. P. Kerr, Member of Council, arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

"I had the pleasure of having had a rather intimate acquaintance with Mr. Hunter for a number of years. I knew him to be a Christian gentleman; a man of high ideals; one who was always willing to lend assistance, in every possible way, to his fellow man. He was faithful to every trust reposed in him. He was loyal to his friends, he was loyal to his city, and he was loyal to his country. He was a consistent church member and lived up to the teachings of his church. He was truly a follower of our Master. Society is always better for having had the influence of such a man as John P. Hunter."

The Chair called upon Mr. D. L. Gillespie, who arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:—

"My own personal sense of loss in the death of John P. Hunter precludes the possibility of my saying very much. It was a very great shock to me, indeed. I did not know he had gone to the hospital. The first knowledge I had of his death was when I read it in the papers. I do not know anyone in the City of Pittsburgh who had closer relationship with Mr. Hunter than myself, actively, for fifteen years; in all, perhaps, twenty-five years, and, as Mr. Robinson so fittingly expressed it a few minutes ago, his views were so perfect that it would be hard to find them in any other human being. Only last Saturday we were speaking of the beautiful characteristics of this man, and I make the remark that in all the years I knew him I never heard him say an adverse or an unkind word about any human being. That it was intensified you doubtless recall in the sermon made by his minister at his funeral services yesterday. I never knew John P. Hunter in my life to speak unkindly of anyone. I do not know of any sweeter, more lovable character—a man of higher sense of honesty and integrity. Sincerity and honesty of purpose seemed to be a part of his makeup on all occasions.

"Mr. Chairman, thinking over the occurrences of the past and the possibilities of the morrow, I am fully convinced that the Great Master who knows every fall of the sparrow, will have some purpose in the death of John Porter Hunter."

The Chair suggested that the resolution be suitably engrossed and a copy sent to the bereaved family.

Which motion was duly made and unanimously prevailed.

And there being no further business, the Chair declared

Council adjourned.

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—When the Finance Committee was considering this ordinance, Mr. Macoloney, superintendent of the Institute for the Blind, and Mr. Cooper, superintendent of the Kingsley House, declared that an exoneration of water rents for showers and pools would be just as acceptable in the fall of the year after the water had been used as it would be in the winter, before the water is used.

"I voted for the original ordinance fixing water rents, which abolished all free water and provided for the installation of meters for the purpose of finding the value of water furnished by the city water plant.

"I say it is manifestly unfair and unbusiness-like to begin any exonerations of any kind until we try the new system. I am in favor of certain exonerations, particularly hospitals and charitable institutions, and have no doubt Council will be unanimous when the time comes to make such exonerations, but until we get the information we started out to get by passing the original water rent ordinance, I am compelled to vote against the bill.

"I predict that this is only an opening wedge which will develop into the old-time unbusiness-like method of charging for water."

ART COMMISSION.

Pittsburgh, March 6, 1914.

To the Honorable City Council, Municipal Hall, Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:

In regard to the submission to the Art Commission of the design for the proposed Market House on Diamond square, I beg to inform you that, at a meeting of this Commission held yesterday, March 5, 1914, the following motion was carried, with one dissenting vote:

"Motion: That the recommendation of the Architectural Committee be accepted and the Market House design approved; and that it is the opinion of this Commission that, while the design is not all that could be desired from an architectural standpoint, it does not feel justified in rejecting it in view of the practical difficulties presented by the character of the site, the lay-out of the streets, etc."

The following resolution was also passed:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Art Commission that in case the projected new Market House, for which designs were accepted by this Commission, should not be executed, a reconsideration of the possible schemes for the disposition of the market, especially that of placing the market wholly or in part underground, might lead to a more desirable solution for both practical and artistic reasons, particularly in view of the desirability of securing an open square in that portion of the city."

I also wish to inform you that action upon the preliminary design for the proposed new Municipal Building, taken at the same meeting, is as follows:

"Motion: That the preliminary drawings of the proposed new Municipal Building be approved."

Very truly yours,

FREDERICK THOMAS BIGGER,
Assistant Secretary.

"Mr. Patterson is sick and unable to be present and speak for himself. In relation to the residence of Patterson, I will say that, to the knowledge of some of you gentlemen, he was born in the City of Pittsburgh, lived in and about Pittsburgh all his life, and his work and duties were entirely within the city as a newspaper man. Relative to his registry in the Borough of Sewickley: His name does appear on the registry list, but I have a certificate from the Register Assessor of the Second ward of Sewickley stating that Mr. Patterson did not make personal application for registration."

At this time Mr. Martin presented the following:

March 2nd, 1914.

To Whom It May Concern:

I hereby state that Mr. T. H. B. Patterson did not make personal application for registration for the September primaries, 1913, but the janitor at Y. M. C. A. gave me his name as a roomer, May 5, 1913.

F. B. GOFF,

Register Assessor Second Ward,
Sewickley, Pa.

Sewickley, Pa., March 9, 1914.

To whom it may concern:

To the best of my knowledge and belief T. H. B. Patterson, who had been a roomer in the Y. M. C. A. apartments, Blackburn avenue, left Sewickley on July 3, 1913, with baggage. After that date I saw him but once or twice in the building, where his brother, W. L. Patterson, was still rooming and paying rent for two rooms, a sitting room and bedroom. I had heard T. H. B. Patterson frequently state his intention to establish a residence in Pittsburgh, owing to his expectation to obtain a city position.

In the first week in November W. L. Patterson announced his intention of giving up his rooms in our apartments, as he was going to live with his brother at 3222 Forbes street, Pittsburgh. Soon after this he moved.

I know that the statements published concerning Mr. T. H. B. Patterson in reports of Council meetings in the daily press are false and without foundation of fact.

I know that on May 5, 1913, I gave the name of T. H. B. Patterson to Mr. Goff, the registering assessor of Sewickley, without the knowledge of Mr. Patterson. I know that the notice for personal registration left at this building in September was not received by Mr. Patterson, and was taken away by Mr. Goff without his having secured service.

CHARLES H. KAUFMAN,
Supt. Sewickley Y. M. C. A. Bldg.

Sewickley, Pa., March 9, 1914.

To whom it may concern:

To the best of my knowledge and belief T. H. B. Patterson left Sewickley for Pittsburgh on or about July 3, 1913, and at that time turned over his interests in a moving picture theater, known as "The Pastime," and his interests in a two-room apartment in the Sewickley Y. M. C. A. to his brother, W. L. Patterson. It was generally understood among Mr. Patterson's local acquaintances that he was interested in Pittsburgh politics and had gone to Pittsburgh to make his home there with the expectation of securing a city position. I believe that statements published that he is not a citizen of Pittsburgh are untrue, and know that the statement made in Councils that he did not leave Sewickley for Pittsburgh until January 1, 1914, is absolutely false. I was manager of "The Pastime" at the time of said transfer and until it was closed.

(Signed) H. C. SHREWSBURY.

"It is a well-known fact that a man's residence is a matter of his intention. If a man has two places of residence he can designate either one as his legal residence, and these certificates show that Mr. Patterson intended to establish Pittsburgh as his residence."

Pittsburgh, March 9, 1914.

Mr. John M. Goehring,

My Dear Sir:—

In signing Bill No. 386, I am doing so on account of the peculiar conditions surrounding this bill. I want it understood, however, that the signing of the same is not setting a precedent for any such bills that might follow in the future. It appears to me that this bill is breaking down the principle that we started out to establish, but, on account of it being for the purpose of taking care of the extremely poor and furnishing for them a place where they can take a bath and keep themselves in a more healthy condition I have attached my signature to the same.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,
Mayor.

Concerning Ordinance for lease of property by the City of Pittsburgh from C. C. Wager, agent for Mrs. Dallett, I beg to report as follows:

When I secured a lease on this property for the year 1913 I also secured an option from the owners of the property for an extension of this lease for a period of one year on the payment by the City of five per cent. of the assessed valuation, and the Ordinance as before you now carried out the terms of that option. The property is assessed at $34,650.00, and five per cent. of that will be $1,732.50. These are the best terms that I have been able to secure from the owners.

Mr. Kerr presented

No. 646. Whereas, It is alleged that the City Solicitor has settled a number of cases out of court without the consent of Council; and

Whereas, It is right and proper that Council should be advised what these settlements were and their amount.

Resolved, That the City Solicitor shall be and he is hereby directed to report to Council at its next meeting all settlements made by him out of court, arising from damages caused by reason of street improvements, giving the amounts awarded by the Viewers in each case and the amount of judgment finally agreed upon and entered by way of compromise.

Resolved, Further, That said City Solicitor shall be and he is hereby directed to make no further settlements unless by and with the consent of Council.

Which was read.

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. President, I presented that resolution today because I have some information on cases in which the City Solicitor has settled claims against the city which appear to be to the disadvantage of the city. A great number of these claims have been settled, as I understand it, out of court, judgment taken. They may be all right; I do not know that they are not. But I do think that Council should be advised in all cases in which a settlement is made or contemplated. I do not think the City Solicitor has any right under the law to effect a settlement with anyone for a claim against the city without a resolution of Council, which has been properly recommended by the Finance Committee.

"In the settlement of the cases in the 'Hump' district, a great variation exists between the amount awarded by the Board of Viewers and the verdict allowed by the City Solicitor. For instance, the Incandescent Supply Company was awarded $2,500 by the Board of Viewers and the verdict entered by the plaintiff against the city is $1,000. The case of Harry Dean, in which an award of $6,500 was made by the Board of Viewers and $9,500 the amount of verdict allowed by the City Solicitor. Another case I have here is Henry G. Willard, in which an award of $700 was allowed by the Board of Viewers and the verdict was $2,600. Another case of Belle Orphinder, was awarded nothing by the Board of Viewers and the verdict entered is for $1,650. There are a great many of these cases, and in nearly every instance the verdict is greater than the amount awarded by the viewers. I understand that a number of these claims have already been adjusted. The case, for instance, of Wilhelmina Emerling against the city for improving Baum street; the award in that instance was $28,000 and the judgment entered is for $35,000. So I think the Council should be advised of the facts in each case before a settlement is effected. The Council should have the information the resolution calls for, and the City Solicitor should not make any further settlement without presenting the facts to the Council. I, therefore, move the adoption of the resolution."

Mr. Rauh arose and said:

"Mr. President and Members of Council: I would like to say one word in regard to this matter, and especially in the case of Wilhelmina Emerling. The Board of Viewers awarded her $28,000 two years ago and that case has just been settled this week at $35,000. The interest on $28,000 for two years is about the difference between $28,000 and $35,000. I am not conversant with the other cases. I have no objection to voting for the resolution."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. President and Members of Council: I would like to say that I do not think that these matters have ever been reported to former Councils. I think it has been the practice for the City Solicitor or the Law Department to make these settlements. There is possibly a good reason for the settlement being made in the City Solicitor's office, and I will say that it is not a discredit to the City Solicitor's office to do this when it was done by all former City Solicitors. I might state further that I do not think this matter was ever brought to the attention of the Finance Committee. However, this is not a criticism of the City Solicitor, so I will vote for the resolution."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. President and Members of Council: I think this is a very worthy resolution, and is not a reflection upon the Law Department. The Law Department has a real estate clerk, and when matters of this kind come up for settlement let the City Solicitor have the real estate clerk come in here and give us all the information he can get and let the Council decide upon the amount of settlement."

And the question recurring on the adoption of the resolution.

The motion prevailed.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, April 1, 1914.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of City Council,
City of Pittsburgh.

My Dear Sir:

I have before me the resolution adopted by your honorable body on March 24, calling on the Bureau of Costs to report to Council what progress is being made in the standardization of salaries. I beg to point out to you that this resolution is slightly defective, in that it should have been directed to the Mayor, to whose department the so-called Bureau of Costs is attached. However, in order to co-operate with your honorable body and assist it, I have had the Chief Cost Accountant, Mr. M. E. Moffett, prepare a report, which I beg to transmit herewith. Hereafter, in seeking information from the Bureau of Costs, or any other Bureau, I would respectfully ask your honorable body to have the request go through the head of the proper department. This is in conformity with Section 8, Article 14, Act of June, 1901. In addition to this, shortly after I assumed office, I established a rule that everything going to or coming from a department should pass through the head of the department. This is in the interest of discipline and for the purpose of establishing a systematic way of transacting the city business.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,
Mayor.

BUREAU OF COSTS.
Pittsburgh, March 31, 1914.

Hon. Jos. G. Armstrong, Mayor,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir:

Attached please find copy of a resolution of Council, Bill No. 559, requesting this office to make a report on the progress being made on salary standardization work.

For your information and answering their request, beg to advise that we are now at work on recharting the organizations of all of the city departments and offices, preliminary to, and in preparation for the detailed intensive studies and classification work necessary to its success.

We have not had occasion to use the services of the Bureau of Municipal Research for the reason that until we had the new tax pre-billing system installed and operating smoothly in the Treasurer's Office our efforts could not be effectively applied to that work.

The tax pre-billing and collection system is, however, now well in hand and operating smoothly, so that as soon as the preliminary charting work is finished we shall be ready for such outside practical assistance and shall then carry out this work as promptly as possible to a final, complete report and detailed recommendations.

Respectfully yours,

M. E. MOFFETT,
Chief Accountant.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

Pittsburgh, April 6, 1914.

To the Council of Pittsburgh,
Municipal Building, Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your request for a report from me on the settlement of the various improvement cases, I beg to say:

That I have in preparation an accurate statement of all such cases, which will be furnished not later than your next regular meeting.

The settlements were all made after the most careful examination of the facts, and the law bearing on the same, and upon consultation with the assistant in charge of each particular case. All the more important settlements were made with the approval of Mayor Magee, who also gave the cases close attention and consideration. In a word, all these adjustments were carefully and advisedly made, and I have every reason to believe, especially in view of present conditions, that they were advantageous to the interests of the City.

I invite the closest scrutiny and examination of any and all of these settlements, with the fullest confidence your honorable body would give them your approval.

The vast amount of detail involved necessarily required the expenditure of much time and labor, which was given willingly and diligently to each case on its own merits. I gave to each settlement my best effort and judgment, without prejudice or favor to any one, on the basis which I deemed fair, just and equitable to the City and the citizens.

As to the suggestion that no further settlements be made by the Legal Department without approval of Council, I consider such a course utterly impracticable, and would be entirely inconsistent with an adequate, efficient and successful administration of the Law Department.

The right and power of the City Solicitor to settle pending cases by a consent-agreed verdict has been legally recognized by the courts, the profession and the unbroken custom and practice of the City Solicitor's office since its inception, and thousands of verdicts have been so entered during the period of the City's existence. It is really a power incident to the office, and while it is a high and important function to exercise, it is no greater than that of other executive officials in the City government, and its proper exercise must depend wholly on official competency, integrity and good faith.

In view of the increasing number of claims against the City not in litigation, and which must pass through Council, involving considerable time and labor, I am entirely certain that it would be impossible to submit court cases to that body for examination or consideration. There are hundreds of these cases, some of which accumulate on the trial list, twenty or thirty for a week, and counsel cannot agree on terms of settlement, perhaps, until the jury is called, or again, even during the trial, when counsel must necessarily exercise their own judgment. The testimony of hundreds of people is involved, and to reach any intelligent conclusion on such a multitude of cases the Council would have to sit in continuous session.

Finally, it is all a matter of official honesty and responsibility. If the City Solicitor is honest and faithful in the administration of his duties there is no loss or danger to be apprehended; otherwise, there could be, and might be, grave wrongs, but the remedy then would be, not a change of system, but a change of the official.

Respectfully,

CHARLES A. O'BRIEN,

First Assistant City Solicitor.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

It has been brought to the attention of the people of Pittsburgh by several of the newspapers that a number of undesirable persons have been appointed, by the executive officers of the city, to positions of responsibility, which should be filled by men of veracity and integrity. The safety, lives, morals and property of the people is jeopardized by the appointment of men who are not reliable, trustworthy and honest, and as there are many good men available there is no possible excuse for the appointment of such persons. I had intended presenting a resolution demanding a thorough investigation into the whole matter, but have concluded to give the executive department an opportunity to clean up. It is not fair to the people of Pittsburgh, nor to the Council, to impose such persons upon them. I feel a responsibility to the people of this city and believe I would not be doing my full duty if I did not protest against such action. In the final analysis the responsibility for the administration of city affairs rests upon the Council, because we are vested with the authority of law in the Act of 1875 to make investigations, to supervise the official conduct of all city officers, and to examine the grounds of all reasonable complaints made against any of them.

I hope the Executive Department will see the error of their way and depart therefrom. I therefore present the following resolution instead of the one I had intended.

Mr. Kerr presented

No. 713. Whereas, A number of the recent appointees of the Executive Officers of the city administration have been charged, indicted, convicted and sentenced for violations of the Penal Statutes, and that others have, by scandalous conduct, brought themselves into ill repute; and

Whereas, The appointment of such persons to public positions and their continuance in office is an insult to common decency and a disgrace to the city and reflects discredit upon her citizenship; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we request the Mayor to remove forthwith from the employ of the city all persons having a criminal record and all those guilty of scandalous conduct.

Which was read.

Mr. Kerr (seconded by Mr. English) moved

The adoption of the resolution.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Garland presented

No. 714. In view of the fact that Miss Beulah Kennard is about to leave Pittsburgh to take up her residence in a new field of work, the City of Pittsburgh desires to express its appreciation of the great and valuable services she has rendered to this community.

During the past eighteen years Miss Kennard has been the highly efficient and most devoted president of the Pittsburgh Playground Association, of which she was one of the chief founders, her period of service extending from its organization until the present time. Throughout that period she has been unceasingly and most zealously active in the work which, under her supervision, has prospered so amazingly that the playground system of this city has become a model for the whole world. To her efforts more than to those of any other single individual has this result been due. In addition to promoting the original playground program so effectively she has been largely instrumental in the providing of permanent recreation centers and of social centers in the public schools, as well as in fostering a variety of useful educational work in the playgrounds, recreation and social centers and the public schools.

Miss Kennard has never spared herself in her work along these lines, all of which was most generously given without any pecuniary compensation whatever, her only reward being the satisfaction resulting from a great and good service performed and the enjoyment and improvement of the vast army of children who have been benefited and the appreciation of her efforts by a multitude of her fellow citizens.

On behalf of the people of this community in recognition of her great service in the playgrounds, schools and other theaters of her public activities, the City Council of Pittsburgh hereby tenders Miss Kennard most heartfelt thanks and expresses the sincerest regret at her departure from the city and the heartiest good wishes for her most abundant success and greatest possible happiness in her new field of work.

Whereas, There is also a strong demand for the erection of an incinerating plant, for which ninety thousand dollars has been provided by bond issue;

Council met pursuant to the following call:

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, April 9, 1914.

Mr. Edward J. Martin,
City Clerk.
City of Pittsburgh.

Dear Sir:

Will you please call a special meeting of Council for Saturday afternoon, April 11, 1914, at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of considering Bill No. 713, being a resolution requesting the Mayor to remove forthwith from the employ of the city all persons having a criminal record and all those guilty of scandalous conduct.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

The Chair stated that as there were no objections, the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting would be dispensed with.

The Chair stated:

"Gentlemen, we have here a communication from the Mayor. The clerk will please read it."

Bill No. 716.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

April 11, 1914.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of Council,
City of Pittsburgh.

To the Council:

The resolution adopted by you on April 7 and transmitted to me on April 8 presents a situation in which my official duty is plain.

I not only recognize the right of your body to enact any resolution which in your judgment is wise and necessary for the city's welfare, but my duty to conform to it, if I can do so without doing violence to my conscience or violating my oath as the Chief Executive of the great city in which I was born and reared and whose welfare I have at heart.

Furthermore, I recognize the right of the public and the press, whenever the facts warrant, to criticize or commend, as they deem just, the acts of all those who hold public office.

The life of the private citizen or the public servant, which is wholly free from error, is very rare and I have never claimed that I am infallible.

I am the Executive head of this city and am responsible for the appointment of those appointed during my administration. Whether I have received, or acted upon, the best advice does not lessen my responsibility as a man nor as Mayor. I cannot and will not evade responsibility or shirk my duty now.

Your resolution requests the removal from the employ of the city of "all persons having a criminal record and those guilty of scandalous conduct."

This will be complied with. I find that certain persons have been appointed who may be classed in this comprehensive category. Some of them were appointed with, and some without, my knowledge of their former records.

In the cases appointed with my knowledge I believed they had been punished and had suffered the penalty of their wrongdoing. I believed they were determined to lead and were leading upright lives, and, furthermore, that they would render the public honest service. I gave them the benefit of the doubt and gave them work. If I erred, I erred on the side of mercy.

I not only regret the error on my own account as an official but on account of these individuals who, because of this controversy, have had their former misfortunes republished and their former punishment is now doubled.

Probably I had the right to err on the side of mercy as an individual, but not as Mayor, and your resolution would so indicate.

Therefore, I beg leave to assure you that on or before the last day of the present month the services of all persons whom I find are covered by your resolution will be severed from the city, and in further evidence of my good faith and my desire to conform to your wishes I shall welcome a list of the names and a description of the offenses committed by all such persons as Your Honorable Body contemplates in your resolution.

I propose, in addition, to insist upon efficiency in every department of my administration and assure you that no employee will be permitted to continue in any office for which he proves incompetent.

In conclusion, let me add that I am determined to give the people of this city the best administration of which I am capable, and for this reason I ask your entire membership, regardless of faction, to co-operate with me and assist me in the difficult and important task which lies before you and me alike as public servants.

Yours very respectfully,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read.

Bill No. 717.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

April 11, 1914.

Hon John M. Goehring,
President of Council,

Dear Sir:

In pursuance of my previous message this day sent to you, I hereby announce to the public that I have this day received the voluntary resignations of seven city officials and employees appointed to office during my administration.

Other separations from the public service will follow in accordance with my promise to the people and my message to the Council.

Some of these men have indicated that later on they may seek a public hearing and a vindication.

To this I have stated that I have no objection and have no desire to do any man an injustice.

In view of all the facts I have not published the names of the men whose resignations I have in my possession, as I have no desire to add to their burdens and the sorrow of their families.

These names and those of all others whose severance from the public service is contemplated are accessible to every member of City Councils and every newspaper editor in Pittsburgh.

This is a larger question than one of politics, and I am determined that my promise to the people during the campaign that I would not be a political Mayor, or allow my administration to become or be used by a political machine, shall be kept.

Every man appointed must be clean and capable and, as to his politics, he shall be free to do as his own conscience dictates, as I propose to do myself while in public office.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read.

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen--In order that we may give the Mayor full co-operation, I respectfully asked the author of the resolution a few days ago to submit such names as he has in his possession for the consideration of the Mayor. I again ask him to submit those names."

The Chair said:

"Gentlemen—I would suggest that we take action on the communications."

Mr. Dillinger moved

That the communications be received and filed.

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I second the motion. I want to preface my remarks by saying that I have been accused or it has been stated by a number of persons and in some newspapers that this movement was simply a political trick. I want to say, Mr. President, that there was not any politics back of this move whatever. The condition that led up to it, which was most unpleasant to me, was a condition not the making of any individual or any set of individuals, but it was one of those things which comes along and cannot be stopped. No one was responsible for it, and no one could have stopped it; therefore, I say to you that it was not a political move.

"I want to congratulate the Mayor today on the position he has taken upon this question. He has demonstrated to the people of Pittsburgh that he is able to rise to the situation. He has demonstrated to the people of Pittsburgh today that he intends to carry out the pledges that he made to them during the time of his election, and, as a member of Council, and as having been charged with being opposed to his administration, I want to say now that I will support him during the whole term so long as he continues along the line that he has laid out in his message today.

"I was his friend two years ago. I supported him when he was right, and when I thought he was right, and I say to you today that I will support him with as much energy hereafter if he continues along the line that he has laid down as I did at that time."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I, too, with Dr. Kerr, wish to congratulate the Mayor upon the stand he has taken, and I want to stand before the public and the Council of Pittsburgh today and say to them, as I did to the Mayor the week after his inauguration, that, while we were not political friends in the last campaign, that he was our Mayor, and I was one of the people's Councilmen, and it is my sworn duty to support his policies when I think they are right, and it is my sworn duty to oppose his policies when I think they are wrong."

"As far as any faction or politics are concerned, I have never permitted myself to be used by any person or political faction, and I am not being used by any faction in my remarks now, and I stand as I have indicated. I propose to support good measures and oppose all bad measures, and I take pleasure in stating to the public and the Mayor today that if he will come into this Council and lay his policies on the table before the entire Council of nine, it will be my pleasure to support those policies to a finish, if I think they are right."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—It all sounds very well and good, but will this gentleman co-operate with the Mayor in placing such names as he has in his possession, and which, in an interview, he is said to have said that he would willingly produce to Council. Will the gentleman produce those names?"

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I have listened earnestly to the reading of the Mayor's letter, and if he follows out the outline that he has given us, none of you gentlemen can go any further or do any more for him than I will. Just as long as he intends to do what is right, I will be an ardent supporter of him. I like him personally, but I think he is one individual that has occasion to say, 'Spare me from my friends.'"

Mr. Hoeverler arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I don't want to take up much time in this controversy. It has been in front of the people too long. It smells in the nostrils of every decent citizen. So I have reduced my remarks to writing, and I am going to ask the clerk to read them, and I think if the Mayor will follow along the lines just outlined he will be doing right, and I will support him."

Mr. Hoeverler's statement follows:

"This controversy, which is one to be deprecated, must be considered from all aspects, one of which is the influence upon the youth of the city, and this is a grave consideration. The gentlemen present in this room are factors, of course; but the rising generation, male and female, are decidedly the greatest concern, at least from a moral standpoint.

"The newspapers have haunted before the minds of all citizens a condition that will not conduce to the elevation of the youth for municipal, or governmental, capacity, or morality."

"The arguments made by the other side are that charity and repentance are important questions to be considered and that whenever a man reforms his past should be forgotten, or, in other words, that he should not be trampled on by his neighbors. This is true and most praiseworthy, but, underlying this and ahead of it, is judgment and example. The old adage that 'Example is better than precept' is proven. What have the newspapers pictured to the youth of the city in the past few weeks? What are the stories that have been haunted abroad? The whole unfortunate story has tended to teach the people that if a man sins it will not be counted against him or retard his progress in any sphere of life. Men of questionable character should be treated with charity, but should not be selected in preference to reputable people as guardians for all the people and thereby made to appear to the unthinking as unduly exalted."

"At the present time I would not for one moment think of preparing, or attempting to prepare, a bill of particulars; but contend that the newspapers of the city have indicted the Mayor for not appointing high-class men to high-class places. The public is paying a reasonable and adequate compensation for the best class of service and under all rules of fair play is entitled to receive the same."

"If the newspapers have misrepresented, or lied, the law provides a remedy for their punishment, and if the Mayor feels aggrieved at their conduct he has a lawful remedy. The court is the properly constituted tribunal to determine such questions."

"I know if one, or more, newspapers should haunt to the public that I associated with, or employed, disreputable and dishonest people, I would change the personnel, or file a bill against them as soon as I could hire a lawyer to draw it. But, if I were the Mayor, and was convinced that I was giving scandal to the community, especially the young, I would immediately proceed to rectify it and prove to the community, and especially the youth, that I would not lend my office, as Chief Executive of the city, to reward crime or give scandal by appointing persons of disreputable character; therefore, Mr. Mayor, you have two alternatives:

"First—Rid the city of those persons who give scandal, or "Second—Proceed at once to prosecute the newspapers whom you think have outraged you and injured the City of Pittsburgh, insisting upon immediate trial.

"If neither of the Mayor's alternatives are carried out in good faith, Council should take action under the laws without delay.

"Failure to bring to Pittsburgh the government her citizens expect rests directly upon this Council."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to have my remarks, as follows, placed upon the records of Council:

"I desire to place myself on record here and now as having confidence in the integrity of the Mayor. Any mistakes or errors of judgment that he has made, can and, I am sure, will be corrected, and, in my opinion, this should positively be done in a few cases. His critics and citizens generally, however, owe him praise for the large things that he has accomplished for the good of the city during his incumbency of exactly three months. It is easy to criticize—praise is seldom given.

"The throwing out of employment, however, of a great many employees, as insisted upon by those who are opposing him, and who have not accorded him one word of praise for the great good he has already accomplished in other directions, if carried out to its logical conclusion, and that would be the immediate discharge of possible considerably over one hundred bread winners and supporters of families, making mothers and children destitute without any regard whatever to the fact that there was nothing illegal in their appointments by the former or the present Chief Executives, and without any regard to protection which, in many cases, the Civil Service Act affords, is not only a travesty on justice, but is unchristianlike, uncharitable and indecent.

"But the 'power of the press' is potent, and it can not only deprive efficient city servants of their characters and destroy their future usefulness, but it also can take away the livelihood of innocent mothers and send them and their children to ruin and starvation, sacrificing them on the altar of political partisanship, back of which stands those so well known to the thinking people of this community.

"Let us give our Mayor a fair fighting chance. He has been in office three months, and there was considerable to clean up. As time goes on, the antagonistic spirit and the disappointments of the very recent campaign should gradually disappear and let us get down to business.

"Mr. Chairman, I would like to say further that for the third time I ask the gentleman, the author of the resolution, to present such names, both of the old administration and the present, because he cannot hide behind an old technicality, because he knows, and we know, that there are many in the old administration, ten to one against the present administration. Let him present the names."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am not the prosecutor in this case. I presented the resolution, and Council adopted it by a unanimous vote. It, therefore, becomes a matter for Council. I don't propose to present to the public view the name of any one that I might think should be removed from the city service. I will refer my friend, as I said, and upon which my resolution is predicated, to the columns of the newspapers and to the public records in the court house. The Mayor has made a clear and concise statement, and he has assumed the responsibility and shouldered it all, and he has shown that he is big enough to do that, but I say, for the benefit of my friend, that he cannot hide behind the subterfuge that he don't know and that he cannot find out."

Chairman Goehring said:

"Gentlemen—If you do not preserve order I will order the officers to clear the room. We have indulged this audience in some applause, but there is a limit to that and a line beyond which we cannot go. I have no objection, and probably it is right that you should show your sympathies one way or the other to a reasonable amount, but when it gets beyond a certain line of decorum we will have to enforce a rule that will give us order here."

Mr. Kerr continued his remarks as follows:

"The administration has an army of investigators, secret service operators, if you please; the City Solicitor's office; and if they are endowed with the intelligence that I think they are, it won't take them 24 hours to get the evidence that they should get. I haven't anybody to go out and get the evidence and, as I said before, I am not the prosecutor. But when the time comes and when the Mayor asks for the information, or when he shows a disposition to do the things he says he will do, I will co-operate with him. As I said before, it is not up to me to prosecute this case, and I don't propose to do it, and I don't propose to hand out here in public today the name of a single man whom I think should be dismissed from office, or who probably should be dismissed from office on account of the record he has made, because I say it isn't right."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—When one of the speakers says that the Council is not charitable, of course, that brings me into it, because I voted for the resolution. I want to submit, Mr. Chairman, both to the Mayor and his friends in and out of Council, that the Council was very charitable in its resolution last week. We did not desire to bring scandal upon our city, and the fact that seven people have sent in their resignations is something that was not based on hazy evidence or that the Mayor and Council have not something in their mind. I think that when a man will put into a statement about breaking up of families and making mothers and children destitute, he ought not to ask his colleague to force that destitution. If this pledge of the Mayor is carried out in good faith, which I hope it will be, it will be unnecessary for a public scandal or a Lexow committee, and I think it entirely unnecessary for the gentleman to ask for names when he knows that the Mayor ought to be in a better position than Council to know who put them in there."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I just want to add a little to my statement, and that is this: Reference was made to the scope of the resolution, or where it should begin and where it should stop. I just want to say this, that the Mayor is responsible for his own acts. After he has complied with that, then if he cares to go further, I will join with him. I am perfectly willing that he go the limit. I have no friends to protect; I have no enemies to punish."

Mr. Woodburn arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I think we have digressed somewhat from the motion. In fact, I hoped that such remarks would not be made. I have shown my confidence constantly in Joseph G. Armstrong, and claim today that it has not weakened one bit. I vouched for him when he was a candidate. I endorsed his candidacy, and I have stood with his administration, and stand today to support that administration as it is written in his pledges. The only fear I have is that of undue stress of friendship."

"Not long ago I said to the Mayor of Pittsburgh: 'Don't wear your heart where your head ought to be.' I am afraid of that heart, that great heart of Joseph G. Armstrong's. If I wanted to influence him, I know, as a student of human nature, that I could touch him there, at least; that is the spot I consider worthy of working on and trying to influence."

"I was shocked when I read in the paper that certain men with whom I had no personal acquaintance—nor any knowledge except what I gathered from their public life—had been appointed members of the secret service, taking, perhaps, some advantage of the terms or the provision under which that organization had been formed, and, I claim, to a certain extent, responsibility upon the advice of the Bureau of Municipal Research of New York, for the creation of the bureau and the name and title, but I assume no responsibility for the selection of a single man. It was up to the Mayor—no, I should say it was up to the Director."

"I believe if the Director did not appoint these men and assume the responsibility for their appointment, he did not perform his duty under the law, and I would take exception to any Mayor who would not put the entire responsibility for the whole department upon his Director and hold him responsible for every act in that department, for every action, even the appointment of every man. Of course, I would expect him, as the law does, to counsel with me at least monthly, but I would not dictate every act. I would hold him responsible for results."

"As I say, I endorsed the Mayor and his every policy, but when these names were published, and these charges, I quickly satisfied myself as to the justness of the newspaper reports. It was an easy matter to find out what these men were, as to their character and disposition in life; not that they had a record of having been arrested at one time—one swallow does not make a summer, and one sin does not make a sinner. I was arrested, about 43 years ago, for stone fighting up on the hills of old Allegheny, and I confessed my guilt. I suppose that is a record—that of a self-convicted criminal. I have tried, though, God knows, to live a good life. Whether I have succeeded or not, I will answer at the proper time, or any time. I am not 'holier than thou.' Never professed to be, never want to be, and never intend to be. I am the friend of the saint and sinner alike, but I desire all sinners to be saints, or try to be."

"When I heard, or read, rather, these reports in the papers and ascertained, to an extent, that they were true or justified, I made some statements, not for publication, until I was forced in an effort to put myself in the right light. I won't go into that. I won't weary you that way. I have a whole lot that I would like to say, but I am afraid I will say too much, and perhaps be misunderstood, rather than make my position plain, but this is where I found fault, and the only fault I found was whether it was a policy rather than a mistake. I have learned today that it was a mistake, and acknowledged as such."

"I saw in the Mayor's list of pledges and promises to the people of Pittsburgh one that pleased me greatly, and that is the one which seems to have been strained by these appointments. I feared that he was being led away from this specific promise that he would suppress the vicious element and exalt the moral element. I have my own idea concerning the meaning of that promise, perhaps. I thought that it contemplated a classification and divided the citizens of Pittsburgh and those eligible to appointment, under him, into two classes: those who are disposed and strive toward an ideal; those who had no thought in life other than a good time. I wouldn't want to class any of my friends with such people as these. I wouldn't care to put any of my friends in such a class, but of the other class I want all my friends and myself to be recognized members. The repentant thief was not taken from the cross and exalted in Jerusalem. He died in the faith."

"It is not necessary for you to go down into the underworld to get talent. It is my opinion—now, I admit that the man or any man has a right to his opinions, and if he differs with me on that ground, it is only a difference of opinion. I don't think that you should ask a man if he had a diploma from the underworld. I know the best detective, or, at least, I think he is the best detective in the United States, if not in the world, today, never graduated from the underworld, never took any training there, unless it was to equip and acquaint himself with all classes and kinds of humanity, even the dregs thereof. A physician frequently has to make such studies, but he does not lose his manhood. He does not lose his desire for better things.

"Now, to cut this speech short. I haven't prepared myself. I did not know what the Mayor was going to say. I heard so many contrary rumors as to the stand he was going to take, but I want to say this in closing, that if he has read the resolution differently from what I have, and from what the author of the resolution assures me was his purpose when he wrote it, then the chances are that there are names on the list incriminating themselves, and confessing to a condition that the resolution does not require.

"If these men propose to put themselves in the class of the vicious and depraved, they had better withdraw their resignations. I will never sustain them if I have an opportunity to consider them, or if it comes to a question of sustaining any such action as that on the part of the Mayor. There are only two classes, and the resolution recognizes only two classes. One crime does not make a criminal record. If he is fighting down booze, a booze fighter, and all this and that, I will help him, but I won't exalt him at the expense of the taxpayers, and I won't continue him in a position he has not earned. I will not throw any bouquets into a murderer's cell. I do not think it is right or fair to the man in the moral element, who struggles and strives, with the help of God, for a better and different life.

"If these men have put themselves in the class of the vicious and the depraved, and thus taken themselves out of a class to which they rightly belong, I shall, having supported the resolution, move a reconsideration, and make its meaning a little plainer; it must be the record of a criminal life, or the record of a scandalous life that he has accomplished or acquired."

Mr. Dillinger arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I did not know that there was going to be any such speeches or oratorical dissertation. I did not think it was necessary, and I haven't prepared any speech, or haven't any manuscript.

"Joseph G. Armstrong did on this occasion what I expected him to do. I had faith in his campaign, and I have faith in him still today. But there have been several remarks made this afternoon that have appealed to me, some favorably, others unfavorably. But I want to say that Dr. Woodburn has just made a statement, in a sense which I presume the doctor intended. It may be all right, but I want to say that if I could throw a bouquet into a murderer's cell and help him, I will throw that bouquet.

"Now, I say this, that I believe there may be men—and I haven't an idea of a single man who resigned today—but who may themselves deemed it expedient to relieve the administration, and to relieve what is supposed to be public sentiment. Those men, having been pilloried in the public newspapers, may have tendered their resignations. One drink does not make a drunkard. One slight misstep does not make a criminal. I believe there are men who have been accused, and who are just as clean at heart, who lead as pure domestic lives, and who are as well fitted for public office, as any man sitting around this table.

"But, Mr. President, I say this, and I say it in defense of the men, whom I believe have been unjustly criticised and brought into this, for, as has been quoted, Christ on the cross took the thief with him to Paradise, and, I say, because a man may have, twenty years ago, committed some crime is no reason—possibly he was never convicted—that if they should go back a number of years and find one misstep that a man has made, that is no reason why he should be classed as a criminal.

"If there is in the employ of the city today men who are vicious men, and who have criminal records, who never attempted to reform, those men should not be in the employ five minutes, and I will not vote to keep them there, neither will I vote for any measures in their behalf. I want to say that when Jesus met the woman at the well and said, 'Let him who is without fault cast the first stone,' we have got to be careful whom we judge. I want to say to you that when Saul went down to Damascus to put the Christians to death, that he went down there with murder in his heart, and was converted, and is today considered the greatest of the Apostles, Mr. Chairman, and I want to say to you that every man has a chance to reform.

"There are men whose names have been haunted in public three or four months ago, who have confessed publicly before the citizens of Pittsburgh that they may have done wrong in the past, but at the Tabernacle they hit the trail and said, 'We are going to lead a decent, straightforward life,' and I say that those men should be given a chance to do good.

"I believe there are men in the employ of the City of Pittsburgh today who have been here for years, and, as Chairman of the Public Safety Committee, I am going to make some investigation when I get the time, and if they are guilty of malfeasance in office since they have been in office, I say those men should get out. I say if there are men who are in the employ of the city today who have not changed their methods of life in years back, they should get out.

"Mr. Chairman, I have as much faith in the administration of Joseph G. Armstrong today as I had when he was a candidate, and I believe he has demonstrated that he is as big a man as he should be, and that he will do what he promised during his campaign, and he is doing it, and will continue to do it."

Mr. Woodburn arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I intended to mention when I was on the floor that I want to give notice to this Council that I propose to offer in the proper order a vote of confidence in the present Chief Executive of the City of Pittsburgh."

Mr. Baugh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I voted for the resolution the other day, and I am proud of it. I am pleased that the Mayor stated that he will carry out the object of the resolution. I do not think it fair to single out one single member and ask him to come and give the names to the Mayor of our city, but I believe it to be the solemn duty of these nine Councilmen that any one of these that knows the name of an undesirable on the payroll of the City of Pittsburgh should present that name to the Mayor. We have all stated that we intend to cooperate with His Honor. No, I don't think it fair to ask one man to present the names. I think we each and every one of us, if we know of any, should and ought to give those names, and I sincerely hope that Mr. Garland will withdraw his motion."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, I didn't make any motion."

And the question recurring on the motion, as offered by Mr. Dillinger, That the communications be received and filed.

The motion prevailed.

Mr. Woodburn arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—Would it be in order to make a motion to reconsider the resolution, for fear it would be misunderstood, as I tried to say?"

The Chair said:

"The resolution is the subject matter of this meeting."

Mr. Woodburn arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I would like to ask Dr. Kerr if he has received the impression that this resolution simply applies to the employees of the present administration. I did not understand it that way."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—The gentleman has said that he simply pointed to the fact that the resolution itself only covers the appointees of the present administration. The gentleman so stated. I would like to have the gentleman make the statement again to clarify it. It seems to me that if this body is cleaning up they should clean up the entire city, and not only the force of the present administration, and I think that I am right when I say that this gentleman made a statement that it only refers to Mayor Armstrong's appointees."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—The resolution clearly states the recent appointees, but I made the further statement that I would be willing to join the Mayor and go just as far as he likes. I am willing to clean up. I have no friends to protect; I have no enemies to punish."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I take issue with that statement. The resolution does not state that. The preamble states it, but I think we should remember this, that the preamble cuts no ice. I would like to have the clerk read the resolved part of the resolution."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, I ask that the whole resolution be read."

The Chair ordered the Clerk to read the resolution, which is as follows:

"Bill No. 713. Whereas, A number of the recent appointees of the Executive Officers of the City Administration have been charged, indicted, convicted and sentenced for violations of the Penal Statutes and that others have, by scandalous conduct, brought themselves into ill repute; and

"Whereas, The appointment of such persons to public positions and their continuance in office is an insult to common decency and a disgrace to the city and reflects discredit upon her citizenship.

"Therefore, be it Resolved, That we request the Mayor to remove forthwith from the employ of the city all persons having a criminal record and all those guilty of scandalous conduct."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, now, I appeal to you. What does that mean?"

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, to save any further controversy, I will admit it, but, however, the resolution is predicated on the preamble of the resolution."

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I simply want to state that Council, in its wisdom, has passed a resolution. You have all eulogized the Mayor. He is now confronted with a duty. We expect him to hew to the line and let the chips fly where they will."

And there being no further business before the meeting the Chair declared Council adjourned.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 14, 1914.

To the Members of Council.

Gentlemen.—I called on Mr. Swan this morning, April 11, 1914, to make inquiry as to the market house development on Diamond Square, Pittsburgh, Pa. He informs me that he has no alternative but to go ahead with the plans approved by Council. This I regret and feel that if Council will not appreciate the advice of the workers and scientists they are making a grievous mistake and saddling on the community a financial load that is deplorable; in addition to this they are loading all foodstuffs with unnecessary charges that the consumer must bear. Therefore, I ask that Council recall the plans for further study and consideration, and want to state that in no sense do I propose spending more money than the people have set aside for the purpose, but do want it so invested that it will be an asset and not a liability.

Yours very truly,

WM. A. HOEVELER.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

Pittsburgh, April 13, 1914.

To the Council,

Pittsburgh, Pa.

Gentlemen.—I transmit herewith report of settlement cases in the "Hump" district and Baum boulevard, pursuant to advices in my letter of April 7. I repeat my assertion—that these cases were all fairly and carefully considered in every detail—and I feel satisfied that if the Council heard the facts and evidence, as I did, it would approve my judgment in every instance. Aside from relieving the pressing needs of a number of tenants and owners involved in these transaction, and saving them from great hardships and possible ruin of their business, I am justified in stating that if the cases were actually tried in court many of the verdicts would have been higher, though some might have been lower.

Respectfully,

CHARLES A. O'BRIEN,
First Assistant City Solicitor.

No. 744.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 13, 1914.

Hon. John M. Goehring,

Dear Sir.—In reference to Council Bill No. 560, the same being a resolution requesting this department to furnish an estimate of the cost of repaving Chartiers avenue, from Corliss street to city line, and to advise what proportion of the cost the Pittsburgh Railways Company will be obliged to pay.

In connection with this improvement, which is necessary for the completion of the roadway leading from Carson street to the Borough of Sheraden, and which forms a connecting link in this improvement, I would respectfully report that the department is now engaged in relocating Chartiers avenue, between Corliss street and Sheraden station, and establishing the grade thereon. From this tentative plan we have made an approximate estimate of the cost of improving the street, which, however, may be subject to some change upon the completion of the plan and establishment of grade.

Estimated cost of doing physical work	$74,000.00
Property damages (estimated)	5,000.00
Total	$79,000.00

Estimated cost of work which would be paid for by the Pittsburgh Railways Company	$34,500.00
---	-------------

Approximate estimated cost of the improvement to the city. $44,500.00

Yours very truly,

ROBT. SWAN,

Director.

THE ART COMMISSION.

Pittsburgh, April 9, 1914.

To Hon. John M. Goehring, President, and to Members, City Council,
City Hall, Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen.—Herewith the Art Commission transmits to Council the report upon the development of the Point district, prepared by the city planning expert, Mr. E. H. Bennett, of Chicago, under the direction of this commission, together with photographs (seven in number) representing the large drawings.

The report and the drawings have been duly accepted and approved by the Art Commission, and they are now submitted to Council with the recommendation that the plans be adopted, to the end that all future work in the district involved in the plans may be made to conform to the plans.

It is also suggested that, if possible, the plans for the work now under contract be adapted to these comprehensive plans, even though this work involves a brief delay in the prosecution of the work. This delay, the commission believes, would not be great—possibly not more than thirty or sixty days—but, concerning this, your Director of the Department of Public Works will be able to advise you.

The original drawings will be carefully preserved in this office, subject to your order, and until required by you.

Very truly yours,

HENRY McGOODWIN,

Secretary.

COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN.
Pittsburgh, April 13, 1914.

To the Honorable Council of the
City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen.—It has been brought to the attention of the president and executive board of the Pittsburgh Section, C. J. W., that an ordinance was presented to your honorable body on April 7 by Mr. H. I. Morgan, asking that water be furnished property at 707 Forbes street, used by the Council of Jewish Women, free of cost. As the president and the executive board were in ignorance that such an ordinance was to be introduced and therefore entirely innocent in the matter, and as the Council of Jewish Women is in hearty sympathy with the action of City Council in taxing alike all public buildings, institutions, etc., we beg to advise you that we regret deeply that such ordinance was introduced by the owner of the building in which the council has its headquarters.

With assurance of our highest esteem and renewed regret that this unauthorized action should have been taken, I am,

Sincerely,

Mrs. Enoch) BERTHA F. RAUH,

President.

Referring to our circular letter of March 17, 1914, requesting you to formally release the bank for payment of any interest on your balance during the period of suspension of the bank, we beg leave to advise you that four hundred forty (440) depositors out of seven hundred ten (710) depositors that were not subscribers to stock, or sixty-two per cent. (62%) have waived any claim for interest on their balances, and we would therefore request you to advise the committees at once whether or not you will do so.

It is necessary, before the Comptroller of the Currency will give us a certificate to resume business, that the liabilities of the bank be definitely ascertained and, as the committees are anxious to have the bank resume at an early date, your prompt attention to this matter will be very much appreciated.

To the Council.

Gentlemen:—I enclose herewith two vouchers for traveling expenses incurred by two members of the Secret Service Operatives force while in pursuit of criminals outside the city limits. I have been compelled to refuse payments of these accounts under an opinion filed with the Finance Committee by the City Solicitor.

I also transmit herewith a resolution providing for the payment of these accounts under the Act of 1874, for your action, and suggest its reference to the City Solicitor for his opinion as to the legality of the payment by this method.

The Secret Service Operatives claim that their efficiency is greatly impaired by my refusal to approve bills for this character of service; that many criminals flee the city, and they are unable to pursue, arrest and bring them back, even when they know where to locate them. I bring the matter to your attention that you may, if possible, after making an investigation and finding of the facts, make some arrangement to remedy the evil, if, as is alleged, one exists.

I also enclose herewith a copy of the opinion in question.

Yours respectfully,

E. S. MORROW,

In response to a resolution of Council, passed some time ago, requesting "an itemized statement of the savings to the City by reason of the adoption of the various recommendations made by the New York Bureau of Municipal Research, as well as the Emerson Company," I hand you herewith a tabulation showing the reduction from the departmental estimates made by adoption of recommendations of the Emerson Company and the Bureau of Municipal Research.

In the case of the reduction of laborers on dumps, in the Bureau of Highways and Sewers, and the reduction in cleaning highways in the same bureau, comparison is made with the expenditures for eleven months of 1913, for the reason that the recommendations as to reductions were adopted by the Bureau of Highways and Sewers in making up their 1914 estimate. The reduction in the Shade Tree Commission is also compared with eleven months of 1913, as the appropriation made was considered sufficient to do the same amount of work as was accomplished by the expenditures in 1913.

The reduction of bridge watchmen, amounting to $3,440.00, and the gross reduction in outdoor relief, estimate, of $18,121.48, are not included, as Council later supplied funds from other sources for carrying on this work.

Respectfully submitted,

H. S. BREITENSTEIN,

Chief Accountant Bureau of Accounting Division.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, April 16, 1914.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of Council,
City of Pittsburgh.

My Dear Sir:

In compliance with your resolution passed March 31, 1914, requesting a report from the Bureau of Publicity pertaining to a free employment agency, I beg to enclose you herewith a copy of same, which explains itself.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

April 16, 1914.

Joseph G. Armstrong,
Mayor of Pittsburgh,
Oliver Building, City.

Dear Sir:

This bureau submits to you, as the head of the office to which the bureau is attached, a report complying with a resolution of the City Council, passed March 31, 1914, requesting that information be obtained for the use of Council as to the operation of Municipal Free Employment Bureaus in other cities.

In the prosecution of the inquiry the bureau communicated with the officials of twenty-one cities and officials of two States, and replies are now at hand from nearly all of them. A mass of data has been received, a resume of which I am submitting as a report.

The reports, bulletins, etc., received, which are filled with details as to the operations of free employment bureaus, will be indexed and filed in the municipal reference library of the bureau.

The data received shows that in every instance the free employment bureau operates as an exchange or clearing house for persons seeking employment and persons desiring to obtain employees. The plan, invariably, is to receive applications for employment from both sexes. Several of the States maintain free employment bureaus in their larger cities, performing the same functions as bureaus maintained by municipalities.

A brief description of the work of free employment bureaus operated in a number of the cities follows:

Kansas City, Mo.—A free employment bureau is maintained in the Department of the Homeless and Unemployed, of the Board of Public Welfare. It operates in the interest of both the employer wanting help and persons seeking employment. The report for the year ending March 31, 1913, the latest one available, states that the total number of positions and odd jobs obtained through the bureau was 31,146. About ninety different kinds of employment were obtained.

New York.—Mayor Mitchell, of New York, had an Ordinance presented to the Board of Aldermen, on March 24 last, to establish a free employment bureau. The Ordinance, among other things, provides that the bureau shall keep records to show the following: (1) All applicants for positions; (2) all positions to be filled; (3) all persons sent to those seeking employees; (4) all such persons who secure employment, and (5) such other records as the Commissioner of Licenses deems necessary. The bureau is placed by the Ordinance under the Commissioner of Licenses.

Accompanying the Ordinance were a report from a Committee on Unemployment and the report of the operations of an experimental employment bureau established by New York City in February. Copies of the said reports are on file in the municipal reference library of this bureau.

This bureau is also in receipt of an extended letter from Adolphus Ragan, who has had charge of the experimental bureau. In one portion of his letter he says:

"Every person applying to the bureau for employment should be registered and his application should be filed alphabetically, and a duplicate of this application should be filed under his trade or profession specified in the application. All jobs reported to the bureau should in like manner be recorded and filed; that is, not only should they be filed under the name of the employer seeking help, but also a duplicate system should be maintained showing the jobs under trade or profession. In this way it will be possible to utilize the bureau as a clearing house and bring together all applicants for particular jobs and employers requesting such help.

"There should be appointed a Committee on Unemployment. Such a committee should be composed of employers of labor and trades unionists. The functions of this committee should be entirely advisory. By having it composed of a mixture of employers and trades unionists, it will be possible to avoid any friction when men apply at the bureau to be sent to jobs where a strike is on or where there is a lockout. If the membership is composed of wide-awake citizens, it can be of great service in interesting employers of labor in the bureau and in inducing them to rely upon its service. The fact that such a committee numbered among its membership trades unionists would be sufficient guarantee that there would be no discrimination against them because of their trades union connections."

Boston, Mass.—The State Free Employment Office of Massachusetts maintains branches in Boston and other cities of the State. It operates with a view to supplying the wants of employers and providing employment for those applying for it. The following directions are printed on one of the circulars issued:

"Employers: Make application to the nearest office by mail, telephone, or in person, giving full name of individual, or firm, and if a corporation, the title; to whom, when and where the help wanted should apply, giving adequate information as to the nature of the employment offered, wages, hours of labor, etc. Better results can usually be obtained by calling at the office and talking personally with applicants for employment, with whom an interview can be arranged, provided reasonable notice is given. Farm hands, hotel and restaurant help, and laborers can be more readily secured by calling at the office before 10 A. M. on appointment. In the Boston and Worcester offices housework girls can be more readily secured by calling at the office between 2 and 3 P. M., excepting Saturdays.

"Persons seeking employment in skilled occupations may send for application blank, enclosing stamp for reply, stating definitely the kind of employment preferred. All others can be best served by calling at the office. The office reserves the right to give preference to applicants experienced in the opportunity open, and who can furnish written references as to experience and habits."

Denver, Colo.—A free employment bureau is operated in connection with the municipal lodging house. A letter received from the secretary of the Denver Department of Social Welfare says:

"The Board of Charities and Corrections, which has charge of the operations of the lodging house, has found the employment bureau to be of vast benefit, and it has been their policy to go to a number of the hotels and department stores, and they are able to furnish them clerks, cooks, porters and a like class of help on short notice."

Cincinnati, O.—The Superintendent of the Department of Charities and Corrections, of Cincinnati, states in a communication:

"Your letter of April 1 to Mayor Spiegel has been turned over to this department. In reply would say that the State of Ohio has furnished free employment agents to her larger cities. Up to the beginning of this year we felt that there was an overlapping between the municipal employment agent and the State, and at present we are working under a co-operative agreement whereby the State furnishes a staff of three persons and the City furnishes office and equipment in connection with the Department of Charities and Correction, as the work of these departments is so closely allied, and the employment agency is now known as the 'State-City Free Labor Exchange,' working with the Department of Charities and Correction."

St. Louis, Mo.—The State of Missouri maintains a free employment bureau in St. Louis and several other large cities in that State, the functions of which are the same as the average employment bureau maintained by a city. The bureau registers applicants for employment and the wants of employers. The report of the St. Louis bureau for the year ending September 30, 1913, states that there were 6,562 applications for employment, and that employment was found for 5,636 persons. There were 7,681 applications for help, of which 5,636 were filled.

Milwaukee, Wis.—The State of Wisconsin operates free employment offices in Milwaukee and several other cities, under the direction of the State Industrial Commission. The offices are described in a bulletin of the Industrial Commission as "exchanges for facilitating the meeting of buyers and sellers of labor." The Wisconsin employment offices maintain registries of persons seeking employment and the employers seeking employees. These registries go into some detail to give full information to both the "buyer and seller of labor."

There is a Citizens' Committee on Unemployment in Milwaukee, in which the city government is represented, and which aids in the direction of the State's free employment office in Milwaukee. The report of the Milwaukee office for 1913 contains the following figures:

Applications for work.....	29,282
Help wanted	30,922
Referred to positions.....	28,863
Positions secured.....	15,660

Detroit, Mich.—The State of Michigan maintains free employment bureaus in Detroit and several other Michigan cities, under the direction of the State Commissioner of Labor. The bureau in each city works both with persons seeking employment and employers, and is authorized by law to advertise the lists of positions for which the bureau has applicants and for help requested by employers.

Tacoma, Wash.—The city maintains a free employment bureau, in the Department of Public Safety, which is conducted by a Superintendent and one assistant. The bureau operates both in the interest of persons seeking employment and the employers. The report for the year 1913 states that employment was found for 17,147 persons.

Portland, Ore.—The city maintains a free employment bureau, the duties of the bureau being performed by one man and one woman. The bureau receives and records applications of all persons seeking employment and of all persons desiring to obtain employees. The report for the year ending December 1, 1913, states that employment was furnished for 17,767 persons, inside and outside the city.

Los Angeles, Cal.—A free employment bureau is maintained under the direction of the Municipal Charities Commission, the bureau having six employees—three men and three women. The bureau records applications for employment and applications of persons desiring to obtain employees. The bureau reports that through its efforts 9,604 positions were filled during the first three months of the present year.

St. Paul, Minn., and Minneapolis, Minn.
—The State of Minnesota operates free employment offices in these cities similar to others described.

Chicago, Ill.—An Ordinance pending now to establish a Department of Public Welfare, which will have the maintenance of an employment bureau as one of its functions.

Very truly yours,
JOHN B. TOWNLEY,
Superintendent.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of Council,
City of Pittsburgh.

Dear Sir:

I respectfully submit to your honorable body, for confirmation, the name of Charles A. O'Brien, Esq., whom I have selected for the position of City Solicitor, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John P. Hunter.

Very respectfully yours,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Whereas, An ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance fixing the salaries of the Director of the Department of Public Safety, of the Director of the Department of Public Works and of the City Solicitor at eight thousand ($8,000) dollars per annum each, on and after the first Monday of January, 1914," was approved December 2, 1913; and

Whereas, The undersigned has been appointed City Solicitor of the City of Pittsburgh and is about to qualify for such position.

Now, therefore, in accordance with the provisions of said ordinance, I hereby agree to and do assign to the City of Pittsburgh all docket fees or other compensation other than the said salary which may come to me or be received by me as City Solicitor of the City of Pittsburgh, and particularly all docket fees which may accrue subsequent to

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:—I am still of the opinion that I was at the time of the confirmation of the late City Solicitor, and that is to the effect that the City Solicitor does not have the legal right to sign the stipulation which he proposes doing in this instance. I think that, as a matter of law, if he so desired he could at any time during his term of office, or thereafter, collect the fees which legally go to the office. The Mayor, however, has the right to select the directing heads of the different departments, and I shall therefore waive my objection at this time and vote 'Aye' on the confirmation of Mr. O'Brien."

When the name of Mr. Rauh was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:—I vote 'Aye' and am pleased to do so. Mr. O'Brien was a most efficient employee in the last administration and, with his long experience and ability as an attorney, will continue this efficiency during this administration. It therefore gives me great pleasure to vote for his confirmation."

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, April 28, 1914.

To the Honorable Council:

Since last you met the Army and Navy and Marine Corps of the United States have been called upon by the President to defend the dignity and honor of our flag and to protect the lives and property of United States citizens in the Republic of Mexico. Forces have been landed from our ships at Vera Cruz, they have been resisted, American blood has been shed, American lives have been taken.

One of the first among the Americans to fall before the fire of the Mexican dictator's arms was a native Pittsburger, a bright young man, a native of our city, reared among our children, who here gained that love of country that impelled him, at the age of 17, to don the uniform of our land and fare forth for honor and glory of the United States of America. An enlisted man in the navy, Francis Patrick DeLowry gave the best that was in him to the service. Ambitious and true, as Pittsburgers are, he made progress in the service, gained promotion by intelligence and diligence, won the respect of comrades and superiors by his honorable conduct and bravery, and earned the reward of devotion to duty that is the highest that can come to the true defender of his country.

Bravely he responded to the summons on April 22, valiantly he went to shore with his comrades when the order was given. They knew not what lay before them; only that their duty was there. Our flag had been insulted, our own people were in danger in that land where law and justice had been crushed and anarchy held sway, and so he died, laid low by a Mexican bullet, one of the first of the American martyrs in our honorable warfare of 1914.

Thus has the horror of war been brought directly to our hearths. But, shocking and grievous as is this tragedy, no less have we been impressed with the glory of death in the defense of the right, in the line of duty to one's country.

Pittsburgh has lost a brave son, one whom we could ill afford to spare; one home in our midst has been desolated by the untimely death of its patriotic boy, our country has been made the poorer in that it has given up a gallant defender of its flag. Withal, Pittsburgh and the nation have gained immeasurably in the example of bravery and fidelity that has been so strikingly set before us. His life and his death shall be a source of lasting pride to us all—they shall be an inspiration to others promptly to respond when the call of duty comes, cheerfully to go forward for the dignity and glory of our flag and country, upholding the right, supporting justice, and, if need be, laying down their lives in the cause of honor and freedom.

I suggest to you that it is fitting that the City of Pittsburgh, through its Council and its Mayor, take cognizance by resolution of the noble sacrifice made by our fellow-citizen, Francis Patrick DeLowry; expressing the gratitude of our City to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters, with whom we deeply sympathize in their loss; that we may share the glory of the valiance of the brave lad who has gone from among us for all time, except as he rests among our dead, his grave ever to be a reminder to us of the debt we owe to the men who shoulder the arms of our country in time of national peril, that we may live in safety. And it is fitting also, I think, that we provide for participation by the City in the funeral of our heroic son, if such be the wish of his family, that all the world may know we are not ungrateful, but are profoundly thankful for the unsurpassable service that this young man and his comrades have performed for us all. Let it not be said that Pittsburgh is unmindful of the nobility, valor and patriotism that should be a cherished remembrance. I transmit herewith the form of a resolution which I would respectfully request your honorable body to adopt.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also

No. 894. Whereas, Francis Patrick DeLowry, of Pittsburgh, a seaman in the United States Navy, fell, in the discharge of his duty to his country, at Vera Cruz, Mexico, on April 22, 1914; and

Whereas, Said Seaman DeLowry and his comrades on that fatal occasion, by their behavior and their death, upheld the best traditions of the Navy, Marine Corps and Army, recruited, as they are, from the ranks of American citizens; and

Whereas, It is eminently fitting that the City of Pittsburgh, proud of the record made by one of her sons in the very first days of the trouble with Mexico, shall testify her appreciation of his patriotic service; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the City of Pittsburgh, by its Council and Mayor, expresses to the bereaved parents of Seaman DeLowry the sympathy of its entire citizenship in the loss which the death of so noble a young man entails upon all.

Resolved, That, though the manner of his taking off can in no wise lessen the poignancy of the grief which his parents, brothers and sisters must endure, neither can that sorrow dim the luster of the glory that is inseparable from the yielding of that most precious possession, life, in defense of the honor and dignity of one's country—wherefore all of our people are proud that from our community has been drawn an example of patriotic devotion and sacrifice that must be an inspiration of loyalty to our country and its flag—a grateful nation will cherish Seaman DeLowry and his gallant comrades in grateful remembrance.

Resolved, That, in grateful tribute to this son of Pittsburgh, cut down so young in honorable service of our beloved country, all of our citizens are requested to do honor to Francis Patrick DeLowry by displaying at mast-mast the flag of the United States on the day of his funeral; that, the bereaved relatives approving, the city provide an escort of policemen and firemen to the grave; that the use of the City Hall be tendered, for the lying-in-state of the body; that said funeral be conducted in accordance with naval or military custom; that the authorities of the United States Navy, Army and Marine Corps be asked to participate, in accordance with their customs or regulations; that all the local regiments, batteries, troop and companies of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, the American Veterans of Foreign Service and the United Spanish War Veterans, the Grand Army of the Republic and the Union Veteran Legion be requested to take part in a public military funeral.

In Council, April 28, 1914. Read and adopted.

Which was read.

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen: I had intended presenting to Council today a resolution bearing upon the sad death of Francis Patrick DeLowry, a citizen of this city, who lost his life for his country in the Mexican War. It is right and proper we should do honor to this youth who sacrificed his young life in defending the flag of his country. It gives me great pleasure, indeed, to move the adoption of this resolution."

Mr. Bauh arose and said:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen: I, too, like Mr. Herron, had prepared a resolution in honor of this young patriot who lost his life in the Mexican War. The resolution just presented, Mr. Chairman, does honor indeed to Francis Patrick DeLowry. I wish to second the motion as offered by Mr. Herron."

And the question being taken upon the adoption of the resolution.

The motion prevailed by a unanimous vote.

When the name of Mr. English was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I vote for the indefinite postponement of action on this resolution because, in my judgment, the City has spent too much money for experts. I am sick and tired of hearing the words 'efficiency' and 'efficiency experts.' It was first understood that this gentleman would only work for thirty days, but I went along for the proposition of sixty days; now they want him for sixty additional days. I want to say that if the Department of Public Safety, with its Director, Civilian Aide and Superintendent of Police, is unable to absorb enough information from Mr. Clarke after he has laid out beats in the Frankstown, Penn avenue, Hazelwood and Center avenue districts—if this department is unable to go out and fix up the beats on the North Side and South Side, the remaining districts, then I say the police are incompetent. I, however, do not believe they are incompetent, and I think it a useless expense to employ an expert any longer."

When the name of Mr. Rauh was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—The City has paid almost $30,000.00 for efficiency engineers. I believe this money has been well spent and will save many times this amount to the people of this city. To carry out their suggestions I feel very strongly that Mr. Clarke should have been retained several months longer. To me it looks like a case of 'penny wise and pound foolish.' Our police officials are working very hard to do the right thing for all the people of this city and, in my opinion, they should be given every encouragement to help carry out the good work."

Before the announcement of the vote Mr. Garland arose and said:

"I wish to be placed on record as voting against the indefinite postponement of this resolution for the same reasons as those advanced by Mr. Rauh."

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.
Pittsburgh, May 12, 1914.

Hon. Robert Garland,
Chairman Finance Committee.

Dear Sir:—

In response to your inquiry as to the deed of gift from James H. Park and wife to the City of Pittsburgh for the Stephen C. Foster homestead, I beg to say:

That said deed, after being approved by myself, has been executed and delivered to this department, but Mr. Park insisted upon making his gift complete by paying, even for the recording of the deed, which he has already done, and as soon as the same is transcribed in the Recorder's Office I will file it with the City Controller.

Respectfully,
CHARLES A. O'BRIEN,
City Solicitor.

Which was read.

Mr. Garland moved

That the communication be received and filed and printed in full upon the record.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Hoever presented

No. 997. Whereas, This Council at various times has adopted resolutions, to-wit, on September 9, 1913, October 24, 1913, and January 20, 1914, in relation to the free and independent exercise of the right of franchise by city employees; and

Whereas, The last mentioned resolution, adopted on January 20, 1914, specifically declared as follows: "The Mayor, Directors of the various departments, and superintendents of the various bureaus, chief clerks and all other employees in charge, shall be directed not to permit any solicitation, coercion, or ordering of employees to support any candidate at any election in the future, and if any orders are issued in the future in the interests of any candidate, it will be against the will and policy of good government, and any reports coming to my notice will be investigated at once"; and

Whereas, His Honor, Joseph G. Armstrong, Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, pledged himself on many occasions preceding the last November election that

In case of his election to the office of Mayor, he would at all times refrain from coercing and prevent others from attempting to coerce any municipal employee in his freedom of choice and his political activities with reference to elections; and

Whereas, The Committee of One Hundred, in its guarantee of candidate Joseph G. Armstrong, declared as follows: "He is pledged to abolish government by and for politics"; and

Whereas, Charges have been made in the newspaper press that certain superintendents of bureaus are giving out orders, handing about slips of paper containing the names of candidates said to be the candidates of the city administration at the primary election, to be held on May 19, 1914, and attempting to influence and covertly threaten municipal employees through fear of losing their employment in case they do not vote for and work for the election of the candidates so designated; and

Whereas, Such conduct is opposed to the policy of this Council, many times declared, as well as the Act of Assembly, known as the Civil Service Law, and in violation of the pledges of the Mayor and the pledge of the Committee of One Hundred; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Mayor be directed, in accordance with the resolution of January 20, 1914, to notify the "Directors of the various departments, the superintendents of the various bureaus, chief clerks, and all other employees in charge" to forbid any solicitation, coercion, or ordering of employees to support any candidate at said election to be held on May 19, 1914.

And be it Further Resolved, That the Mayor is hereby directed to issue a public notice or proclamation to all municipal employees of every rank, informing them of this resolution and notifying them of their political freedom and pledging himself again, in accordance with his prior promises, to protect any and all of them in the free exercise of their voting franchise.

And be it Further Resolved, That all municipal employees are hereby invited to inform this Council, or any member of it, of any attempt on the part of any of their superior officers or of any affiliated political interest to approach them for the purpose of influencing or interfering with them in their rights of citizenship.

And be it Further Resolved, That the City Council hereby again pledges itself, in accordance with said resolution, to protect every employee from his superior officer in the exercise of his franchise.

Which was read.

Mr. Hoeveler moved

The adoption of the resolution.

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I think this resolution is highly appropriate because I have information that payroll meetings are being held in my ward."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask the gentleman who called these meetings? Was it the Mayor?"

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, does the gentleman want proof of the meeting?"

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, this resolution is directed to the Mayor. He makes the charge here that payroll meetings are being held. I would again ask the gentleman to state whether the Mayor called these meetings?"

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—The call for this particular meeting is not signed by the Mayor, but by a subordinate."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I asked the gentleman if the Mayor had signed the call for these meetings, and he replied that the Mayor did not. But the gentleman would make it appear that the Mayor called the meetings. The Mayor has made emphatic statements in the newspapers against coercion and persuasion of men on the city payrolls, and I give him credit for his honest and frank statement when he said that the notices for political meetings were not being sent out by him. I am willing to trust him, and believe that he is sincere in his statements.

"While this coercion and persuasion was attempted during the last administration, I do not know whether it is being done by the present administration or not. However, I do not believe it is. It comes to me for the first time today. There is more in the preamble than in the resolution, and I do not believe the statements made in the preamble. While it should go to committee for consideration, I will not object if it should not. I will not vote for it. I believe it is full of falsehoods and misstatements and brought about by a member of Council who is not favorable to the present administration and who has thus shown himself. I do not believe the resolution is going to reach any purpose. As I said before, I believe the Mayor's statement will be followed out in good faith. And while the gentleman from Sheraden says that the call was not signed by the Mayor, I am not going to vote for this resolution. I am making this statement and want to be put on record in that manner."

Mr. Bauh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am going to vote for this resolution. It has always been my policy to allow the city employees the freedom to vote for whom they think best, whether it is this administration, the last, or the next; they all look alike to me. Every employee of the city should be free at all times and at all elections."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I do not come here to ram the administration or to defend it. If proof is desired about these meetings, let any of the gentlemen of Council go to the meeting in the Maryland avenue school house in Sheraden tonight at 8 o'clock and they will see for themselves. Let them take with them a copy of the list of men on the payroll who live in the Twentieth ward and check them. Then they will find out who attends the meetings."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I also want to state that the postal card in the gentleman's (Mr. English) hand is not signed by the Mayor. I will not take a back seat for Mr. Rauh or anybody else. I do not believe such a resolution as this is warranted at this time. I believe no Mayor, no officer, of the city should coerce an employee in the service of the city, and I do not believe that Council should go out of its way to insult the Mayor."

Mr. Hoever arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—This resolution is not presented as an insult to the Chief Executive of this city. It is intended for the purpose of allowing the employees on the payroll to know that they are free to vote for whomsoever they please. The question has been raised that the Mayor did not sign the calls for these meetings. I believe the Mayor is a big enough man to know better. But the point I want to get at, Mr. Chairman, is that the Mayor can, by his influence, direct his subordinates to stop such activities as are going on today. Every employee in the service of the city should be allowed to vote as he thinks best and so long as he does his work in a satisfactory and competent manner he should be retained in his position as a city employee. That has been the sense of my colleagues in several resolutions passed by Council. All I ask is that those resolutions which we have already passed be made more emphatic and that this Council do what previous Councils have done."

Mr. Dillinger arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—This postal card calling a meeting in the Twentieth ward is signed by Harry Townsend. I believe that the Chairman of the Ward Committee of the Republican party is supposed to call the meetings in his ward. Furthermore, this card is addressed to William Y. English, 3101 Landis street. Now, I hope that Mr. English will not consider this a coercion, using this evidence in support of the resolution. Mr. English is supposed to be pretty fair, and, while he is on the City payroll, I do not think he would consider this a coercion. There was much publicity to the Mayor's statement in yesterday's papers; I believe it was in almost every paper, occupying from a half to a full column, in which the Mayor's views against such actions as are mentioned in this resolution, and it is an insult to him to take such action as the adoption of this resolution. Perhaps no man elected last fall received as few payroll votes as I did. The payroll was coerced last fall and the city employees were made slaves. We all know that. Mayor Armstrong in his campaign last fall protested against such tactics and pledged that they would not be carried on if he was elected to the position of Mayor. When the Mayor's actions warrant such a resolution I will vote for it. This one, I might say, is a piece of political bunk. I have confidence in the Mayor's statement of yesterday, and am, therefore, against the adoption of this resolution.

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—Any man that has viewed the City of Pittsburgh within the last few days or the last weeks, unless he is absolutely blind, or else he is ignorant, or else closes his eyes, cannot gainsay the fact that political activity along the payroll line is not going on."

"Now, there is nothing in this resolution to offend any one—if he is honest in his purposes. It has come to my ear—I do not make this statement as an absolute fact, but the rumor is current—that the men in the employ of the City are being canvassed by automobiles that are being kept up by the City of Pittsburgh. Now, I submit to you, Mr. Chairman, is this fair?"

"I want to call your attention to another thing. Resolutions were presented by my friend [Mr. Rauh] on the left on two occasions requiring that the machines of the City be lettered, with the exception of two machines, the one in the Department of City Paymaster and the one in the Department of Public Safety used by the Mayor. I want to say the letters are not there."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I cannot see anything in that resolution which charges the Mayor with any acts. It simply puts the Council on record as allowing the city employees to vote for any candidate or set of candidates as they see fit. But I submit to you, Mr. Chairman, that the Superintendent of City Property, Mr. Townsend, has sent out cards asking city employees to attend political meetings. If you will go to these meetings you will find out that my statement is correct. I challenge you to go to the meetings and you will find men employed in every department of the City of Pittsburgh who live in that ward at the meeting. I have been in politics for a long time, and you cannot find one employee in the City service who can say that I attempted to coerce him to vote my way. I submit that it is not fair that City employees should be compelled to go to these meetings, and I challenge any member of this Council if you will attend the meeting tonight in the Twentieth ward he will find out the truth. I submit, however, that should the employees know you were going to attend the meeting tonight after today's proceedings in Council they might stay away from this particular meeting. If you will investigate you will find that certain higher officials are advising the other employees what ticket to vote."

And the question recurring on the adoption of the resolution

Mr. Garland demanded a call of the ayes and noes, and the demand having been sustained, the ayes and noes were taken, and being taken were:

Ayes—Messrs.

-----------	---------

When the name of Mr. Dillinger was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to state that during my campaign last fall I did not attend one meeting held by employees on the payroll of the City of Pittsburgh. I want every employee of the City to cast his vote at any and all elections as he desires, free from coercion and persuasion. I would want him to vote as I myself am free to vote. I think this resolution is entirely out of order; it is not warranted at this time. I have entire confidence in the statement of Hon. Joseph G. Armstrong as published in the papers of this city. I am, therefore, sincerely and earnestly against the adoption of this resolution. I vote No."

When the name of Mr. English was called, he arose and stated that he wished to be recorded as voting Yes, with his previous remarks inserted in the record.

When the name of Mr. Garland was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I vote No, and ask that my former remarks be recorded. I further wish to state that if this resolution was brought in in good faith I would vote for it, but I will not subscribe myself to a resolution which is full of falsehoods and misstatements, and which I consider an insult to the Chief Executive of the City. It gives him no credit for the good intentions so expressed in his statement of yesterday."

When the name of Mr. Herron was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I wish to be recorded as voting in the affirmative for this resolution, and wish to state that if there is one single member of Council who should not be classed as a politician it is my friend sitting here on my left who introduced this resolution. If there is one good, clean, honest man, one man with the kindest feelings for his fellow-man, it is my friend, Mr. Hoeverler. He introduced this resolution in good faith. He wanted to see if this Council would take the same position it did last fall, or whether it has transferred its affection. He wants to see the payroll vote just as they see fit and proper, without any coercion from anyone. Had I introduced the resolution I would have added a few more names and I would have inserted in the resolution that no city employee would be allowed to call a political meeting in his ward.

"Mr. Chairman, Hon. Joseph G. Armstrong, Mayor, is entitled to the respect of this Council, and I say I do respect him. But when an attempt is made to coerce or influence the City employees to vote as the administration desires, I am going to hold him responsible for the acts of his subordinates.

"We have no right to take offense, we have no right to take issue with, or impugn the motives of the gentleman who introduced this resolution. It is not right, fair or just to do so."

When the name of Mr. Hoeverler was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—This resolution was introduced with no intent to insult the Mayor. As you know, I have the highest regard for the present Chief Executive of this city. I therefore wish to be recorded as voting yes."

When the name of Mr. Rauh was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I vote yes. In addition to the remarks I made before, I want to say that I have absolutely no reflection to make on Hon. Joseph G. Armstrong, Mayor. I want it understood that I vote for this resolution in the interest of good citizenship and good government."

Ayes—6.

Noes—2.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion prevailed.

Mr. English moved

That Mr. Dillinger be excused for absence from committee meetings on April 1, 1914.

Which motion prevailed.

And, on motion of Mr. Garland,

Council adjourned.

Mr. Hoeveler presented

No. 1033. At a meeting of Council on May 12, 1914, a resolution was introduced with the object of eliminating politics and coercion on the payroll. It was passed by a vote of six to two. I declared at the time it was not designed to insult the Mayor, or in any way belittle the force of previous resolutions passed along the same lines. Nor was it expected that the Mayor would ignore or attempt to insult Council. The object sought was to give further strength to the resolutions previously passed and give the Mayor an opportunity, backed by Council, to eliminate politics from the payroll.

I object seriously to the remarks made by Mr. Garland as to alleged "mis-statements," and want to reassert that the preamble and resolution proper contained nothing but the absolute truth. The employee of the City of Pittsburgh is entitled to his political liberty, and the City can only expect to get his services delivered efficiently, courteously and honestly for the compensation paid him. Party or clique should not be considered. I would not think of insulting the Mayor's intelligence by even intimating that he might have signed an order or a direction as Mr. Garland demanded be shown, but every man of experience knows that it is within the power of any competent manager of men to stop abuses and to reach the ends desired in the resolution by using his influence in a direction experience teaches every manager who is capable and has the ability to give full value in return for the compensation he receives. Good government is not sharp practice, but straightforward and direct instruction along the lines that are praiseworthy and open.

The Mayor, through the newspapers, claims to have answered the resolution and thinks it unnecessary to consider it further. I do not approve the action of the Mayor in ignoring the resolution passed by Council. That resolution was predicated on the Mayor's own pledges, and it was based solidly on a moral, not a political, issue. The issue being a moral one, I sincerely regret the Mayor's action in evading the resolution on a technicality. In a question involving ethics there should be no need of hiding behind technicalities that are obstructive to the public good. It required but little courtesy from the Mayor to recognize Council in its position on this matter. That position, I am safe in saying, was the same as taken by the Mayor prior to his election, and it is a great disappointment to many citizens of Pittsburgh that he has not accepted Council's position as his own by issuing the proclamation requested.

The Mayor and this Council should get together and devise ways and means to make the employee better satisfied with his place and feel encouraged to render value received for his compensation, and know that the position is his or hers as long as duty to the City is performed faithfully and honestly. When the employee is assured that his chances for promotion are better when he proves himself a good servant, then better results may be expected in the municipal service.

My whole object in this matter is to impress upon the citizens of Pittsburgh that it is unfair and in no sense praiseworthy to play upon the actual necessities, or, in other words, an employee's bread and butter, to influence his vote one way or the other. But it is the duty of good managers to let the employee use that right which his citizenship guarantees him and expects him to cast his ballot as his conscience and intelligence dictates.

My sole purpose in making this statement is to make the record complete, in the sense of placing my opinions and beliefs solidly on record.

Which was read.

Mr. Rauh moved

That the statement be received and filed and printed in full in the record.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair presented

No. 1034. Whereas, It is believed that if a distribution of small potted plants could be made to the public school children of the city, it would be the means of not only affording pleasure to the children, but would create in them an interest in plant life; and

Whereas, It is believed, with the approval of the school authorities, this could be accomplished by the city, through the Bureau of Parks, at small expense; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That a committee of three (3) be appointed to confer with the Board of Education as to the desirability and feasibility of making, through the public schools, a distribution to the school children of small potted flowering plants, with the understanding that the schools in the more congested parts of the city should be first supplied, in the event of insufficient supply of plants.

Which was read.

Mr. Rauh moved

The adoption of the resolution.

Which motion prevailed.

And the Chair appointed Messrs. Rauh, Woodburn and Hoeveler on behalf of Council.

Mr. Kerr presented

No. 1035. Whereas, The City Council passed an ordinance in January, 1914, which was approved by the Mayor on January 29, 1914, forbidding the use of city automobiles for any other purpose than that of the business of the city; and

Whereas, The ordinance provided for the lettering of the machines, to-wit: "That on and after the approval of this ordinance, the Chief of Motor Vehicles in the Department of the Mayor and the Directors of the several departments of the city government shall be, and they are hereby directed to have all automobiles and auto trucks, except the passenger automobile assigned for the use of the Mayor, which are the property of the City of Pittsburgh and are used in the several departments or bureaus under their charge, lettered in a conspicuous place on both sides and the back of the body with the words 'City of Pittsburgh' in block letters of not less than four (4) inches in height and in a white color on a black or blackened background;" and

Whereas, The provisions of this ordinance have not been complied with; the Chief of the Motor Vehicle Department has not had the letters placed upon said machines and in many instances where the letters have been placed on said machines they are so obscure as to be invisible; and

Whereas, It is alleged that various city officials use and occupy said automobiles for traveling to and from their homes and for social purposes, in direct violation of said ordinance; therefore, be it

Resolved, That all city officials and employees be and hereby are forbidden to use any of the automobiles owned and maintained by the city, except for the transaction of the city's business.

And be it Further Resolved, That the Chief of the Motor Vehicle Department be and is hereby directed to bring the various automobiles in his charge to City Hall at 4 P. M. on Wednesday, May 20, 1914, so that the Councilmen may inspect them and ascertain whether or not the provisions of the ordinance have been complied with.

Which was read.

Mr. Kerr moved

The adoption of the resolution.

Mr. Dillinger arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I would like to say for the information of the gentleman (Mr. Kerr) that one of the city's machines has been lettered with large white letters. One machine was sent to the paint shop yesterday and another will be sent today to have the letters put on, and I think by the time specified in this resolution the machines will be lettered."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—During the last administration there were three or four resolutions of this character passed. There was no attention paid to them. While it is the purpose of this resolution to criticize the present city administration, I want to repeat that the last administration paid no attention to our instructions."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I do not care what was done during the last administration. We are not dealing with the last administration. It is passed and gone. We are dealing with the present administration and present officials of that administration, and they have had time since January 29th to have letters placed on thousands of machines. Moreover, Mr. Chairman, I want to call your attention to the fact that when the attention of the Superintendent of Motor Vehicles was called to the ordinance he simply laughed. It is time that somebody would take the matter up and see that these men did the things they were instructed to do. That is all."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I do not like to hear the gentleman talk about the past administration. We are here to attend to the business of the present administration, as the previous speaker has stated. During the last administration had I been a member of Council it would have been my duty fearlessly and honestly, with five or six members, two-thirds of the majority, to insist on the instructions in the resolutions to be carried out. If they were not, I would have said, 'Bring the Mayor before Council for not following out the instructions of Council.' I would not talk like the gentleman (Mr. Garland) with a majority of six members of Council, working not in harmony with the Mayor, but putting all sorts of obstacles before him. I think it is ill timed for any one to come here and talk like that."

And the question recurring on the adoption of the resolution.

The motion prevailed.

And there being no further business before the meeting, the Chair declared Council adjourned.

May 26, 1914.

To the President and Members of Council,
City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:—

In my inaugural address to Council on January 5, 1914, among other things I stated that for years past there had been serious complaints by the general public pertaining to the accommodations furnished by the railway companies.

While many experts have been employed and very serious thought has been given to this subject by previous administrations in an endeavor to solve this problem, nevertheless, it does not appear that much has been accomplished up to date. Therefore, I am prepared at this time, with the Law Department, to take up this most serious proposition with the railway companies for the purpose of insisting that something be done to give the people that relief for which they are clamoring and to which they are entitled.

Your honorable body, having passed a resolution on April 21, 1914, requesting the Law Department to take such action as they deemed necessary pertaining to the establishment of a transfer system, better transportation facilities, etc., indicates to me that you, too, are also very much interested in trying to bring about improved conditions of the railway service. Such being the case, I, at this time, invite any suggestions and your most earnest co-operation, either by body or committee, to help the executive and law departments bring this very important question to a final conclusion, or, at least, to place the entering wedge in bettering the present conditions.

Yours very respectfully,
JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,
Mayor.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Public Service and Surveys.

Also

No. 1079. In view of the discussion caused by recent action of Council in connection with matters relating to the administration of the city's affairs, it may not be out of place that I should make a brief statement of what I conceive to be the power of Council, so far as it relates to executive acts.

The city's charter plainly provides that the legislative power of the city shall be vested in Council and that it shall be the duty of the Mayor, as the head of the executive department of the city to enforce the laws and the ordinances of the city. It therefore follows that the legal power of Council ends with the passage of the ordinances and that it has no authority to order or direct the Mayor, heads of departments, or other city officials, in connection with the enforcement or execution of city ordinances. The duty of carrying out or enforcing of ordinances, as above stated, being fixed by law upon the executive department. But it does not follow that because Council has no legal right to direct the execution of its ordinances that it should not in a proper manner take cognizance of a failure of the executive branch of the city to do its duty, and the Legislature has therefore very wisely provided that, upon request of Council, any department of the city is required to furnish Council with full information regarding any matter connected with the administration of the city's affairs, so that Council may act advisedly in the way of suggestion or advice after considering said reports.

In view of the above my suggestion is that in matters where Council believes that the executive branch of the city government is derelict in some act of omission or commission connected with the administration of the city's affairs, that, instead of directing or ordering that certain acts be done, that it should, as provided by law, refer the matter complained of to the proper department for a report as to the facts, and, furthermore, that, in the interest of preserving harmony between the legislative and executive departments of the city, that the resolution requesting the information should not prejudice the report by the insertion of objectionable statements made as allegations of facts, and that in all cases where there be a question of propriety of action that the matter be referred to a special or standing committee where it may receive deliberate consideration.

English	Hoeverler
Goehring (Pres't)

When the name of Mr. English was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen—While I am in sympathy with the idea expressed in this resolution and desire to help any person or persons whose object is to reduce the cost of living, at the same time while legislating for the entire city we must keep in mind the rights of the other stallholders who are now paying rentals fixed by Ordinance for the current year. I would like to see cheaper food commodities, and think this idea is all right; at the same time injustice to the other stallholders will be done, it seems to me, by the passage of this resolution, which reduces the rent temporarily for one or two persons, and will open the way for a general demand from all the stallholders for a reduction in rent. This being the case, and, as I have stated before, while I am in sympathy with the idea of reducing the cost of living, yet an injustice to the city in general and the other stallholders in all the markets will be done. Therefore, I am compelled to vote No on this particular resolution."

When the name of Mr. Goehring (President) was called, he arose and said:

"Gentlemen—I want to state that the rates for these stands are fixed by Ordinance of Council, and for this reason I do not think Council has a right to discriminate, either by resolution or Ordinance, in favor of any person relative to the rental of the stands in the market houses."

When the name of Mr. Hoeverler was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen—The market is a public utility from which the City as a whole should derive income, and any effort to destroy the revenue or weaken it is bad policy. Markets, street cars, telephones and other utilities should be a source of a large part of our revenue, and it is a mistake to do anything that might have the semblance to take it from the people; and, further, if the cost of living is to be reduced it is not brought about by ways of sharp practice in trade, but it can be brought about by increasing production locally and feeding the people with good food supplied them with the least possible handling, thus postponing decomposition and avoiding waste. Again, it is unfair to the other stallholders to charge them a fixed price created by Ordinance and then reduce for experimental purposes or otherwise the rents to a new man or association. For these reasons I am compelled to vote No in the interest of public good."

Ayes—8.
Noes—3.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the resolution passed finally.

Also, with a negative recommendation,

Bill No. 733. An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance authorizing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works to advertise for and award a contract or contracts for repaving avenues and streets, and for building, rebuilding and repairing retaining walls on certain streets and avenues, and for miscellaneous work for fences and sidewalks, and authorizing the setting aside of the various sums set forth below, amounting in the aggregate to two hundred sixty thousand seven hundred dollars ($260,700.00), from Code Account No. 1460-E, the sum of $37,000.00 from Code Account No. 1461-E, the sum of $950.00 from Code Account No. 1472-G, and the sum of $1,300.00 from Code Account No. 1462-G, for the payment of the costs thereof."

REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

Mr. Dillinger presented from the special committee

No. 1185.

Pittsburgh, June 9, 1914.

Members of Council.

Gentlemen:—

Your special committee, consisting of Messrs. Dillinger, Herron and Rauh, appointed in accordance with the provisions of Bill No. 1135, resolution providing for the appointment of a special committee of three, in conjunction with the Law Department, to confer with the representatives of the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the purpose of securing transfers on the Fourth of July in the same manner and to the same extent as are allowed on every other day in the year, respectfully reports as follows:

That your committee met this day and, after a conference with Mr. P. N. Jones, of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, Mr. Rauh offered the following motion, which was adopted:

"That inasmuch as many other cities now enjoy universal transfers on July 4; and

"Whereas, Pittsburgh is discriminated against; be it

"Resolved, That it is the unanimous opinion of the special committee that the Pittsburgh Railways Company, notwithstanding their reasons submitted to us, June 9, be asked to reconsider their determination and grant this request."

Your committee then adjourned to meet on Tuesday, June 16, 1914, at 11 o'clock A. M.

Respectfully,

G. A. DILLINGER,
JOHN S. HERRON,
ENOCH RAUH,

Mr. Garland presented from the special committee

No. 1186.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 9, 1914.

To the Members of Council:—

With regard to the Stephen C. Foster property, deeded to the City by James H. Park, the Committee has already reported to Council that the deed was in proper shape, as testified to by the Law Department, and said deed has now been placed on record.

Your Committee further reports that arrangements have been made with the present lessees of the property by which possession may be obtained on or before August 1. Your Committee believes that the tentative arrangement made, and which the Committee will ask Council to confirm, is fair and equitable to both parties, being arrived at after full consideration of the mutual rights of the parties concerned. A resolution presented to Council today will, if agreed to, take proper care of this transaction.

If the resolution as presented today is agreeable to Council, which contemplates practically immediate possession, your Committee will then proceed to take up with the direct descendants of Stephen C. Foster the matter of occupancy of the premises in order to have proper caretaker installed, it being the intention to have all of these details arranged by August 1 next.

And, in that event, your Committee would also respectfully ask the newspapers of the City to aid Council in announcing the fact that Pittsburgh will have the old home of Stephen C. Foster in the hands of Foster descendants, which will be open to the public at certain hours, and to that end would like to have the co-operation of the newspapers in acquainting the general public with these facts, asking the support of citizens generally in having donated to the home such Foster relics or heirlooms as may be obtainable.

A request has already been made to the Museum Committee of the Carnegie Institute for the piano which belonged to Mr. Foster, and upon which most of his memorable music was composed, the purpose being to house the piano in the old homestead.

All good citizens should join in helping along this very worthy project, so that the memory of one of Pittsburgh's greatest sons may be properly perpetuated.

W. A. HOEVELER,
G. A. DILLINGER,
J. M. GOEHRING, ex officio,
ROBT. GARLAND, Chairman,
Committee of Council

Which was read.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, June 16, 1914.

To the President and Members of Council, City of Pittsburgh.
Gentlemen:

I am enclosing you herewith communication received from Mr. George Hough Perry, director, Division of Exploitation, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, which explains itself. If this matter is to be given any serious thought, it naturally will take with it an appropriation, and for that reason I am forwarding it to you for your consideration in the matter. I understand that Mr. Perry will be at Council and will ask for a hearing of a few moments, which I feel may be profitable to Council, and I would respectfully suggest that you give him such a hearing.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read, received and filed.

No. 1230. Communication from George Hough Perry, director, Division of Exploitation, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, tendering to the City of Pittsburgh such space at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition as the city may desire for a special display of her resources, civic and municipal achievements and the attractions she offers to capital, new industries and to homeseekers.

Which was read.

Mr. George Hough Perry was given the privilege of the floor and stated that the failure of Mexico to occupy the site at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, which was set aside for her at the request of the Madero administration, leaves that space available for other uses; that a large number of other cities in the country desire to occupy this space, but it was the intention of President Charles C. Moore of the Exposition to tender to the City of Pittsburgh such space as that city may desire for a special display of her resources, civic and municipal achievements and the attractions she offers to capital, new industries and to homeseekers; that this space is tendered free of charge, under the same conditions as have been accepted upon the invitation of the United States Government by 41 foreign nations, 42 States and one or two American cities; that the use of a Pittsburgh building at the Exposition would be a powerful factor in the effort to secure for Pittsburgh in 1916 some of the four hundred national conventions that will be held in San Francisco in 1915; that if Pittsburgh should only be successful in securing three or four of these conventions for 1916 it would more than pay for the building she would erect at the Exposition. That the building or buildings which the City of Pittsburgh would erect would, of course, have to conform to architectural design to the other buildings now being erected.

The Chair stated that, if there were no objections, the communication would be referred to the Committee on Finance for further consideration.

Which was read a first time.

Also

Bill No. 1156. An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance creating the position of assistant superintendent at the City Home and Hospital at Marshalsea, fixing the salary, and defining the duties of said position."

Which was read.

Mr. Rauh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman—I move that this ordinance be recommitted to the Committee on Finance for further consideration."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman—What is the purpose of the gentleman in recommitting this ordinance to the committee?"

Mr. Rauh said:

"Mr. Chairman—One of the purposes is this, that we should get in touch with the new superintendent and find out whether he really needs an assistant superintendent, and along that line, Mr. English, on January 20, in connection with the ordinance creating the position of civilian aide in the Department of Public Safety, said, in one of his arguments, 'The Director of the Department of Public Safety has not been in office long enough to have learned about the employees, to know whether or not he really needs a civilian aide.' Now, I hold this same language in this particular case—I do not know whether the new superintendent will need or will want an assistant superintendent. It is, perhaps, creating an unnecessary office. Still this matter can be talked over tomorrow afternoon and, perhaps if this position is needed, another title will be necessary. In order to take all the matters into consideration we should recommit the bill to the committee."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to say, in connection with this ordinance, that any man who has visited Marshalsea and made a study of the conditions down there knows that the position is necessary. I want to say, further, that more supervision is needed at this institution. I do say that someone is needed to look after the outside as well as the inside. The city now has a thousand acres of land there, and if that land is to be cultivated you will need someone to look after the details. The need of a man to look after the outside work and many other things which should not hamper the medical director is apparent. It is necessary that this man be placed under the medical director, for the insane need supervision of a medical man while working in the field as well as when they are confined to the hospital.

"Mr. Chairman, this position is not in comparison to the position Mr. Rauh refers to. I do not care what title you give the position; you may call the person appointed an overseer, farm superintendent or caretaker, but from my investigation and study I think the position should be created and be under the direction of the medical director. As I said before, this position should be created and the man appointed be under the direct supervision of the medical director and superintendent."

Mr. Woodburn arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—Dr. Kerr has stated the case as it exists. I have been with him and investigated conditions at this institution, and there is no question but what he has given to this body knowledge ascertained from a careful investigation, having the ability to investigate. Now, the only point as I see it is in the matter of title. It is a little misleading and perhaps it is wrong to make an assistant of a position or to a position that has a greater title and a larger duty. For instance, this assistant superintendent cannot be assistant medical director and superintendent; he cannot assist the medical director; he has not the ability, not the knowledge; and he could not become a substitute, ex officio, or his assistant in case of his absence. He could not possibly do it. Only a medical man can be assistant medical director. But if the gentleman will withdraw his motion, which is made under a misapprehension and misunderstanding, or to cause delay, I am ready to move you, when the bill is on second reading, to amend the title of this ordinance so that it will read 'farm overseer,' but there is a further clause in the ordinance which puts this man absolutely under the control, domination and supervision of the medical director and superintendent."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I feel highly honored and am indeed proud of the fact that one of the members of Council has referred to me as an authority. However, when he quotes my remarks in voicing my opposition to the position of civilian aide, as an excuse for his own action in opposing the position of an assistant superintendent for Marshalsea, he does not use a parallel case at all. Having looked into matters at Marshalsea myself, I am convinced that the city needs a medical director as the head of the institution, who shall look after the health and treatment of the inmates. In addition, there should be an assistant to look after the buildings, farm, cattle, etc.

"Having personal knowledge of conditions at Marshalsea, I feel competent to pass upon the need of the two positions without any assistance from the New York efficiency experts, civilian aides or any other outside source. But I suppose that any member of Council who would make a motion to cut a request for 200 beds for Marshalsea down to 100 over the protest of the present superintendent, and thus force patients to continue to sleep on the floor would, no doubt, need the assistance of experts to help him decide what is best for Marshalsea.

"When this ordinance was before the committee the situation was discussed very fully, and you all know that the appointing power rests with the Mayor, and he is responsible for the proper management of Marshalsea.

"The title of this position is a mere detail; call it assistant overseer, farm director, steward or any other name, as long as the holder is to be under the direct supervision of the medical head of the institution.

"As Dr. Kerr and Mr. Woodburn have stated after their committee investigation, they know what is needed, and I will join in approving any title they may suggest. I am firmly convinced that this ordinance should be passed and, therefore, am opposed to sending it back to committee or delaying its passage."

Mr. Rauh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to correct one statement regarding what my colleague, Mr. English, has said in reference to the beds at Marshalsea. Only a few weeks ago I spoke to the Director of the Department of Charities, and he told me that they had more beds than they had room for."

And the question being taken upon the motion to refer to the Committee on Finance, Mr. Kerr demanded a call of the ayes and noes, and the demand having been sustained, the ayes and noes were taken, and being taken were:

Ayes—Messrs.
Dillinger	Goehring, Pres't
Garland	Kaugh
Noes—Messrs.
English	Hoeverler
Herron	Kerr
	Woodburn

Ayes—4.

REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

Mr. Dillinger presented from the Special Committee:

No. 1241.

Pittsburgh, June 16, 1914.

To the President and Members of Council.

Gentlemen:—

Your Special Committee, appointed under the provisions of Bill No. 1135, Resolution, providing for the appointment of a committee of three, in conjunction with the Law Department, to confer with the representatives of the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the purpose of securing transfers on the Fourth of July, met this day, and the following letter was read:

PITTSBURGH RAILWAYS COMPANY.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 10, 1914.

Mr. E. J. Martin, City Clerk,
City of Pittsburgh.

Dear Sir:—

I have your letter of June 9, quoting the resolution of Special Committee of Council regarding the issuance of transfers on the Fourth of July. We regret that the consideration referred to in our letter were not regarded as sufficient by the committee, but, viewing them from a practical standpoint, we regret that we cannot comply with the request of the committee.

Yours very truly,

JAMES D. CALLERY,
President.

Mr. Herron then made the following motion:

That this committee notify Council of the intentions of the Railways Company, and prepare a resolution requesting the Public Utilities Commission to appear in Pittsburgh at the earliest possible moment so that Council can lay the matter before them.

Which was amended, by motion of Mr. Rauh, to read as follows:

Inasmuch as the Fourth of July is so near at hand, and in case the Public Utilities Commission cannot come to Pittsburgh, that it be the sense of the Council, or its committee, to appear before them at Harrisburg, or wherever the Commission may see fit, to argue the matter, and that they go at their own expense.

Respectfully submitted,

G. A. DILLINGER,

Chairman,

JOHN S. HERRON,

ENOCH RAUH,

Committee.

Which was read, and, on motion of Mr. Woodburn, was received and filed.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

No. 1242. Resolved, That the Mayor be and he is hereby requested to have the Director of the Department of Public Works prepare for Council an estimate of the damages and cost of the widening, paving and curbing of Chartiers avenue, from Hillsboro street to the end of the city line at Ingram.

Which was read.

Mr. Herron presented

No. 1243. Whereas, A Special Committee of this Council, appointed for the purpose of conferring and consulting with the officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, to obtain street car transfers for the public on the Fourth of July on the same basis and conditions as for all other days, has reported that after a number of meetings and conferences with said railways officials, a definite and final refusal has been received by the Committee to the granting of said transfers; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Public Utilities Commission of Pennsylvania be earnestly and urgently requested to hold a session of said body in Pittsburgh at the earliest possible moment to hear and consider said matter of Fourth of July transfers and to decide thereon in time to put said decision or decree in effect before July 4, 1914; be it further

Resolved, That in the event said Commission unfortunately finds it impossible to comply with the request to hold a session in Pittsburgh for the aforesaid purpose, and this Council is so advized by said Commission, then a Committee of this Council shall be appointed by the President to appear at Harrisburg, or elsewhere as designated, for the purpose of laying before said Commission the complaint of the Pittsburgh public on the unfairness, injustice and discrimination practiced by said railways company in the matter of refusing to its patrons the transfers granted and allowed on all other days of the year.

Which was read.

Mr. Herron moved

The adoption of the resolution.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Woodburn presented

No. 1244. Whereas, Even a superficial survey of the present fire-fighting organization strongly suggests a loss of more than 30 per cent. in efficiency; or stated comparatively, an organization having an individual rating of almost 100 per cent. shows less than 70 per cent. in service efficiency as now operated. This is evidently due to authorized and uncontrollable absenteeism, which frequently amounts to almost 50 per cent. of the company enrollment. Authorized absence seems to be an effort to prevent physical deterioration as a result of continuous night and day duty, as well as to relieve the system of the charge of inhumanity because of the more or less complete separation of the employee from family and parental duties and social relations.

Resolved, That the Committee on Public Safety be directed to make, or cause to be made, especially with reference to its humanitarian problem, efficiency and question of cost, a thorough investigation and study of the new method of organization of fire departments, known as the "two-platoon system," and to report to Council within one month its findings and recommendations.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Public Safety.

Mr. Hoeveler presented

No. 1245. Gentlemen—I realize that the market development is proceeding along lines that are not economical, and that the sanitary features necessary to the common welfare of the people are being neglected, that a great majority of this body has made up its mind to make this development along lines that I assure you are fallacious; nevertheless, if this body has made up its mind to use Duquesne way for market purposes, I hope it will take sanitation, comfort and economy as far as possible in consideration.

The present Duquesne Market as provided is inadequate, unsanitary, inefficient and wasteful, as well as uncomfortable to both buyer and seller, but it is possible and it is our duty to make this development as adequate and sanitary as possible, and certainly it is wise to make it comfortable; but the first requisite is to provide sufficient space for this trade, and keep all this business in one locality, so that the butcher, baker, preserver, gardener, farmer and huckster will be close together, conserving the people's time, and making it convenient for all who make proper and convenient selection; therefore, it is absolutely necessary, if these plans are to be carried out, that the same idea of market construction be developed below Sixth street towards the Monongahela river.

It is necessary that all these markets be enclosed in glass, so that they can be well ventilated in warm weather, easily and conveniently screened in fly time and heated in cold weather. It certainly is the duty of the citizens of Pittsburgh to create local production and give it every facility possible to encourage this development and attract producers to a common center.

I visited the Duquesne Market on Saturday, June 13, 1914, to get the opinion of the producers in this market. I failed to find one satisfied producer or huckster, and want to enter in the records of this meeting that a policy of force is not economy. The actual producer cannot be coerced by a municipality, because their markets are too broad, and they will only come to the market which advocates such a policy when prices are at such a figure that work against the interest of the consumer. It is shortsighted to endeavor to force these people along the lines that were used against the slave, the serf, or the peon, and if this policy is persisted in the pounds produced that should naturally come to this market will go elsewhere, and a higher cost of living will be gradually forced upon the people.

Comfort, convenience and economy are the only inducements that will encourage production, and I assure you, gentlemen, that competition based on the above will bring to the consumer a fair price. A market becomes valuable as it attracts sellers and buyers. The question of retail and wholesale rates will regulate themselves; therefore, it is Pittsburgh's duty, in the interest of all the people, to give facilities that will encourage local production, bring it to Pittsburgh with the least possible handling and place it before the consumer, storekeeper or other buyers in the most attractive and sanitary form. With these facilities the public will have every assurance of being largely benefited, and if we neglect them the consumer will have to pay the bill.

Which was read.

Mr. Hoeveler moved

That the statement be received and filed and printed in full in the record.

Which motion prevailed.

And there being no further business before the meeting, the Chair declared Council adjourned.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.
Pittsburgh, June 13, 1914.

To the President and Members of Council, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Gentlemen:

In reference to Council Bill No. 1189, the same being a resolution that the Director of the Department of Public Works be requested to furnish Council with full information as to what progress is being made in the matter of the erection of comfort stations, for which $90,000.00 has been provided by people's bond issue, I beg to state that the matter has been a very difficult one to handle, as it is a hard matter to find just where suitable locations can be had in the city without buying new property, and I beg to suggest the following locations:

We would recommend that one be placed under the sidewalk in front of the Postoffice building. This location could be used, providing permission could be obtained from the United States Government to erect the same under their property.

As another site I would suggest Market street, between Liberty and Fifth avenues, on which there is no vehicle traffic. As an alternate for this last one I would suggest the intersection of Fifth avenue and Liberty avenue, underground.

As a third location I would suggest the junction of Butler street and Penn avenue, either under the sidewalk or under the property of the bank at this point.

At Penn avenue and Frankstown avenue, underground, in front of the drug store at the eastern intersection of these streets. As an alternate for this I would suggest underground on the property of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church at Penn and Highland avenues.

In the Oakland district at the entrance to Schenley Park.

On the South Side at Twenty-second and Carson streets on the grounds of the Public Library.

At Brady and Forbes streets upon property to be purchased on the south side of Forbes street, about 100 feet east of Brady street.

West Carson and Main streets, to be located against the retaining wall. Permission would have to be secured from the P. C. & St. L. R. R. Company.

Old Allegheny City Hall, remodeling three rooms in the old building.

I am having estimates made of the cost of comfort stations at these locations, so that we can submit the approximate cost. The department would like to be advised whether these locations meet with the approval of Council.

Yours very truly,

ROBT. SWAN,

Director.

Gentlemen:

In reference to Council Bill No. 1138, the same being a communication from Mr. W. A. Hoeveler, relative to flood prevention, would say that the matter of diverting the flow of the Allegheny river would require a very great deal of study, as well as very expensive surveys. We have no appropriation for this matter at this time, and an intelligent estimate, except in a general way, cannot be made without the expenditure of a large sum of money.

No. 1311.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

June 20, 1914.

Mr. E. J. Martin,

City Clerk,

Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication of June 17, enclosing copy of a resolution of Council of the City of Pittsburgh, passed at a meeting held June 16, 1914, designated as Bill No. 1243, requesting the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to hold a session in Pittsburgh to hear and consider the question of transfer by the Pittsburgh Railway Company on July 4, 1914.

Under the provisions of the Public Service Company Law, "It shall be the duty of every public service company * * * to file with the Commission tariffs and schedules showing prices, charges, rates, fares, tolls," and "It shall also be the duty of every public service company to post and publish such tariffs and schedules * * * in such manner, form and place, and in such office or station as to be readily accessible * * * as the Commission may require."

"Every public service company shall also file and as a part of such tariffs and schedules, and post as directed, all rules and regulations that in any manner effect the said prices, charges, rates, fares, tolls, etc."

The Act further provides that the Commission shall have power, "After notice, to hold a public hearing and make investigations as to the propriety of such proposed change and of the new rate, practice or classification."

The rules of the Commission provide that where the rates, rules or classification are complained against, that the respondent company shall have fifteen (15) days in which to file its answer thereto, and after such answer has been filed a public hearing shall be held.

On December 31, 1913, the Pittsburgh Railways Company issued its tariffs for street car service, P. S. C. Pa. No. 1, which provides that "No transfers issued or accepted on July 4th," and under the provisions of the law this tariff cannot be changed by the company, except with the consent of the Commission, without thirty days' notice to the Commission. The law, on the other hand, provides that the Commission shall not change the provisions of a tariff filed without a public hearing at which the reasonableness of the change proposed is shown, and that the company affected thereby shall have an opportunity to appeal from the decision of the Commission.

To be fair and just to public and the public service companies, the Commission must insist that the rules adopted and the provisions of the law shall be followed by one as well as the other and that no exception shall be made where the neglect or delay of either one or the other is responsible for the situation.

In the present case a complaint could have been made months ago and the matter finally decided before the effective date of the rule of the railways company, and the Commission, under the law and in compliance with its rules, is of the opinion that it is not in a position to comply with your request for a special hearing and accord the subject the consideration necessary, without neglecting the rights of parties entitled to consideration in cases already presented.

I am directed to inform you that the Commission will be pleased to take the matter up in the regular way should you desire to have it continue your complaint as presented, in accordance with the provisions of the Public Service Company Law.

In connection with this matter, permit me to advise you that on May 14, 1910, a petition similar in effect to the resolution of the Pittsburgh Council was presented to the Pennsylvania State Railroad Commission, the predecessor of this Commission, on the complaint of Jesse J. Shuman, and from the facts presented at that time, that Commission expressed the opinion that, in view of the fact that there was at that time no legislation on the subject of transfers and no common practice in the matter, that the policy of the railway company, for the reason set forth in its answer to the complaint, was one which the Railroad Commission did not think wise to change.

Yours very truly,

A. B. MILLAR,
Secretary.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Public Service and Surveys.

No. 1312.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 17, 1914.

To the President and Members of Council, City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:

I am returning you herewith Council Bill No. 1054, "A Resolution authorizing the Director of the Department of Public Works to lease to the Federated Co-Operative Association two of the unoccupied stands in the South Side market house for a period of three months at the nominal rent of one dollar per month," without my signature of approval, for the reason that I believe it unfair to the business people in that section of our city and especially those who have been paying the city reasonable rents for the stands and stalls which they have been occupying for years in the South Side market building.

To permit the Federated Co-Operative Association the use of stands for experimental purposes for practically nothing and run opposition to those who have and are helping to maintain our markets is an imposition and is anything but a fair test to reduce the cost of living. There is not a merchant in the City of Pittsburgh who could not afford to sell his products cheaper if afforded free rent or a rent cheaper than his next-door competitor, and, in my judgment, and in fairness to all the other stand-holders the only fair test would be to have this association enter competition on an equal footing and see if they cannot solve this problem, but, in doing so, they should not be given any advantage over the other lessees engaged in the same line.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,
Mayor.

Which was read, received and filed.

And

Bill No. 1054. Resolution authorizing and directing the Director of the Department of Public Works to lease to the Federated Co-Operative Association two of the unoccupied stands in the South Side market house for a period of three months at the nominal rent of one dollar per month.

Was read.

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen—I think the Mayor's veto is well founded. He has practically stated my views on this matter, as I expressed them in committee, that we have no right to charge one person a higher or a lower rate for market stalls than we charge to any other tenant of a market stall. I think this Council would be doing its duty if it sustained the Mayor's veto."

Mr. Woodburn arose and said:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen—I do not think the Mayor has understood the resolution at all. I do not think he has comprehended it in any sense. By co-operation you mean co-operation, and the people on the South Side who patronize this market support it. They are the people who sustain it and absolutely sustain it. It is not merely the rent that is paid for the stands and stalls. These men wish to co-operate with the citizens and for this reason form an organization, a commercial organization, whereby they gather produce from the country round about, wherever it is produced, and bring it to this stand and sell it, not only, I admit, to the members of its organization, but to all persons who desire to buy.

"There has been formed such an organization on the North Side, and it is successful, so I have been informed, and many people have availed themselves of better prices, better qualities and fresher goods than they could possibly get in this vicinity, and not shipped long distances in poorly equipped facilities. Then, over and above the actual cost of running the stand and a reasonable salary paid to the man who devotes his entire time for the success of the organization, they receive dividends or a share of the profits. So, this is co-operation. It saves money to the citizens, the customers, the people, the patrons. It is not money earned for the merchant. It is not a question whether the merchant shall have a stall free of charge and that merchant pay a large price; it is whether these people, constituting such an organization, shall have the opportunity to co-operate for mutual benefit."

Mr. Hoeveler arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to state that the reasons advanced by the Mayor and Dr. Woodburn are fallacious. In order to reduce the high cost of living, we must prolong the life of the food products. If we do give this man a stall free of charge, we do not prolong the life of the goods. My idea is to prolong the life of the goods and thereby reduce the cost. Both these gentlemen are wrong as far as food values are concerned."

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen—I have heard so much about the high cost of living in this Council that I think this is one of the ways in which to give to the people of this city cheaper goods. The only way we can do that is to allow the merchants to have the use of these stalls at a smaller rental.

"Personally, I do not know much about this organization, but if they intend to do business only for the purpose of reducing the enormous cost of food products, I think it is a step in the right direction. These people merely want this stand for a period of three months, and after that time, should their experiment be a success, they will pay the rental as now fixed by ordinance. I think it is a proposition which should receive encouragement, and for that reason I will vote to again pass the ordinance, notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor."

And on the question, "Shall the bill become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor, the ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Dillinger
Herron

Kerr
Woodburn

Noes—Messrs.

English

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 22, 1914.

To the President and Members of Council, City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:

I am returning you herewith Council Bill No. 1117, providing for disposal of unlicensed dogs, etc., without my signature of approval for the following reasons:

First—It provides for a period of five years, which is a longer period of contract than the nature of the work justifies. It is only where annual contracts, or short contracts cannot be made at all, or cannot be made with advantage to the city that a five-year contract would be justified, and no such reason exists in this case.

Second—The ordinance, as drawn, practically provides for a loan or advance by the city for the erection of a building which will ultimately become the property of some unknown person, whoever happens to be the lowest responsible bidder.

Third—The city must become responsible for a ground rent for the lot upon which this building is to be erected.

I have had this matter up with our legal department, and they cannot O. K. it as being a safe ordinance; that it is not within the provisions of the Act of Assembly, and would establish a very bad precedent.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,
Mayor.

Which was read, received and filed.

And

Resolution instructing and directing the Law Department to take immediate steps to force the Pittsburgh Railways Company into the hands of a receiver, so that an opportunity may be afforded of dealing with a receiver who, as an officer of the Court, will be amenable to and responsible to the orders of the Court in the public behalf, and that the Pittsburgh Railways Company may be compelled to furnish a fair, reasonable and proper service to the citizens of Pittsburgh, regardless of whether they are able to pay dividends and returns upon watered stock, inflated securities and guarantees of lease obligations, which are in excess of the earnings of the road.

Which was read.

Mr. Woodburn moved

A suspension of the rule to allow the second and third readings and final passage of the resolution.

Which motion prevailed.

And the rule having been suspended, the resolution was read a second time.

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen—This is a very important matter, and what I have to say I have reduced to writing. It is probably the largest problem that has come, or will come, before this Council during our term of office.

Mr. Kerr then read as follows:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen of Council—I want to place myself on record at this time on the subject-matter of this resolution, and I want it to be clearly understood that I am in favor of any proceeding which will bring better street car service to the citizens of Pittsburgh. I also want it to be understood that I am in favor of only rational and practical measures that are brought before the Council. The resolution under consideration is not practical, and the thing it aims to do is not feasible, and the results that will accrue from its passage and execution, if it were possible to execute it, would not bring relief to the citizens of Pittsburgh.

"The Council, being the real governing body of the city, as I take it, has the right to direct the department heads to do certain things, but in order to do that it is necessary for the Council to follow the proper lines and to proceed through the proper channels. The Council can only direct a department head through the Mayor, who is the executive officer of the city. Therefore, this resolution, if passed, could not be executed because the Mayor would not give it the executive support which is necessary to make it effective, and the Council would be powerless to force its execution.

"The resolution states that the purpose of a receivership is to compel the company to furnish a fair, reasonable and proper service to the citizens of Pittsburgh. In other words, that the Court will be in a position to direct the operations of the company. Now, I think, Mr. President, that, as a matter of law, the Court could not direct the operations of the company through a receiver any more than it can through the present officials of the company, and the service would not, therefore, be made any better, but might be interfered with to some extent, as in the case of the New York surface lines. After the receiver had been appointed in that instance transfers were withdrawn from a number of points where they had previously been enjoyed on the ground that the financial condition of the company did not permit of the issuance of so many transfers.

"Receiverships are granted by the Courts on the application of some of the company's creditors who claim their interests are in jeopardy or on the application of some of the stockholders who believe their vested rights are being sacrificed, and the purpose of the receiver is to protect the rights of all those interested in the company. I believe there is not a case on record where a receiver has been appointed by the Court because of an allegation that the company (a public utilities company) did not maintain a good and sufficient service.

"I do not think this is the proper way to approach this subject. I believe the first thing the city should do is to start proceedings along the line of investigation into the financial condition of the company: (1) to ascertain whether the statements that have frequently been made that the company is diverting 40 to 50 per cent. of its gross earnings to profits is correct or not, and (2) as to whether the Philadelphia Company is setting aside vast sums of money to make good the deficits of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, their methods of financing the shortages, and so forth, and (3) there should be an investigation made of the charter acts and ordinances of the eight trunk lines of the City of Pittsburgh which constitute the Pittsburgh Railways Company as to their franchise rights and responsibilities and as to whether the company is living up to the requirements of the Acts of Assembly and the ordinances of Council.

"After the city has acquired this information, which can only be done through the proper legal channels and when these facts have been ascertained, the city will then be in a position to outline a proper procedure to correct the evils complained of, which may or may not involve the appointment of a receiver. I think in this instance the writer of the resolution has the cart before the horse.

"Now, what I think should be done in this matter is to proceed along reasonable, practical and logical lines to determine the facts of the case and then to outline the policy by which the evils are to be corrected. I am heartily in sympathy with any movement that will bring relief to a suffering public, but I am not in favor of, nor will I support, any foolhardy proposition for the sole purpose of playing with a proposition as big as this.

"This resolution is evidently prepared for the purpose of deluding the public mind or else the author of it is not familiar with the facts in the case and the legal problems involved."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—If the passage of this resolution for a receiver for the Pittsburgh Railways Company is the solution of the transportation problem, then by all means let us pass this resolution. With the advice and consent of Council, the Mayor and the Law Department are preparing a statement of complaint to be submitted to the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and, as I understand it, the Mayor will submit this statement to the Council before sending it to the railways company. While I do not know what the Mayor intends to say in the proposed statement or whether or not I can approve it, yet, as a matter of common courtesy and decency, we should give the Mayor and the City Solicitor a hearing before we condemn their plan. It is not right to sit in two conferences with the Mayor and help him start a plan of some kind and then change the plan without giving him an opportunity to be heard.

"We should hear the Mayor and the City Solicitor's plan, and then accept it or reject it. The Council would then be able to determine whether or not to change the plan. It may be necessary to ask for a receiver for the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and at the proper time I will vote in favor of a receiver, but, in my judgment, this is not the proper time for such action."

Mr. Dillinger arose and said:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen—The last statement made in the written statement of the first speaker on this subject is rather a surprise to me. It states 'nor will I support any foolhardy proposition for the sole purpose of playing with a proposition as big as this,' and the other statement, 'this resolution is evidently prepared for the purpose of deluding the public mind.' I want to refresh Council's memory to the fact that the gentleman voted for this proposition last Wednesday in affirming it, and it is rather significant that inside of a week he should face about and question the intentions and the motives of the author of the resolution.

"That this is a very important question and the most important that will come before this Council; I will grant you that. And in order to be thoroughly understood on this proposition I have also something to submit in writing. I believe the people of Pittsburgh are absolutely tired of the waiting policy of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, which has been in vogue for the last twenty years; as also are the general public tired of the waiting policy at Washington at the present time. I read a little story in one of the papers this morning of a lady telling of an Irishman searching for work. She said, 'After a number of days searching for work he was so weak from hunger and exhaustion he lay down to rest, and the dogs came out and, standing near him barked, and, stooping over, he attempted to pick up stones, but could not. The Irishman said, 'Fine country for liberty; you let the dogs come out and bark at me, and the stones I tried to pick up were tied down.'" The dogs have been turned on the public for the last twenty-five years, and the stones are tied down against the people of Pittsburgh in favor of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

"The people are back of a resolution of this kind, and the sentiments of Council back of it will show the Law Department what the people of Pittsburgh want.

"I hope this resolution passes unanimously. A matter so vital to the people of Pittsburgh should not be stamped with politics or factionalism. It makes no difference upon what platform we were elected. We are all sworn to conserve and promote the highest good of Pittsburgh, and to resist oppression, discrimination and abuse. So far as city politics are concerned, the street railway issue did not divide us last fall. On the one side was Mayor Armstrong, who promised nothing but a continuation of conciliation. On the other side was Mayor Magee, who was long on promises but had been woefully short on fulfillment. Surely, then, we ought to be free of entangling alliances on this question. At any rate, I am and shall continue so to be.

"I am convinced (and I believe every one of us are) that Pittsburgh, sooner or later, will have to do like other large cities—reorganize her passenger railway service through the medium of a receivership. Let's do it sooner, rather than later. Get the agony over. The quicker we get started, the sooner we will reach the goal of decent service. I say 'decent service' because our mothers, sisters, wives and daughter, in the language of ex-Mayor Guthrie, have to submit to a service at times 'utterly immoral and indecent.' A service that 'would not be permitted by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the transportation of cattle.'

"These conditions are not endured because we have a cheap service. It is perhaps the most expensive in the country. A policy is now in progress to charge a flat 10-cent rate on all but very short hauls. Instead of an extension of transfer privileges, we are treated to more 10-cent rates. Limited as our transfer privileges are, we cannot enjoy them on the Fourth of July, when they would be most appreciated. Their main reason for refusing is that they have been putting it over on us for ten years, and they think it ungentlemanly in us to raise objections now.

"I say that the growth of the Pittsburgh district, residentially, commercially, industrially and educationally, is largely throttled by this public-bluffing, law-defying, franchise-grabbing railways company. I mention the city's development educationally. The Board of Education is spending millions for new high schools which will, in a measure, be unusable for want of proper street car facilities. Without transfers, many parents cannot afford to give their children a high school education. Besides, can you blame a prudent father or mother for declining to send a daughter to high school, hanging on a strap to be promiscuously jostled during the rush hours. I know communities in which high school attendance is greatly curtailed for these reasons. The Board of Education should sit up and take notice. The public demands that they give us their moral support at least.

"But why enumerate grievances. We are all too well informed upon this part of the case. I am for a receivership not to punish—not to get back at somebody, but to give us relief. To right the wrongs—to give the service to which we are entitled, and to give it to us while we are yet alive. If you go before the new Public Service Commission, the judgment day may overtake us.

"Mr. President, I am not acting from impulse, nor am I in the least premature. I maintain that a receivership is the right thing and the only thing, and that the city can bring it about. Let me read you a letter from a lawyer of seasoned judgment upon these questions; who knows the law and knows this company:

"Dr. G. A. Dillinger,

"City Hall, City.

"My Dear Sir:

"I wish to voice an approval of your plan to place the Pittsburgh Railways Company in the hands of a receiver. By means of a receivership, the service would be rapidly improved. In cases where the necessities and reasonable requirements of the public service make it necessary that the corporation's earnings be spent for improvements and betterments, the receiver can so apply the funds in preference to interest, dividends or rentals. The necessities of the service are superior to the rights of the bondholders, stockholders or lessors. It is plain, then, that if this vast stream of earnings should be turned into betterments and improvements, we would soon rehabilitate our railway service. Legal authorities fully support the general proposition that the receiver of a public service corporation is not obliged to pay interest, dividends or rentals, as against what is necessary for a reasonable service.

"After operating under a receivership for a sufficient time to establish a good service, the affairs of the company could then be turned over to the stockholders upon their agreement to maintain it properly. If they fail so to agree, the receiver would wind up its affairs and sell the assets, either to the city or to other persons or corporations, who would undertake, under a business-like contract, to maintain a proper service.

"The point has been raised that the provisions of 'The Public Service Company Law' stands in the way of a receivership in equity. You are quite safe in this respect. It is true, as a general proposition of law, that when the Legislature prescribes a plan of procedure, the plan must be followed and that a remedy so prescribed is a bar to a suit in equity until the remedy at law has been exhausted. This principle does not stand in the way of your proposed equity suit. It is not enough merely to set up a remedy at law as against an equity suit. The remedy at law must be adequate. If the alleged remedy at law is inadequate upon its face, it is not necessary to resort to it or exhaust it before seeking equity. In the case of The Public Service Company Law, the inadequacy of the remedy is easily apparent and sufficiently so to leave but little doubt in the mind of a court of equity.

But the most conclusive reason for disregarding the Public Service Law is that by its own provisions it does not operate as a bar of suits in equity. The following is quoted from Section 29 of Article V:

"And, except as herein otherwise provided, nothing in this act contained shall in any way abridge or alter the existing rights of action or remedies in equity or under the common or statutory law of the Commonwealth, it being the intention that the provisions of this Act shall be cumulative, and in addition to such rights of action and remedies.

"A receiver is a creature of equity and may be had when equitable causes are shown; not necessarily insolvency. In this case, the common excuse of the company could be alleged as a substantial ground, viz: that by reason of its heavy fixed charges over and above operating expenses, it is without funds for proper maintenance and extension. That, so long as it operates as a company, it is obligated to pay these oppressive interest and rental charges and that the service has degenerated below reasonable requirements as a result. The receiver would be asked for so that this vast sum might be applied to the services.

"But the appointment of a receiver need not involve the city in serious contention. It is significant that if the lawful police powers of the city were fully exercised and enforced the railways company might, of itself, petition Court for a receivership as a preferable alternative.

"Hoping for the success of your movement, I remain,

"Sincerely yours,

"ANDREW G. SMITH.

"Mr. President, it is not necessary for a lawyer to tell us how ridiculous it would be for Pittsburgh to appeal to this so-called Public Service Company Commission. Look at the personnel of the Commission. Would you expect a committee of pirate sea captains to revise the navigation laws in the interest of commerce and Christianity? With S. La Rue Tone a member of this Commission, it would be like asking a pirate captain to confiscate his own ship. Sometimes we hear of 'unwritten law.' There is one principle and practice of unwritten law that obtains in every civilized jurisdiction: that is, no person, partnership, corporation nor municipality is obliged to seek redress in a court composed of its opponent. Please do not stultify yourselves and hold our city up to public ridicule by wasting any time in preparing a case for the present Public Service Commission. If my memory serves me, our present Solicitor was unsparing in his criticism of the present 'Public Service Commission Law' when the laws were before the Legislature. Do not force upon him a task in which he must have no faith.

"Now, Mr. President and Fellow Councilmen, I wish to call attention, in conclusion, to the vital divergence between policies relating to the Pittsburgh Railways Company. I do not doubt that every official in Pittsburgh, present and past, wants better street car service. Why, then, has there not been a business-like effort to get it? The answer is because those in authority have been trying to do the impossible thing, namely, to improve the service without putting the company out of business and without depreciating any of the company's securities, and without hurting the alleged investors. Mr. President, I mean that it is impossible to rehabilitate our street car service without squeezing out the watered finance. I realize that certain influential local financiers, with powerful ramifications, will have to lose money. Some years ago they bought up and exploited underlying companies. They 'skimmed the cream' in a period of inflation, and loaded the company with fixed charges which renders it impossible for the company to pay and, at the same time, meet the requirements of a reasonable service. A receivership is the press which is always employed to squeeze out this kind of water. Of course, if a few more millions go to build up the service instead of into the pockets of coupon clippers, these people are going to lose some money. Our purpose is not to cause loss to any, but it simply cannot be avoided. Whom are we sworn to protect: the people on the one hand, or shall we protect the exploiters; or, if you insist upon it, the so-called 'innocent investors,' who took a gambler's chance with inflated securities being made good.

"Gentlemen, I protest against a policy of sentencing every man, woman and child in Pittsburgh to be hanged to a strap for the rest of his natural life, simply to please the wealth-capturing exploiters of high finance that were once abroad in the land. Squeeze out the watered bonds, rental and capital stock and then, gentlemen, we can see the dawn of a new day for Pittsburgh, with the traction company bonded for prudent investment, with dividend-paying capital stock always worth par, and with a high class service, the best in the country, with universal transfers issued every day in the year. Mr. President, I am not dreaming. I hold before you the example of Cleveland and other great cities, and you can't beat it; and Cleveland does it all on a 2-cent fare. But Cleveland had to overcome a siege of corporation dominance, defiance and tyranny that was legislative, judicial and political, and Pittsburgh may have the same kind of a struggle ahead of her. We must set our faces forward and refuse to turn back. Why should Pittsburgh not have an ideal street car service? Experts have told us that the earnings of this company per car mile are among the greatest, if not the greatest, in the country. Some years ago we were told that we doubled Boston, which was operated at a profit.

"Gentlemen, if we continue to submit supinely to such oppression, it will be to our everlasting humiliation and loss as a city — financial loss manifold greater than the loss on depreciated securities to your 'innocent investors.'

"As I see it, this railways company and the city are, in a sense, shipwrecked and struggling to hold on to the same plank. Both cannot be saved. One must be crowded off to sink in order that the other may survive. Here is the vital difference in policies. Are we for saving the company or for saving the city? Whatever votes are cast or whatever action is done by members of this body or by the City Solicitor or by the Mayor will be done on one side or the other of this question—for the company or for the people. The people should permit of no evasion. A receivership is for the people. Every other policy, including the much over-worked policies of 'investigation,' 'conciliation' and delay, is wilfully and premeditatedly for the company and against the people."

Mr. English moved

That the bill be laid over for one week to have a conference with the Mayor.

Mr. Herron, by unanimous consent, was given the privilege of the floor, and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to state that it seems to me the members of Council should not fall out among themselves on account of this resolution. I think the author of this resolution, in presenting it to this body, did what he thought was right at the time, and he, possibly, like myself, is tired of the interviews with the representatives of the company, who tell us that it is impossible to do anything. This resolution now brings it to a head to show whether this company can continue with the same kind of service after the receiver has been appointed. If it is found, upon investigation, that a receiver cannot be appointed that would be the final verdict. However, in the meantime, it would be just as well to go ahead with this proposition and show the Pittsburgh Railways Company that there is no difference of opinion between the members of Council as regards its policy. The Mayor and the City Solicitor have been engaged in the preparation of a complaint to submit to the Railways Company, and I think it should be the duty of Council to find out just as quickly as possible from them in regards to their policy. I am prepared to vote for this resolution in case the complaint being prepared by the Mayor and the City Solicitor does not meet the demand for better service."

And the question recurring on the motion to lay over for one week, to have a conference with the Mayor.

Mr. English demanded a call of the ayes and noes and, the demand having been sustained, the ayes and noes were taken, and being taken were:

No. 1321. Whereas, It is alleged that the Philadelphia Company controls the street railway, gas and electric utilities of the City of Pittsburgh; and

Whereas, It is alleged that the street railway properties of this company are heavily over-capitalized, and their income has been used in paying dividends on watered stock, extravagant rentals and other improper charges, instead of providing proper service; and

Whereas, It is alleged that the Philadelphia Company has been able to do this because of the great profit it has made from its gas and electric business; and

Whereas, The result of this method of doing business has been to lay a heavy tax upon the community and to interfere with its growth and prosperity; and

Whereas, It is essential to the well-being of the community, as well, that gas and electricity be supplied at reasonable prices, as that there shall be good street car service, and these matters are all bound up together; be it

Resolved, That, in connection with the street car problem, the City Council, the Mayor and the Law Department, be hereby authorized and directed to consider the questions of the reasonableness of the rates charged for gas and electric light, and to take such steps as in their judgment shall be necessary to remedy the evils which the community suffers at the hands of the existing monopoly.

The Chair presented

No. 1322. Whereas, The advisability of widening Grant boulevard has, from time to time, been under consideration by Council, but owing to the financial condition of the city, no action has been taken; and

Whereas, The erection of new buildings, according to the present street lines, will add materially to damage costs of widening when eventually made; now, therefore, be it

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Hoeverler was given the privilege of the floor, and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to call the attention of my colleagues that by a vote of 8 to 1 a resolution was sent to the Department of Public Works for a report in relation to the construction of the Nine-Mile Run sewer. Since that time I have gathered information and have authorities to back it up which will show to the citizens of Pittsburgh that the whole groundwork of the sewerage legislation of the State is fallacious and expensive. We do not want to repeat the experience we had in the filtration plant many years ago. We get good results, so far as health is concerned, but we are paying at least one to eight for it, and if we go along the lines as the committee has authorized the department we will be paying practically the same amount for the development of a sewerage system that is faulty and unnecessarily expensive. I will give further information on this subject next week."

Mr. Garland presented

No. 1323. Communication from Pittsburgh Industrial Development Commission relative to establishing a display at the San Francisco Exposition.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Pittsburgh, June 30, 1914.

President and Members of Council,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Gentlemen:

I believe it to the interest of the city to create an extra division in the Bureau of Engineering, to be called the "Division of Public Utilities." In the past proper attention has not been paid to the opening of streets and the repaving of them by public utilities companies in the process of their work, owing to the work not being under a distinct head, and we estimate that at least one-half of the damage done to streets, causing extra cost for repaving in addition to the inconvenience of bad streets, is caused by the improper filling of trenches and repaving the work done by public utilities companies in opening and filling trenches and in making sewer connections. Neither has there been any plans of the city showing the location of underground work of the different companies, and I therefore ask for the creation of the Division of Public Utilities in the Bureau of Engineering, to place all these matters under one distinct head, so that responsibility can be placed where it belongs.

The salary of other division engineers is $250.00 per month, and, as this division will be equal in importance, I would ask that the salary be fixed at the same amount. The corps for the balance of this season can be made up of members of the Bureau of Engineering in the different divisions.

ROBT. SWAN,
Director.

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of Council.

Dear Sir:—

With reference to Bill No. 1322, the same being a resolution requesting the Director of the Department of Public Works to report to Council upon the desirability of passing an Ordinance establishing building lines on Grant boulevard, beg to advise that we will have prepared before the end of the year a number of suggestions as to the widening and straightening of Grant boulevard at different places, but there is nothing definite decided as yet upon which to fix a building line.

We have written the Bureau of Building Inspection asking that we be notified when any permits are issued for buildings on the Grant boulevard, and we will then investigate and see if any change of locations are desirable at the points where it is desired to build.

Yours very truly,

ROBERT SWAN,

Director.

Bill No. 1196. Resolved, That the Law Department be instructed and directed to take immediate steps to force the Pittsburgh Railways Company into the hands of a Receiver, so that an opportunity may be afforded of dealing with a Receiver, who, as an officer of the Court, will be amenable to and responsible to the orders of the Court in the public behalf, and that the Pittsburgh Railways Company may be compelled to furnish a fair, reasonable and proper service to the citizens of Pittsburgh, regardless of whether they are able to pay dividends and returns upon watered stock, inflated securities and guarantees of lease obligations which are in excess of the earnings of the road.

In Council June 23, 1914. Read and laid over for one week to have a conference with the Mayor.

Which was read a second time.

Mr. Dillinger moved

To amend the resolution by inserting after the words "Resolved, That" the words "the Council request the Mayor to direct," and by striking out after the words "the Law Department" the words "be instructed and directed."

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I will go as far as any member of Council to legislate for the betterment of the transportation service in Pittsburgh, but do not see the necessity of this resolution. It is entirely contrary to our conference of the other day. It might be said that no action was taken at this conference in relation to this resolution, but I believe the Mayor and the City Solicitor left that meeting with the understanding that their brief would be filed with the Railways Company within a week, and that within thirty days they would no doubt receive the company's answer, and that if they did not receive a satisfactory answer within that time they would then go to the Public Utilities Commission with their complaint. For this reason I will not vote for the resolution at this time."

Mr. Woodburn arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I think the last speaker is mistaken when he says this is in direct opposition to the program adopted by the members of Council, the Mayor and the City Solicitor. I understood the City Solicitor to say that this measure could be adopted as a last resort, and that it may be necessary to adopt such a procedure. But if it is retained or not, as a last resort, I move that the word 'immediately' be eliminated from the bill.

"My idea right now is that this action is not to supersede or in any way interfere with the program of the Mayor as agreed upon. This receivership measure is for the future. I ask that the word 'immediately' be stricken from the resolution so that the resolution shall read, 'That the Mayor authorize the Law Department to take steps.'"

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I take it as Dr. Woodburn has explained the matter. At our conference with the Mayor and the City Solicitor held last Thursday it was stated that the Council could take this action, and that at some future time it may be necessary for Council to do it. But I apprehend that it will be possibly two years before we could get a satisfactory decision from the Utilities Commission of the State. That being the case, I agree with Dr. Dillinger that we should proceed along this line as an independent procedure. If this is gone into earnestly and with full preparedness we ought to be able to gather enough data to be able to show that if the Pittsburgh Railways Company were divorced from the Philadelphia Company, the holding company, that if the gas and light privileges were separated from the Railways Company then we would be in a position to determine our case regardless of the decision of the Public Utilities Commission, irrespective of the answer of the traction company. We would then be in a position to go to the State Legislature and to the courts for quo warranto action. My idea is to gather this data now and not start, say a year from now, at a point where we ought to begin now. I believe it would be a mistake to allow this to lay over for one minute longer.

"Mr. Chairman, I must confess that I did not understand the resolution when it first came into Council, but since our conference with the Mayor I have become thoroughly familiar with its provisions. I would not take the word 'immediately' out of the resolution, because it would give the Law Department a chance to say, 'It has been laying around and we will wait until the other proceedings are all over.' I think the Council should take this step now, and in addition proceed along the line as suggested in the Kerr resolution; that we should go into this as we did in the matter of efficiency experts—we should do some investigating ourselves."

Mr. Dillinger arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to say that the members of Council are elected by the people just the same as the Mayor. During the last campaign I made certain pledges to the public, and I intend to carry out those pledges. I maintain that Council has the right to try to the best of its ability to carry out the pledges made to the people regardless of the Mayor's ideas or program on the subject; and as we are the legislative body we have our functions and duties to perform, and in view of the statement made at the last meeting of Council I gathered some facts, and I am going to follow those up with other real facts taken from the reports of the Philadelphia Company, and I submit that in view of these facts we are taking the wrong course in submitting this matter to the Public Utilities Commission. According to the Public Utilities Commission law, we do not have to go to the Public Utilities Commission in regard to this matter. I submit then that if the law does not require us to go to the Public Utilities Commission, and as the City Solicitor has said that we will have to go to the courts finally, I say it is a matter of preference whether we should go to the courts first or to the Public Utilities Commission first.

"I am very sorry that I cannot agree with the Mayor and City Solicitor in their program of first having conferences with the Pittsburgh Railways Company and then, if no satisfaction is granted, of appealing to the Public Utilities Commission, which, as I stated before, is made up, with one exception, I believe, of railroad magnates, railroad managers, and corporation men, from whom, I believe, the people of Pittsburgh would secure very little consideration, and for another reason, that, according to the statements of some of the officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, under their present financial condition, they have not the money available for any better street car service than we are getting at present. Therefore, why try to delude ourselves and the public? I further differ from the City Solicitor, and will once more quote the law which created the Public Utilities Commission and defines its duties, on page 1419, Article V, Section 23:

"Except as herein otherwise expressly provided, none of the powers or duties conferred or imposed by this act upon the commission, and none of the orders, regulations, rules or certificates made or issued by the commission, and none of the duties, powers, or limitations of the powers, conferred or imposed by this act upon public service companies, or the performance or exercise thereof, shall be construed in anywise to abridge or impair any of the obligations, duties, or liabilities of any public service company in equity or under the existing common or statutory law of the Commonwealth; but all such obligations, duties, and liabilities, shall be and remain as heretofore. And, except as herein otherwise provided, nothing in this act contained shall in any way abridge or alter the existing rights of action or remedies in equity or under the common or statutory law of the Commonwealth, it being the intention that the provision of this act shall be cumulative, and in addition to such rights of action and remedies."

"As I understand this law, it is purely a matter of preference whether we appeal to the commission first or to the courts. If we want real action and, as the City Solicitor has said, it may possibly be necessary to do so and then appeal to the courts 'as a last resort'. I say that it is not in conflict with this law for us to appeal to the courts first and then, if necessary, go to the commission.

"Why try to go around or why not accept the statement of the Pittsburgh Railways Company itself, when they state that they are not able financially to give us any better service than we are now getting. According to their own public statements, in 1908 their deficit was $521,000; 1909, $749,262; 1910, $1,321,453; 1911, $1,294,553; 1912, $2,534,000; total deficit 1912, $6,846,000; total deficit 1913, $7,347,372. According to their own statement, it has been a gigantic, colossal business failure, and the citizens up to date have had to put up with it. Why? Because no administration has been free enough from political entanglements with the Pittsburgh Railways Company, or else have not had the nerve to honestly tackle the proposition. Yet we are elected to serve the people and not the Pittsburgh Railways Company. Why such an exhibition of horror, throwing up of hands, cold feet, and even an attempt was made by a member of Council to insult the author of the receivership resolution, and charging him with trying to delude the public or in being grossly ignorant of facts. After the City of Pittsburgh, during the last administration, spent something like $40,000 to have Bion J. Arnold, one of the foremost street railway experts in the country, make a report on the traction situation in Pittsburgh. I ask the question why are not his recommendations put into effect? I will also answer this question by stating that I believe it is because it does not suit the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the large banking interests and influential political bosses. Arnold states in his report, 'As a matter of fact, the Pittsburgh Railways Company would have failed long ago in carrying its burden of fixed charges had it not been for the holding company, the Philadelphia Company, and the holding company to the holding company, the United Railways Investment Company.' Immediate efforts should, therefore, be made to develop a comprehensive program for a reorganization, rehabilitation for a protected actual investment, for adequate service, and for public control of the present surface system."

"I will say that a failure to give better service to Pittsburgh is not due in any way to mismanagement on the part of Messrs. Callery, Tone, Jones and other officials. I believe them to be experts in their line, but that it is due simply to the fact, as Arnold says, the fixed charges are so great that 57 cents out of every dollar must be set aside to take care of these charges instead of going into betterments. I believe, per mile, the income of the Pittsburgh Railways Company is as great, if not greater than any other city in the country, as it averages about 10.6 cents per mile. Therefore, there can be no complaint that the income is not great enough, but the fact remains that one hundred cents on the dollar cannot go into betterments and interest on real securities, but that 57 cents has to take care of the water-soaked securities and inflated values. As an example, one road was purchased at $2,500,000 and turned into the Pittsburgh Railways Company at $11,000,000. You can readily see what becomes of the money the public pays into the treasury of the railways company. In 1912 the rentals paid by the railways company to these jugglers of railway stocks was $1,192,000. Now, you may ask why did the Pittsburgh Railways Company pay such exorbitant prices for these car lines. It was simply to own and operate the monopoly, and the public of Pittsburgh is the goat. Now, if the Pittsburgh Railways Company is going in the hole a million dollars a year, can the Philadelphia Company continue to carry it? According to their own statements, the money is obtained by soaking the people 27 cents for gas when, as a matter of fact, we should get it for 10 cents and the company would be getting a profit of from 6 to 7 cents. Let me give you a few more figures from the 1913 report of the Philadelphia Gas Company's report: Total operating expenses and taxes, $3,151,200; net earnings, $3,301,076; total property and plant valuation, $11,348,894.

"Yet it is capitalized at near one hundred million dollars. Water, water, water!"

"So as not to bring their per cent of earnings down to about 10 per cent., which looks better to the public than 30 to 50 per cent. on its actual valuation.

"Gentlemen, are we going to sit idly by and allow ourselves to be robbed on our gas bills to pay for the rotten, unsanitary, immoral, expensive, limited-transfer street car service, or shall we have a sane service, with 5 cents fare and unlimited transfers? I say it is up to the Council to disagree with the Mayor's plan and get down to real business."

Mr. Bauh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I would like to explain my position on this measure. The City Solicitor has told us, and I agree with him, that the appointment of a receiver should be the very last resort taken on any proposition of this nature. The Mayor, the City Solicitor and the Council are trying to work this matter out together. It will not do for Council to work along one line and the Mayor and City Solicitor along another. The City Solicitor has told us that we cannot proceed at the present time along the line of forcing this company into the hands of a receiver. Then, what is the use of trying to do something we cannot possibly do at this time? I think the matter should be laid on the table until such time as the Council is prepared to go ahead with this procedure. By laying it on the table does not mean that the resolution is defeated. It is only temporarily laid on the table and can be taken up at any time in the future."

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I believe the author of this resolution is sincere in his motives; as also do I believe the Mayor will be sincere in carrying out the program which he has adopted in trying to give to the people of Pittsburgh better street car transportation. For that reason I do not feel like complicating the position we have tentatively agreed upon that the Mayor should take. We tentatively agreed that the Mayor should submit to the railways company his demands for better service, and that at the end of thirty days the answer of the railways company should be in the hands of the Mayor. If we find that at the end of that time the railways company has not complied with our demands, then we should take the course suggested by Dr. Kerr. If this work is not done in harmony we will not get very far. The executive department and the Council should impress upon the Public Utilities Commission that the service rendered by the Pittsburgh Railways Company should be improved. For this reason, I am going to support the course laid out by the Mayor and the City Solicitor."

Mr. Woodburn arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I cannot agree with Mr. Herron that we will complicate this matter, even if we pass this resolution at this time. We have agreed tentatively to the Mayor's program, and the Mayor has set forth and agreed that he will carry the whole matter, if necessary, into the courts. We have before us a larger fight than we expected. We have a battle on that must be fought to the bitter end, and you must plan it up to that point—whether you use your whole plan or not. It may not be necessary. You may lick them in the first round, but we should prepare for other rounds. I think this resolution should be taken up conjointly with Dr. Kerr's resolution, because the light and gas companies and the Pittsburgh Railways Company are inseparable. I am heartily in favor of these things, 'one at a time,' but we should prepare for every one of them at the same time if we can do so. I am aware of the fact that the Legislature, when it created the Department of Law, gave the appointing power to the Mayor, but the point I wish to make is that we are not compelled absolutely to employ the Mayor's Department of Law. There are other lawyers, equally as good as those in the Law Department. We have employed separate legal talent in other cases, and have done it according to law. The Law Department belongs to the city, but we had to get its sanction of our selection, if not the right to select. This we may carry out and further act under both resolutions."

Mr. Garland moved

That the resolution be laid on the table.

Upon which motion Mr. Dillinger demanded a call of the ayes and noes, and the demand having been sustained, the ayes and noes were taken, and being taken were:

Ayes—Messrs.

Garland	Hoeverler
Goehring, Pres't	Kerr
Herron	Rauh

Noes—Messrs.

Dillinger	English
	Woodburn

When the name of Mr. English was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am opposed to laying this resolution for a receiver on the table for the reason that it is not an insult to the Mayor, it is not interfering with his program; but that it keeps the question in the hands of the Council, where it belongs, and the Council should be conducting an independent investigation of its own at the same time the Mayor is applying to the Railways Company and the Public Utilities Commission. For this reason I am opposed to laying the resolution on the table."

When the name of Mr. Garland was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I vote 'Yes' for laying this resolution on the table, for the reason that I am diametrically opposed to complicating the program as laid out by the Mayor and the City Solicitor. If the gentlemen who are back of this resolution would have stated their position at the conference held with the Mayor and the City Solicitor a different course would have been adopted. I am voting to carry out the program of the Mayor. I will vote to stand with the administration as long as it is right, and if found wrong on any subject I will be against it."

When the name of Mr. Herron was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I vote 'Yes' for the reason that I fear the passage of this resolution will complicate the position taken by the Mayor and the City Solicitor in regard to the street car transportation in this City; that if Council adopts this resolution it will be contrary to the Mayor's views. I believe we should co-operate with the Mayor in his views on this matter. If after the program is submitted to the Railways Company and their reply is not satisfactory, I will then vote to sustain a resolution for a receiver."

Ayes—6.

Noes—3.

So the motion prevailed.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

Pittsburgh, June 30, 1914.

To the Council,

Council Chamber.

Gentlemen:—

In reply to the request of your Honorable Body for an opinion on the proper construction of Section 10, of the Act of May 31, 1911, relating to vetoes by the Mayor, I beg to report:

While this question is not free from difficulty, I am convinced that the proper construction of this section is, that although the Mayor returns the bill and his veto thereof to the City Clerk, that return is not fully completed until it is presented to the Council in session and it is informed of the objections contained in said veto. After the Council is thus officially advised of the veto and informed of the reasons therefor at its next meeting, it shall consider said objections. The theory and purpose of this section of the Act is to give the Council opportunity to deliberate on the reasons and objections stated by the Mayor for opposing the legislative act. There may be matters stated by him which require examination and investigation by the members of the Council before they decide whether they will override the veto or sustain it. Under the provisions of this section, the return of an ordinance or resolution must be made within ten days from its presentation to the Mayor, if he does not approve of it, and the return is made to the City Clerk, for the Council may not be in session when said return is made; but the Council cannot know the nature or contents of said return until it is presented and read to that body. Hence, it is a reasonable and proper interpretation to hold that the Council is to have until the next meeting after the return had been presented and read to it in session, to act thereon for reconsideration.

Respectfully,

CHARLES A. O'BRIEN,

City Solicitor.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also

Hon. John M. Goehring,
President of Council, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

With reference to Council Bill No. 1187, the same being a resolution with reference to Snyder Park, on Liberty avenue, Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth streets. We have examined a number of properties in this locality, and the real estate branch of the Law Department have also examined several pieces of ground and secured prices, but so far we have been unable to find anything satisfactory in that neighborhood. Either the price was too high or the location lacked the facilities which it would be necessary to have for a purpose of this kind. The Department has tried the very best they can to secure a suitable site, and have under contemplation a method of general storage yard for both the Bureau of Water and the Bureau of Highways and Sewers, and hope to be able to report to you shortly.

Yours very truly,

ROBERT SWAN,

Director.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 3, 1914.

Members of Council,

City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:—

In approving Bill No. 1321, I would state that I have had the Auditing Department, connected with the Mayor's Office, working on the street car problem for some time, and when we are through with this matter our schedule is to go through with the rest of the work, which includes the electric light and gas companies. I am approving this resolution knowing that it is not in strict accordance with the Act of Assembly, nevertheless the thought is running in the right channel, and I am pleased to note that Council is showing the proper spirit and is co-operating with the executive department, which at the same time has a tendency of offering some relief to the taxpayers.

Respectfully submitted,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read, and on motion of Mr. Kerr, received and filed.

Gentlemen:—

I enclose you herewith an invitation extended by Hon. James H. Preston, Mayor of Baltimore, Md., to the members of Council and the Mayor to attend the National Star-Spangled Banner Centennial to be held in Baltimore during the week of September 6, 1914. Personally, I should say this is a very fitting celebration, and it is my present intention to visit Baltimore at that time. I respectfully suggest that it would be very appropriate for Council to look with favor upon this event, and, if possible, attend same. I have acknowledged the invitation on my part, with the further information that same has been referred to your honorable body.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

National Star-Spangled Banner
Centennial,

Baltimore, Md., September 5 to 13.

Office of the President.

Mayor Joseph G. Armstrong

City Council of Pittsburgh:

Your Honor and Gentlemen:

Mayor James H. Preston, of Baltimore, directs me to present to you an official invitation to visit that city the week of September 6, 1914, when will be celebrated the National Star-Spangled Banner Centennial, commemorating the centenary of the writing of the National Anthem. Beginning on Sunday and continuing throughout the week these will be industrial, civic and military parades and historical pageantry, in addition to patriotic celebrations and other events of interest and attraction. On Saturday, September 12, Fort McHenry, the birthplace of the "Star-Spangled Banner" will be turned over by the United States Government to the City as a public park, President Wilson making the address.

He desires me to extend you and the members of the Council a most cordial invitation to this celebration, which is of unusual national importance, and to state that Baltimore will give you a hearty welcome.

Respectfully,
WELLS HAWKS,
General Representative,
National Star-Spangled Banner

No. 1382.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, July 2, 1914.

Members of Council,

City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:—

With reference to the enclosed Bill No. 1150, an Ordinance authorizing the sale of a certain tract of land fronting on Stanton avenue, Eleventh ward, City, at the rate of $92.00 per front foot, I am returning this Bill herewith to your honorable body without my signature for the following reasons: For a great many years our City has been planning on completing our park system, of which this proposed sale involves a part. Also, the City now owns over 4,000 feet of property in this vicinity, and it would be unwise at this time to let it go and maybe later on the City be compelled to pay twice as much for same. In fact, it would be a better policy for the City to condemn the rest of the property along this street before it is built up and complete the plans that have been laid out by the men who have given a lifelong study to this situation. These engineers in the Bureau of Parks have made a study of this proposition for a great many years, are thoroughly acquainted with conditions, and it would be entirely wrong, on the spur of the moment, to overthrow the competent views of men who have devoted so much time to this matter, and I feel it should be given the most serious consideration.

In this connection I want to call to your attention the fact that former Mayor Magee purchased property along here from Samuel Black & Co. at a cost of about $145,000.00, and no doubt it was proved to his satisfaction that the purchase was right or he would not have let the City go into this debt.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read and laid over until the next meeting, and copies to be furnished each member.

Also

No. 1383.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, July 2, 1914.

Members of Council,

City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:—

With reference to the enclosed Bill No. 913, an Ordinance authorizing the purchase of 15.5 acres of land in Upper St. Clair Township, Allegheny County, for the sum of $17,950.00, I am returning this Bill herewith to your honorable body without my signature for the following reasons: The price asked for this property is greatly in excess of its value compared with the property already owned by the City of Pittsburgh in that immediate vicinity, former Mayor Guthrie having paid less than one-third the price now asked per acre and at that time refused to approve an Ordinance paying $500.00 per acre for same. The court is the proper channel through which to purchase property when the owners of same are demanding unreasonable prices, and in this case the City has a right to condemn this property. I am very much in favor of all properties being purchased through the courts when the City of Pittsburgh is the purchaser. The taxpayer, who pays for the property, no doubt would be more satisfied if it were purchased in this manner rather than on a private basis.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read and laid over until the next meeting, and copies to be furnished each member.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, July 7, 1914.

Members of Council,

City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:

Referring to Councilmanic Bill No. 1319, being a resolution authorizing and directing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Health to take the necessary action to place the Mount Washington tunnel of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in a sanitary condition and have it properly lighted.

Be it advised that as early as May 10, 1914, and long before the introduction of this resolution, the Department of Public Health served notice upon the officials of the railways company to correct the unsanitary conditions of the tunnel. It seems that at that time conduits for wiring were being installed and the workmen were not as careful as they should have been, and bad odors arose from time to time in the tunnel, which more than likely accounts for the introduction of this resolution. Following the notice aforementioned and in pursuance thereof the company cleaned out the tunnel and at the present time are spraying it throughout with a disinfectant solution, to be followed by whitewashing both walls and bed of the tunnel.

At this time I take the opportunity of calling your body's attention to the wording of the resolution, namely, "Authorizing and directing," which I presume was a mistake upon the part of the member in drafting it. This is another resolution which is not legislative in its character, but administrative, and should be ignored beyond having the head of the department report back to Council for its information.

With reference to the lighting of the tunnel, would say that this is a matter over which Council has no control so long as the same is sufficiently lighted for all purposes of safety, it being solely used for street car operation, foot passengers and team traffic being absolutely forbidden. However, after a thorough investigation it appears that the tunnel is properly lighted for the purpose for which it was constructed and is not a menace to the safety of the public.

Respectfully submitted,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read.

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to say that the work now being done in the tunnel will not put it in a sanitary condition. The tunnel should have a solid concrete base, and I take exception to the Mayor's statement that the Council should not direct the Department of Public Health to take action in this matter, as the Council has the right to demand that all places in the City of Pittsburgh be put in a sanitary and healthful condition, and I further take exception to the statement that the tunnel is sufficiently lighted. It is not sufficiently lighted, and were it sufficiently lighted this unsanitary condition would not exist."

And the question recurring, the communication was received and filed.

No. 1403.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, July 6, 1914.

Members of Council,

City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:

In pursuance of a resolution passed by your honorable body on June 2, 1914, being Bill No. 1136, desire to advise you as follows. In the bond issue of 1910 there was an item of $55,000.00 for the straightening, widening and improving of Webster avenue, from Fullerton street to Roberts street. In the improvement of this avenue between said points it will be necessary for the City to acquire considerable private property, and at the same time a vacation of a considerable area of the street as now opened and traveled will occur. In addition to the property actually acquired for the straightening of the street, there will be an area of about 3,500 square feet of property that will be left in such shape abutting the line of the former street that it will be of no value to the present owner.

The amount of bond issue is entirely inadequate for the opening and improving the proposed street without the assistance of the abutting property holders.

If the City will acquire the necessary property for street purposes at a fair value and transfer the portion of the street to be vacated with the properties lying between the old and new street to the property holders on the southerly side of the street at the corresponding value of these properties, the bond issue would then probably be ample to pay the City's portion of the cost of opening and improving the street.

The proposition resolves itself into a case, where it seems to me the only feasible way for the City to make the contemplated improvement is to arrange for a three-cornered agreement wherein the City will acquire a certain amount of private property for street purposes and vacate a certain amount of the present street to the abutting property owners on the southerly side of the new street, and in addition to this the property owners on the southerly side should acquire the irregular strip of property between the old and new street, to give them frontage on the new street.

This matter was taken up with the property holders on different occasions, and the last time the matter was up in Council it was transferred to Mr. Garrick O'Bryan to see what he could accomplish with the property holders. I understand he made a report to Council giving them the result of his investigations, this report being submitted in July or August, 1912.

The main difficulty seems to be in getting the adjoining property holders to work with the City in accomplishing this transfer. In general the property abutting on the proposed street is in a very dilapidated condition, and I do not believe that they should be improved to any extent until such time as this street question is definitely settled. It would therefore be a direct benefit to the abutting property owners to work with the City in accomplishing a solution of this problem, that would bring the cost of the City's portion within the limits of the bond issue.

You will find hereto attached a plan which shows the condition of the existing properties, as well as what can be accomplished by the rearrangement of properties after the improvement has been made.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read.

Mr. English moved

That the communication be received and filed, and that the Mayor be requested to have the Department of Public Works and the City Solicitor work out a three-party agreement, and to make a report to Council at its first meeting to be held in August.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, July 6, 1914.

To the President and
Members of Council,
City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:

I am returning to you herewith Bill No. 1299, being a resolution relating to automobile 'bus line in Schenley Park, without my approval.

After carefully studying the same I find that this is an administrative function. While I am heartily in favor of any improvement which will benefit the people at large and have a tendency to increase the popularity of our parks and make them more available for public use, nevertheless, if it is desired to establish a 'bus line or any other system of transportation throughout the parks, in my judgment the proper manner to proceed would be to have Council authorize the Director of the Department of Public Works to invite proposals and such other information as might be deemed necessary on the subject. As stated before, the matter of inviting proposals and awarding contracts is purely an administrative function, and inasmuch as the parks come under the direction of the Department of Public Works, bids should be received and awards made on this the same as any other public improvement, in accordance with the Act of Assembly to the lowest responsible bidder.

Yours very truly,

JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,

Mayor.

Which was read.

Mr. English moved

That the communication be received and filed.

Which motion prevailed.

Also

Bill No. 1299. Resolution inviting propositions from any persons interested in the establishment of a 'bus line, especially the various automobile companies now represented in this territory, and that such persons or company be requested to suggest and prepare the outline of a plan for providing automobile transportation in Schenley Park by a 'bus line, or such modification thereof as they may desire in connection with a service to the downtown portion of the City or elsewhere, specifying the terms and conditions under which such persons would be willing to undertake the establishment and maintenance of such a service, and that all such persons be directed to submit their suggestions and outline of plan within two weeks hereafter, either in writing, or upon request, at a special hearing set aside for said purpose, and that the City Clerk be hereby directed to send a copy of this resolution to all the automobile companies having a place of business or a representative in the City of Pittsburgh.

In Council June 30, 1914. Rule suspended, read three times and finally passed.

Which was read.

And on the question, "Shall the bill become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor?"

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I do not admit that the Mayor would be correct in saying that Council is performing functions which belong to the executive department of the City government. The idea of this resolution was merely to receive propositions of a 'bus line, the same as we have done in other matters during the last administration and in this administration, such as the subway proposition. It is not our intention to award a contract. We merely want to collect data which will be made the subject-matter of an Ordinance authorizing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works to award a contract. So I do not think we are starting any prerogatives in this matter. I think it was a mistake in sending this resolution to the Mayor for his consideration, and I shall vote to override the veto."

Mr. Hoeveler arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I think the Mayor is a little premature in grasping the subject. It is not the intention of Council to award a contract for a 'bus line in Schenley Park. The Council should have all the information it can collect before it passes an Ordinance giving a franchise of this nature."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I think the Mayor was ill advised and badly informed as to this resolution. It is Council's business to invite propositions on any measure which might be beneficial to the citizens of this City. We are merely finding out information for the use of Council, to assist Council in framing an Ordinance which may come before it for action. We may find an automobile concern in the City that would accept a proposition of this kind, and, on the other hand, we may not; but I maintain that Council has the right to gather information such as proposed under this resolution. As this information will be beneficial to the City I will vote to override the Mayor's veto."

And the question recurring, "Shall the bill become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor?"

The ayes and noes were taken, agreeably to law, and were:

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Bill No. 1382. Communication from Hon. Joseph G. Armstrong, Mayor, returning to Council, without his approval, Bill No. 1150, an Ordinance authorizing the sale of a certain tract of land on Stanton avenue to J. A. Young.

In Council July 3, 1914. Read and laid over until the next meeting and copies to be furnished each member.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also

Bill No. 1150. An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance authorizing the execution and delivery of a certain deed to J. A. Young for certain property located on Stanton avenue, Eleventh ward, City of Pittsburgh, for the sum of $92.00 per foot for the Stanton avenue frontage."

In Council June 23, 1914. Rule suspended, read three times and finally passed.

Was read.

And on the question, "Shall the bill become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor?"

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I took occasion to look into this matter and I find that while an Ordinance was passed for the purchase of this property it was secured by a people's bond issue. That fact is not mentioned in the veto message, nor was it brought to us when we were considering the matter. The question Mr. Young put before us was, that we should either sell this property or buy his, which is adjoining the City property. But the question arises now whether this Council has a right to sell land acquired under a people's bond issue and whether the money derived from the sale of this property should be reinvested in a similar manner. I asked the City Solicitor this question, and he said that he did not think it legal or proper that Council should do it. It rather involves a legal question. The City Solicitor said that we had no legal power to sell this property, and no member knowing this fact when it was up in committee for consideration, and as I am doubtful in this case, I will vote to sustain the veto of the Mayor, especially after talking with the City Solicitor."

Mr. Hoeveler arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I do not agree with Mr. Garland. This property should be disposed of by the City in order that the City will derive some benefits from it in the way of taxes. The property as it stands today is of no benefit to the City whatever."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to take exception to the Mayor's last paragraph, in which he states, 'In this connection I want to call to your attention the fact that former Mayor Magee purchased property along here from Samuel Black & Co. at a cost of about $145,000.00, and no doubt it was proved to his satisfaction that the purchase was right or he would not have let the City go into this debt.' I want to state that this property was not purchased by Mayor Magee. It was purchased under the administration of George W. Guthrie, and it was in the Ordinance which allowed the City to rescind that Ordinance by an act of Council that came up during the Magee administration. The Council reconsidered its action and forced the Mayor to make an agreement. It was not the Magee administration that bought the property."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—The gentleman on my left is greatly misinformed as to the duties of this Council. I stand ready to do anything which I think proper. It seems that Council should cut loose from this red tape and get some use out of this property by way of taxes. We have a spectacle of several hundred feet of unimproved property in this neighborhood which is inaccessible and which should be put on the market. Mr. Young, the purchaser of this property, came in two or three months ago with the proposition that the City either sell its property or buy his. We authorized the Real Estate Board to put an appraisal on this property, and because the City Solicitor and the Mayor does not like this matter of disposing of unimproved property the Council should do business which will benefit the City of Pittsburgh. We must use our own judgment. We should dispose of this property and derive benefits from it through taxes. I would sell all the property up to the entrance of the park."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I question very much whether in this instance the City has the right to dispose of property which was bought under a people's bond issue, and it is a question whether we can legally do it. I do know that the property was bought under a people's bond issue, and the Ordinance was passed by the old Council in Mayor Guthrie's time, and I question very much whether the money derived by the sale of this property can be used for the purchase of other property for park purposes."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—Even if it was necessary to invest the money derived from the sale of this property to Mr. Young in park land we should invest it in property which will be a benefit to the City. We have two large parks in the City of Pittsburgh, and what the City needs is more smaller parks, and these smaller parks are of much more benefit to the people of the City."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—If you will allow me to say this, that it would be good judgment on our part to sustain the veto and ask the Law Department to give us a specific opinion, and if the City can do it legally I will vote for the City to sell the property."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—Why not sell the property and put the title up to the other fellow? Let him get the title to the property."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—In order to settle the argument, why not let us pass this Ordinance. Council has no right to sell the property; it is up to the Mayor to sell it. My thought is to go through with this Ordinance and let Council investigate it. It is clearly stipulated that if the City does not like the award of the Board of Viewers in the purchase of the other property the City is not committed to buy it. The reverse is true also. If we do not pass this Ordinance, under the rules we could not introduce a similar Ordinance until the next session of Council."

Mr. Dillinger arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I was opposed to this Ordinance from the beginning. We should not try to sell this property, because some day it will be necessary for the City to use this property for park purposes. I am very glad this measure was vetoed. At any time in the future, should we not need this property for the enlargement of Highland Park, we will get equally as large a price for it as we will get now. Therefore, I am going to sustain the veto of the Mayor."

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—The City in my judgment should dispose of this surplus property around Highland Park and invest the money derived from the sale of it in smaller parks and playgrounds. I might state that there are thousands of people who go to Highland Park who do not know that this property is a part of the park. Why, it is not a part of the big park. It is not contiguous to the main park. The gentleman on my left (Mr. Hoeveler) has the proper solution of this problem. We ought to sell this property and buy smaller parks. I understand from Mr. O'Bryan that the price offered by Mr. Young is a great deal higher than what the City paid for the property. Therefore, the City is not losing anything by selling it. I think it is only a difference of opinion between the Council and the Mayor, and the Council has as much right to its opinion as the Mayor and just as near to be right as His Honor, the Mayor. I am fully responsible for my act, and I therefore will vote to override the Mayor's veto."

And the question recurring, "Shall the bill become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor?"

Which was read, received and filed.

Bill No. 913. An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance authorizing the purchase of certain real estate in Upper St. Clair Township, County of Allegheny and State of Pennsylvania, being the property of E. G. O'Connor, at the price of seventeen thousand fifty dollars ($17,550.00), and comprising 15.5 acres, more or less."

In Council June 23, 1914. Rule suspended, bill read three times and finally passed.

Was read.

And on the question, "Shall the bill become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor?"

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—Each member of Council was furnished a copy of the Mayor's veto message and has possibly read the same. There are some things in it which I must take exception to. First, the Mayor in his message states that the proper way to secure this property would be by condemnation proceedings. I differ with him on that. I think every condemnation proceeding requires expert testimony, and that means $100.00 for each day's service for these experts, and the jury will place an excessive price on the property because the people interested in the sale will perjure themselves. We found that out on the Cabbage Hill property and in many other cases. The Real Estate Board appraised the property of Mr. O'Connor; this Board consisting of men like Mr. Black, Mr. Kelly, Mr. Haas, and as I understand their method they appoint a committee of seven men, and these seven men sent out a committee of three men to appraise the property. I do not believe that we have been fooled by the price these men have placed on this property. I do not believe in condemnation proceedings, and believe the City would lose money by this procedure. We have given this matter careful consideration under the old administration, when Mr. Gumbert was Director, and have given it careful consideration under the present administration. I therefore will vote to override the Mayor's veto."

Mr. Woodburn (President pro tem.) arose and said:

"Gentlemen—I would like to say for the information of Council that this certain plot of ground is centrally located as to the other acreage we now own. It is my impression that the price as stipulated in this Ordinance is less than the appraised value by the Real Estate Board. I do not think we should buy the property through court proceedings."

Mr. Dillinger arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am not acquainted with this property, and it seems that there is such a vast difference between the price mentioned in this Ordinance and the price paid by Mayor Guthrie for property in this locality. It seems there is a campaign on to sell the property at Marshalsea in small lots to the City. The price paid for property in this vicinity a few years ago and the price to be paid for this property has increased 100 per cent. I am going to sustain the veto of the Mayor because I think the price asked for is too high."

Mr. Rauh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am not entirely in favor of the City purchasing this piece of property, because I do not think the City is getting a bargain. Therefore, I am going to vote to sustain the veto of the Mayor."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—The purchase of this property is included in a people's bond issue of two years ago, which authorized the City to purchase property and the erection of buildings for the poor at Marshalsea. We will need this property sooner or later, because the City in the future is going to move all its patients at Warner Station to Marshalsea. We should not waste any time in this matter, as we may not have an opportunity at some later time of purchasing this property at the price asked for it."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—As in the previous instance, I believe the Council has the power to authorize the purchase of additional property for its own purposes. We have a bond issue for the purchase of this property, and it is not an additional burden on the taxpayers."

In a conversation with Mr. Gumbert (who is not now interested in the City administration) last week he stated that if the City wanted to save any money it should purchase this property, because it needs it. I can imagine in the future it may be necessary for the City to operate its own power plant, and it seems to me like folly to pass up a proposition like this if we can get Mr. O'Connor to pass up interest for two years. If we acquired title to this property by condemnation proceedings we would have to pay this man interest, because he would be entitled to it."

And the question recurring, "Shall the bill become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Mayor?"

As I understand it, the money to pay for this Division Engineer has already been appropriated, and the idea is to put in practical operation one of the necessities in this department. That the resolution specifically states what the money is for and it comes under the Act of Assembly which requires a two-thirds vote of Council to pass the same.

The Chair read from Section 5 of the Wallace Act, as follows:

"No ordinance shall be passed, except by a two-thirds vote of both Councils, and approved by the Mayor, giving any extra compensation to any public officer, servant, employees, agent or contractor after services shall have been rendered or contract made, nor providing for the payment of any claim against the city, without previous authority of law; and any officer drawing any warrant, or passing any vouchers for the same, or paying the same, shall be guilty of misdemeanor, etc."

The Chair ruled

That the point of order was "Well taken," and there not being two-thirds of the votes of Council in the affirmative, the resolution failed to pass finally for want of a legal majority.

Mr. Kerr moved

That further action on the resolution be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Rauh moved

To amend the motion by laying the resolution on the table.

Mr. Kerr arose to a point of order, stating

That a motion to indefinitely postpone cannot be amended.

The Chair ruled

That the resolution, by failing to pass finally for want of a legal majority of votes, is in the position of being laid on the table.

Hoeverler Kerr

When the name of Mr. English was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I think this is an important Ordinance and one which should be passed unanimously. Although the Mayor stated in the conference that he would not appoint the County Fire Marshal to the position of City Fire Marshal, I do not propose to evade my personal responsibility in the matter. As Councilmen we owe it to the people of Pittsburgh to do anything and everything in our power to better conditions in our city, and we should try to get a reduction in fire insurance rates whenever an opportunity presents. We all know that the County Fire Marshal has been given great powers by the Legislature of Pennsylvania, but no such power is given to the City. The insurance companies went to the judges of the Allegheny County courts and had a man appointed as County Fire Marshal. Then they come to Council and ask us to help create a Fire Prevention Board, and ask us to provide for a City Fire Marshal, with the idea of having the County Marshal appointed as City Fire Marshal. This Ordinance is in reply to the underwriters' request, and to keep the matter in the administration's hands we place the position of City Fire Marshal under the Director of the Department of Public Safety. This will help the efficiency of the Fire Department, and we are assured by the underwriters that lower insurance rates will be the result. We are not creating a useless or unnecessary position, and we are not concerned with individuals, but we are attempting to do something for the people of Pittsburgh. Bear in mind that we are trying to get the powers of the County Fire Marshal for the City."

When the name of Mr. Hoeverler was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I want to state that I do not propose to saddle on this community another useless position, and therefore vote 'No.'"

When the name of Mr. Kerr was called he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am opposed to this bill, as I stated in the conference with his honor, the Mayor. As this bill is written it gives the City Fire Marshal more authority than the Director of the Department of Public Safety; it gives him more authority than any other employee in the City government. The Director of the Department of Public Safety is responsible for the safety of the citizens of Pittsburgh, and he should be accountable for the acts of the department. I am opposed to dividing the responsibilities of the department. The Ordinance is unfair and will create a great deal of discord in the department, and for that reason I vote 'No.'"

When the name of Mr. Rauh was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I wish to vote 'Yes' on this bill, and do so for the reason that the business people of this city are clamoring for a fire prevention executive officer, a man that will fill the position in a satisfactory manner, to help reduce the fire insurance rates in this city. This office is in force in other cities, and I feel satisfied that if the right man is secured for this position it will be a betterment to our business concerns and to our citizens who own their homes, because the fire insurance rates will be lowered."

When the name of Mr. Woodburn was called, he arose and said:

"Gentlemen—The whole intent and purpose of this bill is to secure for the City of Pittsburgh the powers and prerogatives of the County Fire Marshal. If we cannot secure that, then, even if this bill becomes a law, I would be in favor of repealing it, because if we do not get those powers we will merely be creating another position without any guarantee of power. I propose to vote for this measure with the understanding that if the Mayor does not consider the question as I think he will, and consolidate the City Fire Marshal with the County Fire Marshal, I shall at the earliest opportunity vote to repeal this Ordinance."

Ayes—5.

Noes—2.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Mr. Rauh (for Mr. Woodburn) presented from the Committee on Public Service and Surveys, with an affirmative recommendation, Noes—Mr. English.

When the name of Mr. English was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am very much in favor of giving to the people on the upper South Side better traction facilities, better traction service, but I cannot consistently vote for this bill in view of the fact that I have made up my mind to not vote for any franchise which the City has not the right to revoke at any time. I do not want to be placed in a false light of being opposed to better service for the people of Pittsburgh, but I am opposed to granting any more franchises to the Pittsburgh Railways Company unless the City retains its right to revoke or change such franchise."

When the name of Mr. Garland was called, he arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am going to vote for this Ordinance. I do not think we will arrive at anything unless we do it in a reasonable manner. I think twenty-five years is a reasonable length of time for this franchise. And for this reason I am going to vote for this Ordinance."

Pittsburgh, July 6, 1914.

Mr. Robert Garland,

City Hall, Pittsburgh.

Dear Sir:

I notice that an Ordinance appears to have been introduced into the City Council to change the name of Diamond street to Forbes street. On behalf of my sisters, my brother's estate and myself, as the owners of the property at the corner of Diamond and Smithfield street, occupied by K. Solomon & Co., I beg respectfully to object to the change of the name of this street. It has long been known as Diamond street, and in my opinion no good purpose would be served by changing its name. In case there should be a public hearing with respect to the merits of the proposed change, I would appreciate it if I could be notified of the time and place.

Very truly yours,

Whereas, The display of the colors of their native land in any public demonstration or parade in which they might engage might be a provocation or a breach of the public peace and end in rioting or disorderly conduct; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Director of the Department of Public Safety shall be and is hereby requested to refuse a permit for a procession to any person or persons to engage in any demonstration which shall display the flag of any nation other than that of the American Republic, the Stars and Stripes; and be it further

Resolved, That this resolution remain in force until the present war is ended.

Which was read.

Mr. Rauh moved

That the resolution be adopted. The Chair arose and said:

"Gentlemen—It is a legal question whether any person or organization has the right to carry a flag on the public streets, and it is also a legal question whether Council, in the event that persons are allowed to carry flags on the public streets, has the right, then, to forbid it. However, I do not see any harm in passing this resolution; it is merely an expression of Council."

Mr. Rauh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I do not object to sending this resolution to the Committee for consideration, or the members debating it here, but my purpose in having it adopted today is for the purpose of preventing possible riots and bloodshed. The adoption of this resolution would be along the lines followed by Mayor Mitchell, of New York City."

The Chair arose and said:

"Gentlemen—I understand from the Clerk that it is a discretionary power with the Director to grant permits for parades and public demonstrations."

Mr. Kerr arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I think the resolution has no place here. I still have confidence in the American people, not only the American born, but in all those who have this country the home of their adoption. I believe they respect the laws of this country and are proud of their American citizenship and are loyal citizens. I believe a resolution of this kind at this particular time is a direct insult to a great many honest, upright, loyal citizens. The resolution should be defeated. The Executive Department of the City Administration has sufficient authority and are thoroughly capable of taking care of the situation without any interference by the members of Council, and I have confidence enough in the Director of the Department of Public Safety and the Superintendent of Police to think that they will be able to cope with any condition that might arise in the future concerning this matter."

Mr. Hoeveler arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I am very sorry that the gentleman introduced this resolution. I have too much confidence in the people of this country, whether foreign born or not. The great majority of our people want to obey the laws. It strikes me that this resolution is unnecessary and is an insult to a great number of real honest, patriotic and loyal citizens."

Mr. Rauh arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I absolutely had no idea nor intention of meaning anything whatsoever against any of our foreign people in this country. I did not introduce this resolution to insult any of our citizens. I want to call your attention to the declaration of neutrality made by the government of this country, and we should insist that every citizen do all within his power to maintain this neutrality. We know that overzealous sons of one or more of the nations involved in the war now residing in this city might create a riot here by displaying flags other than the Stars and Stripes, and thus create trouble for the Federal Government. I think this resolution is a splendid proposition. You will find it is being followed out in every city in the country."

Mr. English arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—I think the author's idea is a good one, but if this resolution were passed the Council would be usurping the powers of the Department of Public Safety. I believe that if it were necessary to take such action as this the Department has sufficient authority, and it would, in my judgment, be able to cope with the situation. However, I do not think it will be necessary, as the citizens of Pittsburgh are law-abiding and loyal to their country."

"While on the subject, Mr. Chairman, I might state that the Director of the Department of Public Safety, the Civilian Aide and the Superintendent of Police, all three of them, having learned that a pool room was being operated in the cellar of a house on Wylie avenue where a large number of colored men congregated, immediately declared that the pool room was not operated properly and closed the same. The same is true of a number of other pool rooms on Grant street, Fifth avenue and on other streets. They did not need Council to advise them that these conditions existed. So it is not necessary in the matter of public demonstrations, for Council to tell the Department what they are to do. For this reason I believe that the resolution is unnecessary at this time."

The Chair arose and said:

"Gentlemen—I understand, Mr. English, that it is not the intent of this resolution to instruct the Department in its duties; it is merely an expression of Council. Allow me to say a word on the subject. I do not think the resolution can either add or take away from the people the right to carry flags on the public streets, if there is a legal right to carry flags. Nevertheless, I do not know but that it is a good idea to present the expressions of this body respecting the neutrality of the American people and the citizens of Pittsburgh in regard to taking sides in the matter of the European war. My own idea is that, sooner or later, the United States will take a prominent part in this conflict—that it will be asked to act as mediator in bringing about peace in this war, in which nearly all the nations of Europe are engaged, and it behooves us to maintain neutrality. And, no matter whether German or English, or whatever extraction, it would be well that the citizens refrain from holding public meetings, public parades, and especially public expressions so far as the press is concerned."

Mr. Garland arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—There is nothing in that resolution which instructs the Department of Public Safety what to do. It merely requests the Director to do something; it does not order him to do it. But it has been said here that by the passage of this resolution it might be an insult to American citizens who are foreign born. However,

I want to call your attention to the fact that there are a great many people living in Pittsburgh who are not citizens, especially those people living in the mill districts, and those people have no right to flaunt the flags of their native country and parade on the public streets. As I said before, this resolution is simply an expression of Council to the Director of the Department of Public Safety to do as he sees fit. It is a good thing, because the City of Pittsburgh should not permit the flags of any other nation other than our own to be displayed while the nations of Europe are at war. It might result in bloodshed and involve the Federal Government. Every citizen should respect the neutrality declared by the Government. Even President Wilson has given orders to the men in the army and navy not to discuss in public this war. By the passage of this resolution we will not be saying to the people who are naturally adherents of their mother country, 'Go flaunt your flags and incite riots.' I think we should pass this resolution, which is very mild, and which is simply a request."

Mr. Herron arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—That is just one reason why I do not care to vote for the resolution. It is simply a request. I know that the author of the resolution has the kindest feelings for everyone, but we have a precedent set by President Wilson and Mayor Mitchell, which is an executive order in regard to public expressions and public meetings relating to this European war. I think Council has its own duties to perform, as our able President has told us a few weeks ago. This matter is purely an executive duty for the Mayor, and, in the absence of the Mayor, the Acting Mayor should instruct the Director of the Department of Public Safety, if, in his judgment, such action is necessary. He has not done so up to this time, and I do not feel as though Council should take hasty action in the matter."

And the question recurring, "Shall the resolution be adopted?"

Mr. Raub demanded a call of the ayes and noes, and the demand having been sustained, the ayes and noes were ordered taken and, being taken, were:

Ayes—Messrs.
Garland	Rauh
Goehring, Pres't
Noes—Messrs.
English	Hoeveler
Herron	Kerr

Ayes—3.

Noes—4.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the negative, the resolution was rejected.

Mr. Hoeveler presented

No. 1498. Whereas, A certain spring has developed and has its output at about the center of the bridge crossing Braddock avenue, in the Fourteenth ward, built by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; and

Whereas, The preliminary test of this water has been made and it was found to be excellent and further tests are now being made, the quantity of said water being sufficient to make it a valuable asset to the community, being sufficient to fill an inch and a quarter pipe and with a force to lift it several inches; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works be requested to make arrangements with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to conserve the water of this spring to public use by means of a fountain and such other equipment as may be necessary to properly furnish water to the people of this locality.

Which was read.

Mr. English moved

That the resolution be adopted. The motion prevailed.

Mr. Kerr moved

That Rule 10, which provides that all standing committees of Council shall meet on Wednesday of each week be suspended, and that no meetings of committees be held until Wednesday, August 19, 1914.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Garland presented

Resolution authorizing and directing the City Controller to transfer the sum of $2,000.00 from Appropriation No. 1311, Equipment, to Appropriation No. 1353, Materials, Pittsburgh Playground Association, for the purpose of providing for the payment of the cost of materials necessary for the repair of structures and equipment.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

And there being no further business before the meeting the Chair declared Council adjourned.

The Chair presented

No. 1563.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

Pittsburgh, August 25, 1914.

To the President and Members of Council.

City of Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen:—

For your information I desire to report that since the transmission of my letter of July 7, 1914, to the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and during my absence from the city, I had instructed our Law Department and city engineers to hold conferences with the representatives of the Railways Company, if they so desired, for the purpose of taking up the different items incorporated in the bill presented by the city to them for the adjustment of conditions complained about to their company.

It has been reported to me that such conferences have been held, and the engineers employed by the city have made plans which have been presented to the Railways Company for the purpose of through routing and re-routing the different lines of the city such as we believe will better the service. Discussions took place pertaining to standards of service, including transfers, also matters relating to the improvement of track construction and rehabilitation. However, such changes as these will make it necessary for new turnouts—short lengths of track on different streets—which Council will be asked to act upon when the proposition reaches that point.

I have been informed by the City Solicitor that the Railways Company has shown a very willing attitude in the matter of co-operating with us; but, in view of the fact that I was absent from the city longer than I expected to be, the work has been thrown back somewhat. However, immediately upon my return I took the matter up and now expect to bring the whole problem to a very early conclusion.

Yours very truly,
JOS. G. ARMSTRONG,
Mayor.

Mr. Hoeverler presented
No. 1580.

Gentlemen:—

The Council of the City of Pittsburgh instructed the Department of Public Works to make plans, and estimate the cost, of a system with septic tanks to take care of house and storm sewage separately. Believing this idea fallacious, I want to bring to your notice the following reasons and ask that they be placed on record; and, as the subject is a big one, I ask your permission to add to the record from time to time facts and arguments, with the opinions of others, against the present policy of the state for the protection of the public health.

I am opposed to the argument made by many engineers that it is best to build the double sewerage system here, because several of the small municipalities are using it. To start with, the money has to be borrowed and the people will be asked to vote on the question. I am convinced that the people will not think so much of the amount involved as they will of the complete installment of a sufficient system to do the work intended for it. I agree with Sir William Willcocks when he advocates doing such work right and paying for it as you can, so that when finished it will be complete and the municipality or state will have done its work well.

The river is the natural sewer for the territory and, like the system of man, will do the work intended for it and adjust its own difficulties. Natural laws when obstructed will adjust themselves by their own forces; thus bringing relief, but often with great damage to property and people.

Sir William Willcocks was brought here at a very opportune time. He thoroughly grasped the fundamentals, and, I think, will be the means of directing the thoughts of our engineers along safe, economic and sane lines. He deserves commendation for calling attention to the unsafe and expensive plans presented to the public for the prevention of flood dangers.

We should conserve our water and use it in many directions for the benefit of the people. One item, the one which is today being worked out by Pittsburgh's Public Works Department, is the question of taking care of the water and sewage of the several watersheds in the City of Pittsburgh, and providing for them under the laws of the state, which direct the use of two sewers—one for house, the other for storm drainage. The state justifies this plan of house drainage because it is impractical to treat all drainage in septic tanks. The state, through its Health Department, has made laws compelling all cities, towns and residences, including farms, to use the double sewerage system with septic tanks. I have no argument to make against the septic tank theory at this time, and will acknowledge that, in theory, fair results can be obtained; but in many places, Pittsburgh particularly, the results, taken as a whole, are enormously expensive and not necessary, because in our rivers the United States government has provided enormous precipitating basins, which can be cared for cheaply.

This brings to mind the argument of Sir William Willcocks, who endeavored to impress upon the engineers of Pittsburgh that their object should be to conserve every foot of water storage possible, and use their endeavors in the interest of relieving flood conditions by providing adjacent reservoirs.

This carries you to the point where filling in the streams, as well as other violations of natural laws, should be prohibited by strenuous measures. Today we are filling a part of the Monongahela wharf, with the excuse that the city intends to beautify it. This kind of thought can only be compared to users of narcotics, who argue that a little is not harmful, but experience has taught us that such a policy leads to the habitual fiend. I have every reason to believe that the Department of Public Works knows that this policy of filling the streams, or encroaching on the waterways, as now practiced, is wrong; but they allow it a little at a time. This filling in and displacing water is the cause of much of our present trouble, and to permit it will some day cost the public an enormous amount of money to protect itself from the yearly damage by floods.

You, no doubt, realize that the annual loss to the factory, dweller and general business, caused by floods, means many thousands of dollars, which must be borne, directly and indirectly, by the public. The people who come in direct contact with this periodical damage are gathering data to show the total yearly loss in a comprehensive way; the loss of effort, stoppage, cleaning and repairing of machinery and houses, wages, damage to trade and business in general. When I get this information tabulated I will gladly give it to you, and I am convinced that this yearly loss will pay interest and create a safe and sufficient sinking fund for the city's portion of the money required to prevent these losses, and thus bring to Pittsburgh improvements and developments of paying character.

The surest way to prevent these floods is to build a by-pass, which will take away from Pittsburgh any water in excess of, say, 27 feet, or any figure between minimum (dams up) and maximum in flood times. By a by-pass, I mean a large permanent canal running from Harmarville, on the Allegheny river, back of Allegheny City, to Leetsdale, on the Ohio, following the natural water courses where most economical. Its banks can be improved with two ideal beds for railroads, thus providing a short cut for freight, which will avoid the congested district, provide new territory for factories, and housing facilities to care for the additional population, which this will bring; such effort means sound development. The cost should be borne by the United States, county and city, on the lines provided in the amendment to the Newlands Bill now before Congress (H. R. 13811).

It is always good business to make the beautiful suit the useful. If the Monongahela wharf is to be made beautiful as well as useful, it is Pittsburgh's policy to dig out, not fill in, thus procuring every cubic foot of additional water storage space; then the City should build on piers a plateau from Water street to low water line between the Wabash bridge and the Point bridge, which will give the public practically five and one-half acres of additional surface above high water, and I think every citizen will consider such public space useful in many directions, especially for exchanging foodstuffs between river, interurban cars and railroads. It can be made beautiful if properly designed. The objection to such concrete construction is that it will be bleak and unattractive. Such an opinion cannot be substantiated, because it is known, and is in practice, that such a structure can be ornamented with shrubbery so as to make it most pleasing to the eye; while under such useful structure storage space for water in flood times is conserved. Such space must be kept clean and well ventilated. It can be accomplished at small cost—this feature is well understood. Therefore, I am vigorously insisting that the Public Works Department shall not further fill the wharfs, or allow private interests to commit the same error. I know you realize that "example is better than precept."

To follow me on this line of thought, the designers for Pittsburgh's future should make a special study of electricity applied to water, dilution, precipitation, coagulation, scouring in water ways and gravity, and if they do this they will save to Pittsburgh's future citizens enormous sums of money in the way of taxes, cost of living and conserve values that are now waste.

I ask the Mayor and Council to use their best efforts to have the Legislature cure the law, so that the people will have good sanitary sewers on economical lines with superior efficiency. The other points suggested in this paper will be treated with later.

Yours truly,

W. A. HOEVELER.

Pittsburgh, Pa., August 25, 1914.
